RHUBARB AND SEAKALE.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Garden Correspondent says:—

Neither will be well rested until they get a good touch of frost, and with Seakale especially it is hard to get the foliage off naturally until sometimes near Christmas. Rhubarb is easier dealt with, and as soon as the leaves can be cleared off and any forcing is contemplated by lifting the stools and exposing them to the elements on the surface their thorough resting is accomplished, and, failing that, any forcing is not satisfactory.

GALWAY AREA DEVELOPMENT.

CLOOSH VALLEY SCHEME.

VISIT OF SENATOR CONNOLLY.

VARIOUS estates in the Galway area, as well as the Cloosh Valley, where a reclamation scheme has been in progress for some time, were visited by Senator Connolly, Free State Minister for Lands and Fisheries, during the week-end.

The Minister, who was accompanied by the Secretary of the Department of Lands and Fisheries and by the Chief Inspector of the Department, inspected the new divisions of the estates and the plans for housing and development.

Under the Cloosh Valley scheme, the necessary connecting roads and by-roads have been made with the help of relief funds. Drainage operations have been carried out by the allottees. Houses and out-offices have been erected, and the land reclaimed put into pasture and tillage.

The results are reported to have been in every way satisfactory. There are now six families installed in good houses, each having a large kitchen and three bedrooms, with out-offices. Each of the new holders has from three to five cows, an ass or a horse. This year's crop won from the reclaimed bog has been extremely good. A plentiful supply of potatoes, oats, hay and vegetables is available for every family. Poultry and pigs are being raised, and altogether the experiment has been a success. An ample supply of turf of excellent quality has been saved.

Only married men with families have been installed on these holdings. The population of the six families numbers forty-seven. It is understood that as a result of the Minister's visit considerable expansion of the scheme will follow, and that plans for further allotments in the area will be carried out without delay.

The Minister hopes also to arrange with the Department of Education for the establishment of school facilities on the spot. He is anxious, if at all possible, to have a school erected in the Valley, which will also be available for Mass on Sundays. At present the children are brought to and from school by a van service provided by the Department of Education.

DUBLIN METHODIST COUNCIL.

The October meeting of the Dublin Methodist Council, which was largely attended, took place in the Centenary Church Parlour. In the absence of the Rev. J. M. Alley the chair was taken by the Rev. W. H. Massey, Vice-President. The election of officers and committee for 1933-4 resulted as follows:—President, the Rev. J. M. Alley; Vice-Presidents, the Rev. J. W. McKinney, Mr. R. H. White; Secretaries, the Rev. B. Brooke Morton, Mr. H. G. Smith, M.A., LL.D.; Treasurer, Mr. H. O. Campbell; Committee (in addition to foregoing)—The Revs. W. L. Coade, T. J. Irwin, D.Litt.; W. H. Massey, J. E. Neill, B.A.; Messrs. W. Haughton Baskin, G. F. Beckett, F.R.I.A.I.; W. M. Forsyth and R. Morgan.

The report presented by the treasurer, Mr. H. O. Campbell, showed a satisfactory balance in hand.

The main subject for the evening's discussion was the present situation in Germany. The Rev. T. Aubrey West, of Castlebar, spoke on the political and general aspects, while the Rev. F. B. Rea, B.A. (Belfast), dealt with the religious aspects. Both speakers had been recently in Germany attending courses of lectures there, and the impressions made on them were of much interest. A well-sustained discussion followed, at the conclusion of which the opening speakers replied to questions asked by members on various aspects of the subject, including especially the attitude of the Nazi Government to the religious bodies of Germany.

SEAMEN'S DISPUTE.

As the result of the failure of a conference between the Irish Seamen and Port Workers' Union and the British and Irish Steam Packet Company, no alterations in the agreement under which the men are working at present have been made.

The men will probably take a decision regarding strike action later in the week. The agreement referred to was made with the National Union of Seamen before the Irish Seamen and Port Workers' Union was formed.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

ARMS AND ROBBERY CHARGES.

MAN SENT FOR TRIAL.

(BEFORE MR. E. J. LITTLE.)

Bernard Corcoran (29), of Stradbrook Park, Blackrock, was charged on remand with the illegal possession of a .45 Smith and Wesson revolver, with six live rounds of ammunition; with the larceny on 14th September of a box containing title deeds, deposit receipts, etc., from a bedroom in the public-house, 2 Carysfort avenue, Blackrock, the property of Mr. Stephen Byrne; with illegally obtaining a reward of £5 from Mr. Byrne for the return of those articles and a reward of £1 for the return of a watch and chain which had also been in the missing box; and with illegal possession.

Mr. Donough O'Donovan (of the Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted, and Mr. Thomas Maguire appeared for the accused man.

Inspector O'Sullivan stated that, when charged with illegally obtaining the rewards, Corcoran made no statement.

Guard Quinlan gave evidence that the revolver alleged to have been found in the house of the defendant was in good working order, and the ammunition was capable of being fired from it.

Mr. Stephen Byrne was examined and cross-examined in respect of a previous deposition made by him. This was to the effect that he had a box in his bedroom, in which he kept deposit receipts for about £3,000; share certificates to the value of several thousand pounds, the deeds of his house, 2 Carysfort avenue, and a watch and chain. On the morning of 14th September he went to Mass, and, on his return about 8.30 a.m., found the box missing. He reported the matter, and offered a reward of £5 in an advertisement in the newspapers for the return of the documents contained in the box. Corcoran, who was a frequent visitor to his shop, came to him about 9 p.m. on 22nd September, and produced the missing papers; asked him if they were all right, and, when he said they were, demanded the reward of £5.

The defendant, who had a revolver and a pair of handcuffs in his hand all the time, said that he would have to get the reward for handing the stuff back, as he would have to give it to the Irish Republican Army, together with a receipt that the documents had been returned, which receipt he wanted to protect himself from the I.R.A. Witness gave him a receipt on one of his own billheads. On 25th September the accused man returned the watch and chain, and witness gave him £1.

Mr. Byrne said that he had known the defendant for five or six years as a porter in the Blackrock branch of the National Bank, where witness did business. Corcoran was out of that position for the past year or so, and witness heard that he had been dismissed for drinking. Since leaving the job, he used to be in witness's public-house five or six times a day—usually with others.

Mr. Maguire—When the accused man first spoke to you about this affair, did he tell you he had heard two men speaking about it?—Yes; he told me he had got a clue.

Didn't he tell you that he was only an intermediary, and did not want to be connected with the matter, good, bad or indifferent?—He told me he would bring the supposed robbers to me, but he did not give me the names.

He did not warn you not to tell the Guards?—There was no mention of anything like that.

The goods were brought back to you in a bag on a bicycle?—I did not see the bicycle. They were brought back in a bag, which was handed in to me by the accused man. I took it to a room, and he told me to examine the papers. I did so, and told him that I thought they were all right. He said the parties who had taken them would not come near my place.

Did he say where he had seen or overheard the men talking about the robbery?—Yes, in Quinn and Byrne's licensed house in Blackrock. He gave no names or description of the men, but he told me I would have to give him £1 for himself if he got the watch and chain. I agreed.

That was not the occasion he had the revolver?—No. He had a revolver in his hand the first night when he brought back the papers, and he showed me a pair of handcuffs, which, he said, were to go on the party who stole tht stuff.

Mr. Maguire said that there was a complete answer to the charge.

The accused man was sent for trial, bail being allowed.

ALLEGED LARCENY OF JEWELLERY.

John Ring (24), of 2 Pakenham Villas, Monkstown, was remanded on bail, charged with the larceny of two gold watches from a showcase in Mr. Bernard Fitzpatrick's jewellery establishment, 3 Upper O'Connell street, and with the illegal possession of a gold wristlet watch.

Guard Sullivan (230C) said that, when charged, defendant said that he had taken the watches, and handed witness two pawn tickets relating to those missing from Mr. Fitzpatrick's shop. In a signed statement, defendant said that he was very sorry for the trouble he had caused to Mr. Fitzpatrick, that he was pressed for money, but intended releasing and returning the watches as soon as possible. As to the other watch, defendant said that he had found it in the bar of the Strand Palace Hotel, London, in February last.

'BUS DRIVERS FINED.

(BEFORE MR. HANNAN.)

Fines, ranging from 10s. to 20s., were imposed on a number of 'bus drivers who were summoned for causing obstruction of traffic at Burgh quay during the months of June and July.

Mr. Hannan said that the fines would have been higher but that it was now the end of the season. The penalties next season would be higher, as they would go up gradually with the list of convictions against the offenders. He suggested to the Guards that on all occasions of such prosecutions they should have lists of convictions ready to produce in Court.

GUARDSMAN SENTENCED FOR DESERTION.

Guardsman D. Wright, of the 3rd Battalion, Grenadier Guards, who was court-martialled at Warley Barracks for desertion, stated that he left because he could not keep his wife and family on his pay. He was away for over a year. He was sentenced to 112 days' detention.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN QUIET.

"WHISKIES" STRONG.

Dublin Stock Market entered on the new account in rather quiet fashion. Business, except in the "other business done" list, was not on an impressive scale, and price changes were small in most cases.

Free State Funds did not quote, and Land Bonds rose ¼ to 110. Corporation Stocks were dull. Banks were well supported, Hibernians and Nationals both improving. Rails were idle, with Great Southern Debs. ½ up. Dublin Tram Ord. lost 1s. at 78s., but the Pref. rose ¼ to 10¼.

Dublin Distillers issues were a feature. The Ord. went up to 34, thus recovering the loss of Saturday, and the "A" shares rose 1s. to 8s. 6d. Guinness units put on threepence at 95s. 6d. Brooks Thomas Ord. rose 6d. to 30s., and Dockrell Pref. repeated 12s.

The Industrial Market was small, but price changes were nearly all upwards, led by Coats Ord., with a rise of sixpence. Imperial Tobacco touched 111s. 4½d. The Fry-Cadbury "A" Prefs. opened at 3s. 9d. prem., but fell back to 3s. 6d. prem.

LONDON FIRM.

IRONS AND MOTORS IN FAVOUR.

The new account in the London Stock Markets opened yesterday under cheerful conditions, and the volume of business passing was on quite a satisfactory scale generally, while here and there outstanding features of activity and strength were apparent. There was again a good volume of buying orders for Iron, Coal and Steel shares, brokers reporting a fair accumulation of orders over the week-end, and prices appreciated further. The Motor Group also were in particular favour, and Aviation issues received increased support, substantially improved levels being returned in a number of instances. Austins, in the former group, were especially favoured. British Rails were sympathetically affected by the revival of interest in the "heavy" industries, and quotations were raised afresh. Tin shares, which recently have provided one of the brightest sections of the "house," were yesterday subjected to profit-taking sales, and prices eased as a consequence.

Extremely quiet conditions characterised British Funds, and in the absence of attention values were reduced. Consols 2½ p.c. finished 3/16 lower, and Local Loans showed a similar loss. There was also a marked absence of interest in Foreign Government Stocks, but a somewhat firmer undertone developed, and the majority of the movements returned were in the right direction. Chinese 5 p.c. 1912 were good, closing a point better, while Argentine 4 p.c. Recession were 1½ points harder at 90. British Rails, as mentioned above, attracted wider attention, and quotations improved. Midland Ord. and N. Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. each gained ½, while Great Western Ord. and Southern Pref.-Ord. were each ¼ better. Colonial and Foreign rails were quiet, and, for the most part, quotations were unaltered.

The opening of the new account was marked by an increase in public demand in the Industrial market, and firm conditions prevailed throughout. Woolworth were a good market, and Iron, Coal and Steels improved further all round. A number of the Miscellaneous Industrials returned improved levels. Elsewhere, Rubber shares were rather easier, but Tea shares strengthened. Oils, generally, were firm, though trading was on meagre lines. Among Mines, Tin shares weakened on profit-taking, but "Kaffirs" closed on a firm note after being easier at the commencement.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

WOOLWORTHS IN DEMAND.

Buyers predominated at the opening of the new account in the Industrial Market yesterday.

Most of the interest again centred around Iron, Coal and Steel descriptions, which were in active request following the encouraging trade reports from the various industrial centres. The best prices, however, were not generally maintained at the close owing to a little profit-taking by quick-turn operators.

With Wall street in bullish mood the trans-Atlantic counters made a satisfactory showing. Nickels changed hands freely in anticipation of the quarterly statement and finished 7/16 up on balance at 21⅞.

Cables and Wireless stocks seemed uncertain.

There was no falling off in the demand for Motor and Aviation shares, among which some further important advances were recorded.

In the Aviation group Fairey Aviation rose 9d. to 28s. 9d. Hawker Aircraft continued in request on the news that the company has secured foreign orders amounting to £100,000. The shares further rose 6d. to 16s. 6d.

Among Motor shares Leylands provided the strongest feature, a keen demand taking the price up 3s. 9d. to 43s. 6d. Thos. Tilling were also a strong spot, further advancing 3s. to 78s. The statements at the annual meeting helped the market in Austins, and the shares improved 2s. to 67s. 6d.

Quite an active business was again transacted in Iron, Coal, and Steel shares, the upward movement in which made further headway. Among Coal shares Amalgamated Anthracite strengthened to 7s. and the Funding Certificates to 99½.

In the Iron and Steel group Babcock and Wilcox were a good market, advancing 1s. 6d. to 37s. 9d. Swan Hunters also displayed strength, rising 1s. 6d. to 16s. 3d. Higher prices also ruled for Tube Investments, Hadfields, Baldwins, and several others.

There was some irregularity among Breweries. Hodgsons Kingston were a bright spot, advancing 3s. to 47s. on absorption rumours. Courage, Guinness and Ind Coope met with some inquiry, but Benskins and Watney Deferred lost ground, the last-named to the extent of 1s. at 50s. 9d. Among Distillery shares, Dublin Distillers "A" came in for renewed attention, touching 9s. 6d. at one time, being finally 1s. 3d. up on balance at 8s. 10½d. Distillers opened firm at 85s., only to slip back later to 84s. Vancouvers hardened to 10s. 7½d. and Booths to 21s. 9d.

In the Tobacco section good buying was reported of "Imps," which finished 1s. up at 112s. Carreras still showed hesitation, the "A" shares closing around 8 15/16. "Bats" held at 5⅝. Gallahers closed a trifle easier.

The Drapery and Stores section enjoyed a fair business at rising levels. Woolworths continued in demand on hopes of an increase in the final dividend, and finished 6d. higher at 94s. 6d.

Among Provisions and Catering descriptions movements were mostly to higher levels.

Some irregularity was seen in the Textile group. Patons and Baldwins came into demand, closing 4½d. higher at 69s. 10½d., while J. and P. Coats and Calico Printers also hardened.

Rayon issues displayed a firm appearance, final prices where altered being higher in all instances. British Celanese were well supported, and advanced 9d. to 15s. 4½d. American Celanese again commanded attention, finishing another ¼ to the good at 11. Courtaulds were unchanged on the day at 39s. 9d.

The general trend in the Miscellaneous group was to higher levels. Boots Pure Drug hardened to 7 11/16, pending to-day's meeting. Following the news of the deal with the Sulphide Corporation, Imperial Smelting Ordinary were marked up 6d. to 15s., while the 6½ per cent. Preference hardened to 22s.

United Molasses found renewed support on further consideration of the recent interim report, finishing 6d. to the good at 13s. 10½d.

OIL SHARES IMPROVE.

Dealers in Oil shares reported a quiet start for the new account. Despite the small volume of transactions little complaint could be found with the tone of the market. There was no selling pressure in any direction, and when shares were offered to a small extent there were always ready takers. Consequently prices of leading counters kept firm. French operators were inclined to be small sellers of Internationals, but the amount of business received from the Continent had no real influence on the course of prices. The balance of movements favoured holders.

RUBBER SHARES EASIER.

There was again only a very modest volume of business passing in the Rubber share market, but despite the slackness of interest quotations generally preserved a steady tone, though the few movements resulting at the close were adverse to holders. Quiet and steady conditions ruled in the raw material department. Spot October and November fetched 4d. per pound, with December closing at 4 1/16d. per pound and January to March at 4 3/16d. per pound. In accordance with expectations, London stocks of rubber were reduced by 239 tons, while Liverpool stocks were no less than 1,265 tons below the previous week's figure.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET.

Business was on a small scale in the "Street" last evening and few changes occurred in quotations.

With New York firm Internationals hardened, but price movements were within narrow limits. Nickels closed at 21⅞, an improvement of 1/16. Tractors were ¼ better at 14 1/16. Radios finished at 8¼ and Steels and Canadas were held at 50½ and 14¼ respectively. Woolworths were 94s. 6d., 3d. lower.

Among Rayon issues American Celanese eased to 10 15/16 in early dealings, but recovered later and finished at 11 1/16, Canadian Celanese hardened slightly to 5½. Distillers closed at 84s., being a few pence easier.

LONDON MINING MARKET DULL.

MOVEMENTS NARROW.

Once again, with the exception of the Tin share department, the opening of a new Account yesterday did not bring much business to dealers in Mining issues.

Tin shares continued to change hands in substantial quantities, and with more balance between supply and demand. Jobbing was thus very much easier.

Saturday's rally in the Kaffir section proved short-lived, dull conditions being resumed yesterday. Dealers again commented upon the lack of business in South Africans. Johannesburg made an attempt to enliven this part of the market, but prices there soon fell back when London began to sell.

Rhodesian Copper shares were inclined to be easier under the influence of a fall of 6s. 3d. in the price of the metal.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

South Africa Government Issue.

The following statement was issued last night by the Treasury:—"The Chancellor of the Exchequer has agreed to an immediate issue by the Government of the Union of South Africa for the purpose of refunding £13,000,000 of Five per Cent. Stock, 1933-43. The Chancellor of the Exchequer wishes it to be understood that this is an exceptional measure, and does not in any way imply the withdrawal of his request regarding the optional conversion of trustee securities published for the Press on January 14 last."

Canada's New Loan.

Canada's refunding loan of $225,000,000, which will be placed on the market to-day, will be divided, according to a semi-official announcement at Ottawa, into three series of two, six and twelve-year maturities. These will yield respectively about 3⅞, 4.20 and 4.35 per cent. As foreshadowed in The Financial News, the primary purpose of the loan is to refund the remaining balance of $169,971,850 5½ per Cent. Victory Loan of 1918, due on November 1. The balance will be used for Government financing. The majority of the maturing bonds are held by Canadians.

Tanganyika Diamond.

The capital of Tanganyika Diamonds has been increased to £300,000 by the creation of a further 600,000 5s. shares, ranking pari passu with the present shares. This additional capital has been subscribed for in its entirety by New Mines for a commission of 2s. 6d. per share and the right to call on the company to create and issue to it a further 1,800,000 shares of 5s. each on the following terms:—(a) Until 31st December, 1934, 600,000 shares at 5s. per share; (b) until 31st December, 1935, a further 600,000 shares at 5s. 6d. per share; and (c) until 31st December, 1936, a further 600,000 shares at 6s. per share. So that the company's shareholders may have an opportunity of participating in this issue, New Mines has agreed that shareholders registered 19th October shall have the right of acquiring new shares at 2s. 9d. per share in the proportion of one new for each share of which they are then the registered owners.

Imperial Smelting Acquisitions.

The directors of the Imperial Smelting Corporation announce that they have made an agreement with the Sulphide Corporation, Ltd., under which a subsidiary of the Imperial Smelting Corporation, Ltd., will acquire as a going concern the whole of the business of the spelter, zinc oxide, and sulphuric acid works owned by that company and situated at Seaton Carew, near West Hartlepool. They have also arranged to acquire the share capital of the Delaville Spelter Company, Ltd., a company producing spelter, zinc oxide, and zinc dust in the Birmingham area. These purchases do not involve the raising of any fresh capital. The arrangements and terms on which the transactions have been carried through will be explained by the chairman at the annual meeting in November.

Coming Announcements.

A large number of important company announcements are due to be made soon, the list including the following: Burmah Oil interim dividend, Highland Distilleries accounts, United Dairies dividend, More Insurance interim payments, Imperial Airways report, Bryant and May interim, Argentine Railway reports, Unilever interim decisions, Cam and Motor accounts. It is anticipated that the report of the British Celanese Company will also appear this month. It was published last year on October 19.

Return of £3,000,000.

The Post Office completed most elaborate arrangements for delivery of registered allotments and returned cheques in respect of the Rand Leases (Vogelstruisfontein) issues yesterday. In response to the offer of 400,000 shares of 10s., about £3,000,000 was subscribed, and the allotment was on a basis favouring small applicants, of whom over 12,000 applied for 100 shares, 7,000 for 50 shares, 5,000 for 200, and 5,000 up to 25 shares each. The directors, recognising the disadvantages attaching to the £3,000,000 subscribed being withdrawn from circulation for long, have been using every endeavour to return the money with the least delay. There were amazing scenes at the Johannesburg Post Office when £2,825,000 was refunded to the public. 35,838 registered letters containing allotments and cheques were handed over the counter to nine queues of people, who had to be shepherded by postmen in uniform.

Rembia Rubber.

The directors of the Rembia Rubber Estates intimate that, owing to the company's financial position, accrued interest on the 7 per cent. Convertible Debentures, due 30th September last, cannot be paid. A scheme for reconstruction is under consideration, particulars of which will, it is stated, be placed before debenture and share holders at an early date. Dividend on the £85,260 of 6 per cent. Cumulative Preference is in arrear from October, 1928.

Booth's Distilleries.

A circular has been sent to holders of the 6½ per cent. Cumulative Preferred Ordinary shares of Booth's Distilleries, informing them that the outstanding 10s. of these shares is to be called up, 5s. at the end of this month and 5s. at the end of January. There are 324,681 of these shares, so that the call will bring in about £162,400. It is not stated what this money is required for, but the company is known to be watching very carefully the progress of the liquor legalisation campaign in the United States, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that the two things are connected.

THE MONEY MARKET

BILL RATES FIRMER.

The price of gold was yesterday fixed 3d. lower at 133s. 1d. per ounce fine, there being a premium of 5½d. per ounce in the price. The franc rate, upon which this figure is based, is 79¼. About £105,000 was in the market, and was taken for the usual quarters.

Money was fairly usable yesterday, and borrowers generally had to pay ½ per cent. for fresh advances until to-day.

The tendency of bill rates was firmer, fine three months' bills being quoted at 11/16 to ¾ per cent., while there were no buyers of "hot" Treasuries at under ⅝ per cent. The banks took a few Novembers and Decembers at 9/16 per cent.

Silver was 1/16d. better for spot at 18¼d. per ounce, but was unchanged for forward delivery at 18 5/16d.

In the foreign exchange market yesterday the principal gold exchanges moved within wider limits than on Saturday morning. Dollars were an active market, though in this case the range was no more than 3½c. Sterling on New York was quoted at 4.66½ at the outset, but the rate rose steadily during the day and finished at the highest at 4.69¼, against 4.69½ on Saturday morning. Francs opened weak at about 79 1/16, but the rate fell rapidly, and by mid-day was quoted at 79. After appreciating to 78 15/16 late in the afternoon, the franc was finally 1/16fr. dearer at 78 15/16. Dutch florins improved by 1½c. to 7.66, belgas by 3½c. to 22.16½, and Swiss francs by 3½c. to 15.94. The German rate dropped by 3pf. to 12.97½. In the Far Eastern section the Hong Kong and Shanghai dollars were both 1/16d. firmer at 17 1/16d. and 15 3/16d. respectively.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

Amalgamated Cotton Mills Trust.—Directors announce that dividend due October 31 on 7½ per cent. Preference and "B" Preference Shares will not be paid. Issued Preference capital totals £2,600,000, on which no dividends have been paid since April, 1925.

British and Dominions Film.—Half-year's profit £36,825 gross and £19,463 net. The latter compares with £30,740 for the previous twelve months. But, although profits have progressed, the balance sheet shows the company's obvious need of more capital. Completed films, less advances against them, have risen from £124,648 to £224,538. The £1 Preferred Shares are to be written down to 5/- and 1/- Deferred Shares to 3d. The whole are then to be consolidated into a single class of Ordinary 5/- shares. The Preferred, whose rights were non-cumulative, thus give up their prior right to a 10 per cent. dividend, but, instead of having a 33 1-3 per cent. share in equity profits, they have an 83 per cent. share.

Balkis, Ltd.—Final dividend of 2½ per cent., less tax, making 5 per cent. for the year on Ordinary Stock.

Burt, Boulton and Haywood.—The accounts of Burt, Boulton and Haywood (timber, paint, and chemicals, etc.) for the year to June 30 last show that trading profits, including investments income, after deducting all administrative expenses, declined from £98,469 to £78,397, to which was added transfer fees of £26, making the total revenue £78,423. After providing for directors' fees, Debenture charges, and setting aside £20,275, as against £20,877, for depreciation, £7,000 for taxation, and reserving £9,820 for losses of subsidiaries, the disposable balance was £10,500, which compares with £45,800 for the preceding year. There was brought in £6,558, making available £17,058. The Preference dividend absorbed £7,875, and to the remaining £9,183 was added £8,000 from the general reserve, and, after making a distribution of 5½ per cent. on the Ordinary Shares, £3,195 will be carried forward. Last year a dividend of 8 per cent. was paid, but nothing was taken from reserves, which total £172,654, as against £166,354 a year ago.

Craighead Tea.—Interim on Ordinary of 4 per cent. No interim last year. Final, 5 per cent.

Clyde Paper.—The directors of the Clyde Paper Company, Ltd., in their report for the year to June 30, 1933, state that the balance of mill trading accounts and other receipts amounts to £65,466. After payment of interest on the 6 per Cent. First Mortgage Loan and directors' fees there remains a balance of £59,081. To this falls to be added the amount brought forward from the accounts of the preceding year of £16,580, showing an amount available of £75,661. The interest on the balance of the 8 per Cent. Eight Years' Notes to date of redemption—viz., March 31, 1933—required £3,178, and there has been reserved for income tax £4,600. Dividend on the Preference Shares for the year required £16,875, leaving an available balance of £51,008, which the directors propose should be dealt with as follows:—In transferring to reserves as under:—Sinking Fund reserve, £4,215; depreciation reserve, £17,500; general reserve, £7,000; in paying a dividend of 2 per cent., less tax, on the 300,000 Ordinary Shares for the year, £6,000, leaving to be carried forward £16,293. In the previous year the net profit balance was £68,890, and a similar payment was made on the Ordinary Shares.

H. and M. Rayne.—Payment of 10 per cent., less tax, making 15 per cent. for year to August 20, 1933. (Last year dividend was 12½ per cent.)

Midland Counties Electric Supply Co.—At a Board meeting an interim dividend was declared on the Ordinary Shares of the company of 2½ per cent. actual, less tax, at 5/- in the £.

Manchester Liners.—Profit £27,156, against £36,451; available £34,037, against £54,809. Ordinary dividend of 5 per cent., less tax, against 7½ per cent., £150,000 transferred from reserve fund to depreciation. Forward £17,342, against £29,767.

New Dimbula.—Net profit of £28,211 for year to June 30 last, an increase of £9,568 on previous year. It is proposed to bring year's dividend up to 20 per cent., against 12½ per cent., to write £2,828 off properties, and to transfer £5,500 to reserve. Balance of £7,592 is carried forward.

Provincial Insurance.—Payment of 12½ per cent. on Ordinary "A" and "B" Ordinary, as they stood in register before capital re-organisation.

Pataling Royalties.—In respect of year ending December 31, 1933, interim of 7½ per cent. actual, less tax. Company was formed this year to take over tin interests of Pataling Rubber.

Steel Company of Canada.—Third quarterly of 30 cents per share. (Same.)

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

A Globe-Trotting Minister : The King's Coroner : Dublin's Dustbins : An Irish Sportswoman : Gormanstown.

Old Gormanstown.

The death of Lady Butler at Gormanstown Castle, the home of her daughter, Viscountess Gormanston, reminds one that the Prestons of Gormanstown are one of the oldest families in Ireland. For seven centuries the name has been known in Irish history. The first Viscount Gormanston was created, in the person of Sir Robert Preston, in 1478. In 1641, the sixth Viscount Gormanston was the leader of the Roman Catholics of the Pale and signed the Oath of Association which bound together the Old Irish and the Catholic Anglo-Irish in the Confederation. His uncle, Colonel Preston, was one of the chief military figures of the struggle. Cromwell refused pardon to Lord Gormanston, and his successor was attainted in 1691. For over a hundred years the family lay under a cloud, but its honours were restored at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

The village of Gormanstown, by the way, with its beautifully-masoned cottages, among old trees and overshadowed by the splendid towers of the castle, is one of those pleasant spots in Leinster which relieve the general rule of dulness, if not ugliness, in Irish villages.

Dublin "Beer Boycotts."

The boycott, accompanied with considerable bottle-smashing, of a popular brand of beer is not by any means the first anti-beer campaign conducted in Dublin. About a hundred years ago the now-popular product of Messrs. Arthur Guinness, Son and Company was the object of similar hostile attentions. At that time Mr. Arthur Guinness, the second son of that name connected with the great brewery, had the temerity to oppose Daniel O'Connell at the election of 1836. This gave O'Connell the chance to use his bitter invective to great advantage, and he admonished his courageous antagonist with great power. One of the terms of abuse used by "Dan" was that his opponent was "a miserable old apostate." What would nowadays be termed a "boycott" of the brewery's products was declared, during which much damage was done to the beer in course of delivery, and for a time the trade of the firm was seriously diminished. Ultimately, it would seem, the hostility of that time aided in stimulating the trade of the brewery, and in bringing the Guinness family to great fame and fortune.

A Travelled Minister.

Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly is one of the most widely travelled men in the Free State Cabinet. No sooner has he completed one mission than he is off on another. He only arrived home from Geneva yesterday morning, and this day week he will set out for Rome. He is going on a pilgrimage this time, and will be a member of the group led by Dr. Harty, Archbishop of Cashel—which is known as the National Pilgrimage. The Lord Mayor of Dublin and party are also among those booked. Mr. O'Kelly probably will represent the Government, and, though he will be unaccompanied, it is understood he will have a number of friends among the pilgrims. Mr. O'Kelly knows his Rome; for he resided there as Envoy, I believe, during the Sinn Fein régime before 1921. He also attended the beatification ceremonies in Rome on behalf of Sinn Fein. He must have crossed the Atlantic about a dozen times during his career.

An Irish Sportswoman.

I hear that Mrs. Semple has gone to live in Zanzibar, and has left Pemba, the island in the Indian Ocean, off the east coast of Africa, where she and her husband have been living for some time. Pemba is the home of very extensive clove plantations, and I believe it possesses a wonderful climate; but, of course, there is more social life in Zanzibar, and Mr. and Mrs. Semple lived there before. Mrs. Semple, who was Miss Ann Steen, of Foxrock, before her marriage, is a noted sportswoman, and, though she does not go in for big game hunting a great deal since her bad hunting accident here with the Meaths, she shot a "record" lion in Africa some years ago. For this achievement she is mentioned in Roland Ward's Book of Records. She also has gone on Safari into the jungle after elephant. She has penetrated into the Kedong Valley, which is part of the great Rift Valley stretching right across Africa, on hunting expeditions. Mrs. Semple has hunted, too, with almost every pack of hounds in both England and Ireland.

Dublin's Dustbins.

I have the utmost sympathy (writes a correspondent) with your paragraph the other day about the nuisance of the Dublin dustbin. It would certainly be a great improvement if the cover could be fastened to the bin, as it would prevent human and animal prowlers from scattering the contents about the streets. It must be said that those whose duty it is to empty the bins into the carts do their share of the scattering also. They lift the cover from the bin, and, irrespective of winds, hoist it over the side of the cart, with the result that the lighter contents are blown all over the roadway. I once tried the experiment of the fastened lid, fastening my lid to the handle of the bin with loops of strong wire. So much did the Corporation people seem to resent my action that they not only removed the fastening, but dumped it into their cart with the refuse. It may be, of course, that fastening of any kind would hinder the work of emptying the bins, and that my particular kind of fastening was unsuitable; but I tried to prevent the scattering of the contents by prowlers and was thwarted in my efforts.

The King's Coroner.

The many friends in Ireland of Mr. Carroll Romer will be pleased by the announcement of his appointment to the combined offices of King's Coroner and Attorney, Master of the Supreme Court, and Registrar of the Court of Criminal Appeal. A relative of the famous Lord Justice Romer, the new King's Coroner has been Assistant Registrar of the Court of Criminal Appeal since 1930. During his tenure of the post of editor of the Nineteenth Century and After, from 1925 to 1930, that well-known monthly review devoted a considerable portion of its space to Irish affairs, and during those five years many Irish people came to know Mr. Romer as a charming man and an excellent editor. Now in his fiftieth year, he is a graduate of Cambridge, and served for three years in the Egyptian Civil Service before his call to the Bar at the Inner Temple twenty-two years ago. As King's Coroner it will be Mr. Romer's business to investigate untoward events at any Royal Palace, but the bulk of his work will be connected with the office of Registrar of the Court of Criminal Appeal, which is sufficient to keep a large staff busy preparing cases for the judges who are to hear the appeals.

The Kildare Hunt.

I see that the Hon. Lady McCalmont is ready for the fray again this season as Master of the Kildares along with Mr. Burrell. She has been cubbing since the season opened, and they have killed a number of foxes up to date. Great sport is promised with the Kildares; for foxes are plentiful, and the opening meet is due early next month. The endurance of this veteran sportswoman is marvellous, and her zeal is unflagging in any cause she adopts. She is determined to keep the Kildare Hunt on the map as long as she can ride a horse. She lives in one of the prettiest places on the road between Newbridge and the Curragh at Moorefield, where she has some beautiful gardens. The kennels are near Naas.

It is to be hoped that there will be a Kildare Hunt ball this year. Last year it was one of the functions that were left out; but, as usual, the Fingal Harriers are first in the field with theirs; for they have booked a hall for early in December.

QUIDNUNC.

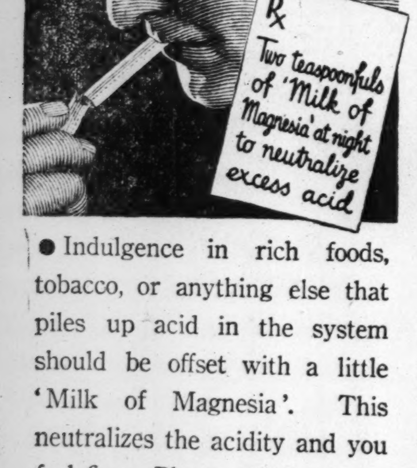

FOLK SONGS RECITAL.

Gabriel Lavelle, who is giving a recital of German Lieder and Irish folk songs at the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, next Thursday, started his career with the Birmingham Grand Opera Society, and finished his training at Vienna under Hans Duhan, of the Vienna Opera House.

On his return to London he gave several successful recitals in the West End. He has given broadcast recitals on the National and Regional wave-lengths, and recently was highly praised at the Radio Olympia Theatre in connection with the Radio Exhibition.

Gabriel Lavelle sang previously in Dublin at the British Medical Association Conference, and was very well received.

"TEN MINUTE ALIBI."

INTERESTING THRILLER AT GAIETY.

"Ten Minute Alibi," at the Gaiety, is a detective play of remarkable ingenuity. Like most others of its kind, character matters little, and the interest lies in the working out of an intricate problem, but in this case the problem is so intricate that the author deserves congratulation: not only for contriving it, but for managing to explain it to his audience.

Mr. Anthony Armstrong, indeed, has a fine scorn for character, and he takes little care to make his people convincing. When the villain has announced his plan of carrying the girl away to Paris, and when the hero is explaining to him how much he would like to commit murder if he could only arrange a good alibi, they are all frankly impossible. But from the moment he has arranged the alibi (it came to him in an opium dream brought on by one of the villain's drugged cigarettes) all goes very well. The people are almost forgotten, and all one's attention is given to the incidents, of which there are plenty.

The ordinary style of detective play must be difficult enough to write, in all conscience: for the author has to construct a sort of jig-saw puzzle in full view of his audience, while concealing from them what the final pattern is going to be. Mr. Armstrong, however, has gone further: he shows us the completed pattern first, then breaks it up, and we watch other people trying to put it together again. In other words, he gives us the murder first and the clues afterwards, which is quite as amusing as the more conventional way.

While Colin Derwent is lying drugged we see his projected murder enacted on the stage, which is a little confusing to the audience, but the author provides an additional interest by making the actual murder go contrary to plan—a device that heightens the suspense a good deal. All ends well, naturally, but intending murderers should note that not all police officers are so soft-hearted as those in "Ten Minute Alibi."

The acting of the principals was efficient, but not much more. Michael Barry was about the most convincing, but both Donald Eccles and Clare St. Clair, while quite satisfactory in the minor key, failed badly when it came to portraying strong emotion. One of the best performances of the evening was that of Frank Foster, as the detective; his "Inspector Pember" was a natural and delightfully humourous study. The stage setting was very good.

"PAUL TWYNING."

MR. GEORGE SHIELS'S PLAY AT THE ABBEY.

Mr. George Shiels's three-act comedy, "Paul Twyning," occupies the stage at the Abbey Theatre this week. The story of Paul Twyning, the tramp-plasterer, is in the best Abbey style of comedy. It does not depend for its humour solely on the book, the "business" in which the principals indulge being a fruitful source of laughter.

Barry Fitzgerald, in the name part, is excellent as the tramp-plasterer, particularly in the second act, where that worthy becomes intoxicated. Arthur Shields, as the stern old parent, and Michael J. Dolan, as his browbeaten son, are responsible for some fine character acting. Eileen Crowe has a comparatively small part in the betrothed of the son, but she gets the most out of it. Maureen Delaney plays the part of a returned United States emigrant, and P. J. Carolan, as the publican, who appreciates the worth of his wares, is clever and amusing. Other players are:—May Craig, Denis O'Dea, Eric Gorman and F. J. McCormick.

FILM OF THE WEEK.

"A BILL OF DIVORCEMENT."

Clemence Dane's "A Bill of Divorcement," a screen version of which is being shown at the Savoy this week, is definitely propagandist; at the time of its writing it pleaded for the alteration of the divorce laws by showing the dreadful position of a wife married to an insane husband.

The producer has handled his theme efficiently, though without very much imagination, and the acting of John Barrymore and Katharine Hepburn is well above the average. Barrymore is usually given "gentlemanly" parts that do not call for very much effort, but in this picture he gives a really excellent performance—one of the best that he has done. To portray a man in the half-way stage between madness and sanity was not an easy task, but he has done it most convincingly, and incidentally revealed an unexpected likeness to his brother's style of acting.

Katharine Hepburn is a newcomer, who looks so much like Greta Garbo that one suspects her from the first, but she is not a mere imitator. Her acting in this film is a little uneven, but full of character and life; with a little more experience she may develop into a first-rate actress.

IRISH WEDDINGS IN LONDON.

MR. W. M. GODFREY AND MISS C. I. ROBINS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Monday.

All Souls' Church, Langham place, London, was tastefully decorated with golden chrysanthemums for the wedding this afternoon of Mr. William Maurice Godfrey, son of Sir John and Lady Godfrey, of Kilcoleman Abbey, Milltown, County Kerry, and Miss Caroline Iris Robins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alban Robins, of Rusthall Grange, Tunbridge Wells. The Rev. A. V. Grant officiated.

Miss Robins, who was given away by her father, wore a gown fashioned on long slim lines of ivory ring velvet, the long skirt reaching to her feet. Over the dress fell a veil of lovely old Brussels lace which, first arranged on her head as a cap, was encircled by a wreath of orange blossoms. She held a sheaf of white roses. Two children attended her—Master Jo Maynard and Miss Elizabeth Maynard. The page wore short knickers of deep brown velvet, with a blouse-shirt of golden crêpe-de-Chine. The little girl's dress was of a similar golden crêpe-de-Chine, with a ribbon of autumn-brown velvet defining the high waist-line. Mr. William Parker acted as best man.

At a reception subsequently held at the Langham Hotel, among those present were:—Sir John and Lady Godfrey, Mrs. Alban Robins, Miss Hylda Robins, Mrs. W. A. Robins, Miss Carina Robins, Captain Mitford Renshaw, Lady Clodagh Anson, Miss Mitford Renshaw, Miss Beatrice Renshaw, Mr. Tony Anson, Lady Maynard and Mr. and Mrs. J. Maynard.

MR. R. A. O'CONOR AND MISS L. M. ROSSETTI.

The wedding took place in London this afternoon also of Mr. Roderic Aylward O'Conor, barrister, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. O'Conor, of Somerton Lodge, Kingstown, County Dublin, and Miss Lucy Margaret Rossetti, the only daughter of the late Mr. Gabriel Arthur Madox Rossetti and of Mrs. Rossetti, of 1 Avenue House, 191 Fulham road, London, S.W.

The ceremony took place at Christ Church, Woburn square, and the Rev. J. E. Tomlinson, of Wicklow, uncle of the bridegroom, officiated. Miss Rossetti, who was escorted and given away by her brother, Mr. G. W. Rossetti, looked very attractive in a gown of ivory crepe romaine, with dainty ostrich feather trimming on the skirt and bordering the train. The simple bodice had sleeves pouched at the shoulders and tight from elbow to wrist. Her veil was of old Limerick lace, and was secured by a spiked halo of little pearls. Her bouquet was composed of stephanotis, lilies of the valley, white heather and gardenias.

Miss Margaret Venner, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margot Rodier, a friend, were the two attendants. They wore picture frocks of pale golden taffetas, the large puffed sleeves formed of frills of the material. There were big looped bows of the taffetas where the tight little bodices joined full skirts at the back-waists. In effective contrast were their caps of bronze-coloured velvet.

Mr. David M. Scott acted as best man. The honeymoon will be spent in Spain.

Among the guests at the wedding were:—Mrs. J. E. Tomlinson Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Wright, Mrs. G. A. Newsom, General Sir Bindon and Lady Blood, Colonel Robert Blood, Colonel and Mrs William Blood, Miss Vera Blood, Captain E. Blood, Miss Blood, Mr. O. G. Rossetti, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rossetti, Mrs. Rossetti Angeli, Mrs. Olivia Rossetti Agnesti, Miss Mary Rossetti, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Venner, Miss Margaret Venner, Miss Venner, Sir Arnold and Lady Thornely, Sir William and Lady Rothenstein, Miss Rothenstein, Sir Denison and Lady Ross, Mr. and Mrs. French, Miss French, Mr. and Mrs. Kenward, Dr. W. J. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Major and Mrs. Perrott, Mr. William Murray and Dr. J. Eustace.

DUBLIN WEDDING.

MR. E. J. CANTLON AND MISS M. E. McLACHLAN.

In the Church of St. Bartholemew, Clyde road, Ballsbridge, Dublin, yesterday, the marriage took plate of Mr. E. J. Cantlon, son of the late Mr. John A. Cantlon and Mrs. Cantlon, of Ashdale road, Terenure, and Miss Mona E. McLachlan, daughter of Major J. McLachlan, O.B.E., and Mrs. McLachlan, Lansdowne road Ballsbridge, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. R. Jenkins.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a powder blue silk marocain dress, with a silver fox fur, and close fitting hat of the same shade as her dress in velvet.

Miss Doreen McLachlan, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid; Dr. Ian M. McLachlan acted as best man.

After the ceremony a family breakfast was held in Dun Laoghaire.

SHANKILL WEDDING.

MR. J. McKEEVER AND MRS. B. D'OLIER.

The wedding took place yesterday in Crinken Church, Shankill, Co. Dublin, of Mr. John McKeever, son of the late Mr. John C. McKeever and Mrs. McKeever, Ellen Grove, Gormanstown, Co. Louth, and Mrs. B. D'Olier, widow of the late Mr. Bertram D'Olier, Royal Air Force, and daughter of the late Mr. H. E. Massy, Stackallan, Co. Meath. Both bride and bridegroom are well-known in Irish hunting circles, Mr. McKeever following the Louth Hunt, while his bride was a member for several seasons of the Bray Harriers. The officiating clergy were the Rev. G. E. Fry and the Rev. F. E. Bland.

Mr. Tom McKeever, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the bridesmaids were Miss M. Bethell, Miss D. McKeever and Miss M. Fenton. The bride was given away by Mr. H. E. Massy.

After a reception held at the Bray Head Hotel Mr. and Mrs. McKeever left for their honeymoon, which will be spent motoring around Devon and Cornwall.

ROYAL HOSPITAL FOR INCURABLES, DONNYBROOK.

A concert for the patients of the Royal Hospital for Incurables, Donnybrook, has been kindly arranged by the medical staff for to-night, when the following artistes have promised to attend:—Miss Eva Tomsohn, Messrs. T. A. Jackson, G. Mackay, Wilson Kelly, and the Metropole Band, personally conducted by Mr. C. Vincent Rogers.

Portugal has been elected to the extra seat on the League Council which it was decided to create this year.

MICROBIOLOGY IN INDUSTRY.

RAPID ADVANCE OF THE SCIENCE.

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB LECTURE.

At the meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday in the Metropole Restaurant, Mr. M. J. Gorman, Lecturer in Agricultural Botany and Bacteriology, University College, Dublin, read a paper on "Microbiology in Industry."

Mr. P. T. Montford, President, presided.

Mr. Gorman said that they were apt to associate the word "microbe" with disease germs, forgetting that the kinds of microbes that did not cause disease were also very great. The existence of microbes had been suspected by thoughtful people for at least two thousand years, but the first person to see them actually was a Dutch draper, whose hobby was making magnifying glasses, and using them to examine anything that took his fancy. With improvements in the microscope and the development of methods of isolating and cultivating microbes the new science of microbiology advanced rapidly.

The introducing of microbiological methods of control in the fermentation industries led at once to the elimination of certain troubles and defects, and uniformity of quality could now be much more readily maintained. The making of butter on a factory scale from sour milk would serve to illustrate this.

BACTERIA IN MILK.

Milk kept at ordinary temperature went sour, the sour milk bacteria turning the milk sugar into lactic acid. There were usually in milk several other kinds of bacteria besides those that brought about souring. Some of these developed objectionable flavours and odours which might be conveyed to the butter. To avoid this the "starter," which consisted of a culture of lactic acid bacteria, was introduced, and that gave a well-flavoured butter.

Many of the methods of preserving food had in the main arisen empirically, and had been practised long before a science of microbiology existed. Science had led, however, to greatly improved methods, so that here again the results were more certain and uniformity of the finished products was more readily achiebed. New methods of treating foods to combat germs, as, for example, the pasteurisation of milk, had become practicable as a result of microbiological discoveries. Drying must have been one of the first methods of food preservation hit upon by man.

VARIETIES OF CHEESE.

The preservative action of acid had long been known. Sour milk was probably one of the first materials preserved in this way. The acid stopped the growth of putrefactive organisms. When milk soured it coagulated; it also clotted or curdled when rennet was added to it. Why and how nobody appeared to know for certain. When the whey was pressed out of the curd the latter might be kept for long periods, during which it undergoes certain changes where nature depended upon the character of the original milk and the conditions under which the curd was kept. The result always was a cheese of some kind. There were about 300-400 different kinds of cheese, but only a few of them were of commercial interest.

The changes which cheese undergoes constituted the ripening.

The process known as pasteurisation must not be confused with sterilisation. In the latter all germs were killed, but so high a temperature was necessary that it could not be applied to milk generally, as it altered its character so much. In pasteurisation comparatively low temperatures were employed, but they were sufficient to destroy all vegetative or active micro-organisms. The effectiveness of the process depended not only upon the temperature, but also upon the length of time for which the heat was applied.

PASTEURISING.

For commercial purposes there were two main types of pasteurising. In one the milk was subjected to a temperature of 165° F. for about thirty seconds. This was the "Flash" process. In the other the so-called "holding" process, and the one which was almost universally employed, the milk was kept at 145° F. for thirty minutes. With this time and temperature the taste, odour, food value, cream line or any of the chemical or physical properties of the milk were not affected. The disease germs, if any were present, were destroyed, and this was the main justification for the practice.

No more was possible than a passing reference to cooling, which in all degrees, from "keeping in a cool place" to chilling and freezing, was so widely practised for food preservation.

Mr. Gorman was thanked for his interesting contribution.

Dr. James Bell was introduced as a new member of the Club by Mr. Charles E. Jacob.

Mr. J. J. Keane was presented with the silver cup which was won by him at the golf competition recently at Portrush. Special prizes were given to Rotarians Lambe and Dallas.

Professor Macalister was presented with an album, containing photographs of historic monuments which were taken a few weeks ago, when he conducted members of the Club around places of historic interest.

The visitors were:—Professor Macalister, Mr. John Stewart Boyle, Mr. F. Clelland and Mr. A. V. Ashe, Belfast; Mr. T. C. McConnell, Dublin; Mr. R. Alderdice, London; and Mr. G. Hackett, Birmingham.

"MAD HATTERS" AT THE ROYAL.

GOOD HUMOROUS SELECTION.

Quite the most entertaining conductor that Dublin has seen for a long time is Syd Seymour, who appears with his "Mad Hatters" at the Theatre Royal this week. With eleven versatile musicians to back him up Seymour gives a very funny show, lasting for nearly thirty minutes, and leaves the audience calling for more. His humour is quite novel, and he conducts the band principally by his dancing. The individual members of the band nearly all "double" on two or more instruments, the xylophone player being outstanding in his performance with eight hammers.

The Four Knaves contribute to the programme with a good vocal selection, which they sing with particularly pleasing voices. Shadowgraphs, made by the use of his hands and a few small "props," are Edward Victor's speciality, and his depiction of well-known public figures is both novel and clever. Amusing tumbling tricks are performed by the Sarazen Four, who have some new and difficult feats.

A popular American radio star, Peter Higgins, is another vocalist on the programme. He has a powerful voice, but it does not seem quite suited for Irish songs. Bud Ritchie, an amusing conversational comedian; Clement Minns, ventriloquist; Rusty and Shine, and two novelty dancers, Olivette and Barrichatt, make up a good evening's entertainment.

LORD O'NEILL'S HEIR CHRISTENED.

LONDON, Monday.

The christening of the infant son and heir of Lord and Lady O'Neill, of Shane's Castle, County Antrim, and 35 Montagu square, London, took place this afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Bryanston square. The Vicar of the church, the Rev. A. E. N. Simms, officiated. The font was beautifully decorated with tall white lilies and scarlet dahlias. The baby was christened Raymond Arthur Clanaboy, and his godparents were the Hon. Brian O'Neill, Mr. Robert Roberts and Mr. Thomas Strickland, and Lady Violet Benson and Lady Mary Grey. A robe of rich cream satin was worn by the baby, with another robe of fine net and lace covering it.

Having completed his five years' term of office as Governor of Gibraltar, General Sir Alexander J. Godley sailed yesterday for England. His departure was marked by impressive military and naval ceremonial. The new Governor, General Sir Charles Harington, is expected to arrive within a few days.

BATTERY-DRIVEN VEHICLES.

PARTICULARS OF INVENTION.

A statement issued yesterday by the Industrial and Commercial Property Registration Office, 45 Merrion square, Dublin, giving official statistics for September in regard to patents and trade marks sets out that Specification No. 12523 is of special interest, in view of the fact that light battery-driven delivery vans are now available in Ireland, and that it has been announced in the Press that the Drumm battery is to enter this field shortly.

The invention relates to electric motor control systems, in which the motor may be caused to operate regeneratively, automatic means being provided whereby a substantially constant regenerated current is obtained, and is specially adapted to battery-driven road or rail vehicles.

In a motor control system of this general type, in particular of the type in which a limit switch is provided to control the acceleration in accordance with the motor current, the same limit switch also is employed during regeneration to increase the field excitation of the motor, or motors, as the speed thereof diminishes. The limit switch may operate to increase the field excitation of the motor, or motors, during regenerative operation by means of a contractor switch and interlock system of the type commonly employed.

When the regenerative connections are first made a series resistance is inserted in the motor circuit before the line switches are closed; this resistance is gradually and rapidly reduced to zero before the automatic regeneration begins, so that undesirable surges are avoided. The change from motoring to regenerating is made by means of a switch, which is not capable of breaking the main circuits, while carrying current; and, according to another feature of the invention, a system of interlocks is provided between this switch and the manual controller, so that they must be properly set before the line switch can close, while the motoring regenerating switch cannot operate when the current is flowing through it; an auxiliary relay is provided to govern the operation of the motoring-regenerating switch.

AT THE OLYMPIA THEATRE.

FLORRIE FORDE BRINGS BACK OLD AIRS.

Old-timers dropping into the Olympia Theatre last night, and hearing the audience singing the choruses of old-time songs like "Down at the Old Bull and Bush," might well have asked themselves if the clock had been pushed back a score of years. The atmosphere was due to the appearance of Florrie Forde, the old-time music hall favourite, who was making a re-appearance in Dublin after an absence of many years.

Although she inevitably carries the weight of years, this artiste remains wonderfully young in voice and personality, and in her songs last night there was all the "life and go" which won such a following for her before the war. She sang very effectively a number of modern favourites, like "My Wishing Song" and "Mountain Music," but many in the audience would have liked to hear more of her old songs.

Also figuring in the well-mixed bill were Del Monte, who was very entertaining in a clever scene depicting a robot petrol station of 1950; Tom Cable and Dot Carr in patter, humorous stories and songs; the Three Virginians in harmonised songs at the piano, and the Great Lynton Troupe, who are expert trick cyclists.

Mr. John Moody conducted the orchestra in a delightful selection from Rose Marie at the interval.

CLEVER CONJURING.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AT THE QUEEN'S.

At the Queen's Theatre last night an interesting programme was presented to a large audience. The bicycle balancing act of Les Rebras was highly appreciated. Fred Karene proved himself a clever conjurer, and an excellent entertainer. Miss Eileen Marmion, child commedienne; the Barrows, comedy variety duo, and Harry Jameson, who entertains with songs at the piano, and Mr. Alec C. Fryer and his band filled the bill, which is an excellent one. The principal picture is "Reform Girl."

ON THE WIRELESS

Daily Programme Review.

(CONDUCTED BY OBBLIGATO.)

DUBLIN: Programme of Irish Music, 7.30 to 8.20.

NORTH REGIONAL: Variety, 9.

POST PARISIEN: "Phœbus and Pan," Cantata (Bach), 8.35.

STRASBOURG & RADIO PARIS: Concert from the Paris Conservatoire, 8.30.

A TALK on "Exploration in the Antarctic" will be given in the Dublin programme at 7.15 by Mr. Charles J. McGuinness. Another "Exploration" talk available to-day (though only by those who can spare time for listening in the middle of the morning) is Mr. Clifford Collinson's in the Daventry programme at 11 a.m. His subject will be "Pizarro, the Discoverer and Conqueror of Peru."

Among the items in the B.B.C. talks series to-night we are to have "The Brain of a Playwright," by Mr. L. du Garde Peach (North Regional, 7.20), and the second of Professor Coupland's talks in the course on the "British Empire" (Daventry National, 8.30).

Following recent custom, Tuesday is a lighter day than others in respect of music in the B.B.C. programmes. It seems to be an orchestral day-off at Broadcasting House. The Wireless Military Band, however, will be in the breach with a programme of music by Russian composers. Among the works to be played are the following: Incidental Music from "Don Juan," by Napravnik; Caucasian Sketches by Ippolitov-Ivanov; Overture on a Spanish March theme by Balakirev, and violin solos, including two by Rachmaninov.

Later in the Daventry National programme the B.B.C. will present "The White Château," one of the twelve plays written directly for broadcasting, which have been chosen for revival this autumn. "The White Château" is a symbolical play written by Reginald Berkeley, with music composed and conducted by Norman O'Neill. It was the first full-length play specifically written for broadcasting and the first radio play to be given stage production. The original radio production was in November, 1925.

EDISWAN

If you have money to burn, try what valves you like. Some cost less than Mazda, some claim more. A great many people have discovered that actually not one of them does more, and that most don't do so much!

Of course, you don't have to believe this. You can prove it for yourself—with your own money. Or you can listen to experienced people, like set manufacturers or first-rate wireless dealers. They'll give you an opinion of Mazda. FARMERS' EVIDENCE TO TRIBUNAL.

"VIGILANCE COMMITTEE" IN CO. WATERFORD.

STORY OF VISITS TO NEIGHBOURS.

THE Military Tribunal, sitting in Dublin yesterday, heard further evidence in the case against the nine County Waterford farmers, who are charged with alleged activities against the payment of rates.

The prisoners gave evidence in their own defence, and were closely cross-examined by prosecuting counsel. It was stated that a "vigilance committee" set up by the Gaultier Branch of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League comprised all the members of the branch, and one witness, who admitted that he had first used the word "boycott," said that he had written it in a letter in a hurry, and did not intend that it should be construed literally.

The hearing will be resumed to-day.

GAULTIER MEETINGS.

PATRICK HALLEY, one of the accused men, was further cross-examined by Mr. Geoghegan. He had, he said, posted the form or pledge referred to in previous evidence to Mr. Edward Fleming, Dungarvan. He had seen Fleming at a meeting at the creamery at Gaultier. He could not say whether that was before or after he received the form. About 20 or 30 people were present at the meeting, and, so far as he remembered, he was in the chair. He could not remember which of the other accused men were present. He could say that Nicholas Sheehan was, and that William O'Brien was not.

Mr. Geoghegan—Did Edward Fleming address the meeting?—He did.

What did he address them about?—About the state of the country; about the farmers being unable to pay.

Did he mean poor rates?—Anything at all.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

Questioned regarding the existence of a vigilance committee, witness said that everybody at the meeting was on the vigilance committee.

What was the committee vigilant for?—To see that a neighbour was backed up, that he would not be in poverty in the event of his cattle or his horse being taken away.

But he was to be boycotted if he would not sign—No. That was never brought up at all.

Witness said he wanted to correct a statement in his previous evidence. When asked if he knew that a list would be handed in at a meeting he had said "yes." He should have said "no." He was mixed up in the days and dates. Continuing, he said that it was unanimously passed at a meeting in the Gaultier Creamery that a list be handed to owners of threshing machines. He was in the chair.

Mr. Geoghegan—Who proposed the resolution that the names should be put on a boycott list?—I cannot say.

"ALL RELATED."

Did you agree that it was an important resolution?—I did not. All the crowd were related. All the accused men and the men who gave evidence for the prosecution are uncles and nephews. They are like a crowd of tinkers. I knew that the whole thing would be finished in a week. I did not take it as serious. I knew that it would not be made effective.

Did you intend that it should be?—If I did I would not have given Spencer assistance afterwards.

Would it have been wicked if it had been enforced?—I do not think so

How long was the motion to settle the boycott list debated before it was passed?—About five minutes.

Can you remember how many spoke in favour of it?—No one spoke against it.

Did anyone say that the proposed resolution was "all in my eye," and that the list, although prepared, would not be carried out?—They did not say that at all.

You say that the Vigilance Committee was composed of all the members of the branch; how many would that be?—Thirty or thirty-five persons.

If Mr. Nicholas Sheehan, who was the secretary of the branch, enters in his book that there were only six people on the Vigilance Committee, would you have any reason to doubt your own accuracy?—No.

Can you offer any explanation of why these men had their names taken and recorded as a Vigilance Committee?—No.

Did you hear that the boycott list was sent to Dower?—Yes.

Did you hear that Dower met Nicholas Sheehan and asked if the list was really meant. Mrs. Flynn's corn was threshed by Cleer and Dower went to Nicholas Sheehan and asked what was meant by telling him not to thresh her corn and allowing another man to thresh it?—I heard that.

Was that not putting the list into effect?—No; she got her corn threshed.

Was it not threshed only because of a clerical error in one of the lists?—I would not say that.

Do you realise that the man who threshed for her did not get her name on his list?—Yes.

In further reply to Mr. Geoghegan, witness said that the list was also sent to Patrick Donnelly, of Tramore, who also had a threshing set. The Gaultier Creamery took the milk from the whole side of the country.

Was it intended that the milk should continue to be taken from the people who were boycotted?—Yes.

Were the people to continue taking the bread from Maurice Harney?—Yes. I have always taken it from him and never mentioned it to him

Do you suggest that he was to be boycotted as a farmer and not as a baker?—I don't know.

In addition to the persons who gave evidence here, how many others refused to sign that pledge?—I only heard of two or three more.

How many people declined at first, but signed it when they found they were boycotted?—I did not hear of anyone

Would I be right in saying that a vast number of people had it put up to them to sign?—I would not agree with that at all.

HUNDRED VISITS.

Mr. Geoghegan—How many people were visited altogether?—About one hundred or more.

Would you be surprised if I could give about 78 names of people called upon?—Not a bit.

From what do you suggest persons who were unable to pay rates or annuities had to be protected?—I petitioned the Government myself and told them how poor I was, and it did not go very far.

Do you suggest that persons can be put into jail who are unable to pay their way?—There is nothing to stop a rate collector taking you into any court, and what is to prevent a collector taking a few cows you might have away?

Was every person visited a person of humble means?—People in the locality think I am very well off until I tell them how I stand

FARMER'S POSITION.

Witness further stated that, since the economic "war" started, the farmer was put in the reverse gear and was going backward ever since, while the Government wanted him to go forward at the same time. "I have a wife and young children to keep," he continued, "and three servants. If I have to pay rates and rent, I would have to let the servants go away and would have to starve. That is the position in our locality."

Mr. Geoghegan—Are you seriously suggesting that farmers are not able to pay rates?—Some of them might be able to do so.

Do you think that a person who signed that pledge could pay his poor rates?—I do.

Was the pledge not an encouragement to pay neither rates nor rent?—No; it was a petition to the Government that we were not able to pay.

If it was a petition to the Government, why was it not sent to the Government?—I thought the secretary would send it along to the Government.

Did you think the Government would pay the rates?—No.

Witness added that, in 1930, when they were able to pay, they were not asked to pay, and in 1933, when they could not pay, they were being forced to pay, and the President put them into Mountjoy Jail.

"UNDER TWO FLAGS."

Mr. Geoghegan—If the whole business was just a petition to the Government, why bring in the boycott?—I made out that there were people flying under two flags, and that if we got concessions they would take them without fighting for them.

The persons in this boycott were double dealers?—Yes.

DISSENTIENTS.

Mr. Nicholas Sheehan, Secretary of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, Gaultier Branch, gave evidence of visiting Patrick Fitzgerald and John Murphy to ask them to sign the pledge in question. John Murphy asked him if they were going around getting people not to pay rates or rent, and was told decidedly not. Murphy refused to sign. They parted on friendly terms with both.

Cross-examined by Mr. Gavan Duffy, witness said that the chairman of the Gaultier Branch was Sir Robert Paul, and Patrick Halley had been vice-chairman. A Vigilance Committee was appointed on instructions from Dungarvan. Witness and all the members signed the pledge.

Mr. Gavan Duffy—Was there any discussion as to what would happen if a man refused to sign the form?—No.

Did some of the leading men among you discuss what would happen if a man refused to sign?—Not to my knowledge.

Was it not the general talk around about that if a man refused to sign he would be put on a boycott list?—No.

You went to Fitzgerald to ask him to sign this form?—Yes. I do not think I spoke to him on the question. John Flynn did.

Had instructions been given to the men who were going around with the forms?—They were instructed to be friendly and not to use threats. Witness, continuing, said he had no intention of mentioning rates when he saw Murphy. It was proposed at a meeting that the names of those who refused to sign should be put upon a list and handed to owners of threshing machines. The instructions arose from the meeting in general. They sprang from the general feeling of the meeting. He did not think it possible that the matter was discussed before the meeting. He was the originator of the use of the word "boycott."

"UNFORTUNATE" WORD.

It was in Power's capacity as secretary of a co-operative society, and not as secretary of a branch of the National Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, that witness wrote to him. He expected immediate compliance with his request, and got it. These men were placed on the boycott list because they did not become members of the League. The choice of the word "boycott" in the letters was an unfortunate one, due to witness being in a hurry when he was writing them.

Witness said that he remembered Dower being told to strike Fitzgerald's name off the list. That was because Fitzgerald had signed. He remembered sending a letter to Dower on the 31st of August. Counsel asked if that letter was meant to make things awkward for him, and witness said that he did not think it was intended to make anyone suffer.

You know what boycott means?—I am afraid that I did not attach the significance to it that has been attached to it.

You know that in the present distress of the farmers a thing like that would go like wild-fire if it succeeded?—It probably would.

You did not consider whether it would be right to ask a man who could pay to sign that pledge, and to take steps to compel him to sign it?—I don't think it would be right.

You know that there was talk of a "no-rates" campaign in the country?—Yes.

If this "no rates" campaign took the form of a boycott you would be giving a lead to the country at large?—Yes, I suppose it would be a headline to the country.

OTHER PRISONERS.

John Power said that he was secretary to the Crook Co-operative Society, and visited James Burke with the pledge, which the latter did not sign. He did not use any compulsion or make any threat to compel him to sign the pledge. On September 3 he was questioned by Sergeant Doyle, who took a statement from him. He was subsequently arrested on September 8 and questioned by Superintendent Fahy without any reference to the Public Safety Act. He made a statement to the Superintendent.

Witness said that he was secretary of the Crook branch of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League.

Mr. Geoghegan—What action did your branch take in regard to the list?—They decided to have nothing at all to do with it.

Do you know what the word boycott means?—I do not. I never knew the extent to which it would act. I did not know that a person would be shunned. I met some of the persons on the list after I got it and chatted to them as friendly as ever.

John Flynn, farmer, Lepperstown, said that he went to see Patrick Fitzgerald in connection with the pledge. After his arrest he was taken to Waterford, and between three and four o'clock in the morning he was questioned for about an hour and a half. After that he was taken to Mountjoy. There was no man now at his home, and his wife was left with five children. She was expecting another child. She was ninety miles from her own people, and living on the public road.

Cross-examined by Mr. Gavan Duffy, witness said that he was appointed to visit three townlands to get farmers to sign the pledge. Fitzgerald was not a bit reluctant to sign, but, after affixing his name and address to the pledge, Fitzgerald asked to be allowed to keep it overnight.

Mr. Gavan Duffy—At a subsequent meeting of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League was the name of each farmer who refused to sign the pledge given to the meeting?—Yes. It was agreed that those who refused to sign should not get their threshing done.

Mr. John Cullinane said that he lived with his sister-in-law and eight children, and worked on the farm. The eldest child was thirteen years and the youngest was three years. Nobody but his sister-in-law and her children were living on the farm since he was arrested. He had nothing whatever to do

BETTER WATER SUPPLY.

MALAHIDE AND SWORDS.

SEQUEL TO THE LONG DROUGHT.

By a Special Correspondent.

EVEN long droughts may have their advantages, although they are not, at first, apparent to everyone. Malahide and Swords residents are likely to have an auxiliary water supply for their districts in the near future as the result of an improvement made when the springs which supplied the reservoir dried up during the summer.

The reservoir, at Killeek, St. Margaret's, was constructed about thirty years ago, and is fed by springs. Many fine trout were to be caught in it, but this year the fishermen were sorely disappointed. As the period during which no appreciable amount of rain fell lengthened from days into weeks, the springs gradually dried up, and the level of water in the reservoir sank, until only a stagnant pool, which could not run off, remained. No dried-up bed of a lake looks particularly prepossessing, and the Killeek reservoir was no exception despite the fact that it was cleaned out only last year.

RESIDENTS' FEARS.

Residents in the district began to fear for the cleanliness of their supply, but they can rest assured that all water passing into the pipes first flowed through filter beds which ensured its purity. Fishermen, too, began to wonder what had happened to their hunting ground, and many doubts were expressed as to the worth of the reservoirs.

When the water began to dry up, it appeared that Swords and Malahide were about to suffer from a water famine, but fortunately a new source of supply was found by the County Dublin Board of Health engineers at Gaybrook, near Malahide, and a pumping plant capable of delivering 2,500 gallons of water per hour was installed, and saved the local supply.

Consideration is now being given to the possibility of making this emergency arrangement at the spring in Gaybrook into a permanent auxiliary of the Killeek reservoir, which will, of course, fill up as soon as the full flow of the springs is restored by the rains. This will add considerably to the water supplies in the districts.

When the reservoir fills for the first time after its long period of aridity the water will be allowed to flow out again, to waste through the overflow pipes in order to clean any foreign bodies from the bed. After this has been done, the normal supply of water to the towns will be resumed from the reservoir through the filter beds and pipe lines.

EGGS AND POULTRY.

MARKETING IN BRITAIN AND NORTHERN IRELAND.

The Ministry of Agriculture yesterday constituted an Agricultural Marketing Reorganisation Commission for Eggs and Poultry.

It will prepare a scheme or schemes applicable in England and Wales for regulating the marketing of eggs and poultry.

The Secretary for Scotland has also constituted a Commission for Scotland to prepare a scheme or schemes applicable in Scotland.

The Minister proposes to appoint from the English and Scottish Commissions a Commission for Great Britain, which will investigate and report on the schemes in England and Wales and in Scotland, and how co-operation can be facilitated between them and a corresponding body in Northern Ireland.

Dr. Addison will be Chairman of the Great Britain Commission, and also that for England and Wales.

Major Mark Sprot will be Chairman of the Scottish Commission.

IRISH COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS.

At the monthly meeting of the Committee of the Irish Commercial Travellers Association, held on last Saturday evening, Mr. M. Keating presiding, the revision of benevolent grants for 1934 was gone into. Those amounted to £398 and were passed. Five new members were elected.

with the pledge. He met Nicholas Sheehan on the road one night, and went along with him to John Murphy. Sheehan handed the pledge to Murphy and asked him to sign it. Murphy asked them if they were going around getting people to pay no rates or rent. Sheehan replied, "Decidedly not." No threats nor pressure of any kind were used in getting Murphy to sign the pledge.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kevin Haugh, witness admitted that he was a member of the Farmers' Defence League.

Did you read the pledge?—No. I never read it.

Did you know whether Murphy could or could not pay his rates?—I did not know anything about that at all.

You heard that threshing machines would not be allowed to thresh for farmers who did not sign the pledge?—Yes.

Do you now approve of the resolution that the farmers who did not sign the pledge should not have their corn threshed?—I don't.

"NO COMPULSION."

John Sheehan said that with Richard O'Brien he went to see Mrs. Flynn. He took the pledge from his pocket and told her that he was bringing it around to the people to get them to sign it. She said that she did not know what to do until she saw her nephew, and O'Brien then said, "It is all right, ma'am; there is no compulsion." When they were coming away she said that she had not yet paid her June rent, and O'Brien said that they did not want to know anything about her private affairs.

Mr. Geoghegan—Is there no other reason why Mrs. Flynn's name should have gone on the boycott list except that she did not sign the document you produced?—No.

You are one of the leading lights of the district?—I suppose so.

Do you know what the rates in the £ are in the district?—No, I do not.

You still think you are a good guide and a good leader?—I do not think that I am a leader at all.

You wanted to lead the people into this branch?—I would like them to be there.

And boycott them if they don't want to go in with you?—I did not want to boycott them.

Richard O'Brien, Harristown, in reply to Mr. Lavery, said that he had been a member of the Volunteers up to the Treaty. His farm had been locked up since he was taken away. He attempted to use no compulsion in getting Mrs. Flynn to sign the pledge.

In reply to Mr. Gavan Duffy, witness said that he supposed it was a harsh thing to place Mrs. Flynn's name on the boycott list.

Mr. Michael Kirwan said that he lived with his father and mother, and was a single man. He worked 120 acres of land. Accompanied by William O'Brien he went to William Kirwan and Robert McNamara to get them to sign the pledge. Neither of them signed, and all four went along to the cross-roads together the best of friends. William Kirwan asked him for the loan of a bull ring, and he promised to give it to him. Witness was arrested on September 7 and taken to Waterford Barracks.

"FIRST DUTY."

In reply to Mr. Haugh witness said that he attended a meeting of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, Galtier Branch, when the question of the pledge was raised. They were told at the meeting that their first duty was to their home and family, and if they were not able to pay their rates the League would help them. He understood that the pledge was simply a document asking people to join the League.

Witness further stated that a few years ago he understood that two of the farmers in the district were in some difficulty about the payment of rates.

Mr. Haugh—Did you realise that you were going to ask people to sign a pledge not to pay rates?—I did not. If they were able to pay rates I would be satisfied if they signed the pledge. I met people who said they could pay and at the same time signed the pledge.

The Court adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

VALUER'S CLAIM TO RETIRE.

THE "CUTS" IN THE CIVIL SERVICE.

CASE FOR THE APPLICANT.

THE Civil Service Compensation Board, sitting at 23 Upper Merrion street, Dublin, yesterday, heard a claim of Mr. Harry Lisney, a district valuer, employed in the Valuation Office, Ely place, Dublin, to retire under the provisions of the Civil Service (Transferred Officers) Compensation Act, 1929.

Judge Davitt presided, and the other members of the Board present were—Messrs. W. F. Nally and L. M. Fitzgerald, for the Free State Minister for Finance; and Messrs. A. McE. Kelly and D. N. Brunicardi, for the applicant.

Mr. J. A. Costello, K.C., and Mr. Cecil Lavery, K.C. (instructed by Mr. W. J. M. Coulter), appeared for Mr. Lisney; and Mr. A. Meredith, K.C., Mr. Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. Kevin Haugh (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) were for the Minister for Finance.

Mr. Costello, opening the applicant's case, said that Mr. Lisney claimed to retire by reason of the fact that since the 30th of last April his salary had been reduced by an amount equivalent to a sum of £20 6s. 3d. a year. Mr. Lisney was appointed a valuer-surveyor on the 9th June, 1902, by the then Commissioner of Valuation, under a Civil Service Order in Council of the 8th June, 1870. He entered the service at £150 a year, rising by increments of £15 to £500 a year.

He continued in that position, getting his increments, until the 1st July, 1921, when he was appointed to the grade of district valuer at a salary of £400 a year, rising by increments of £20 to a maximum of £600 a year. He proceeded on that scale until 1930, and would have reached his maximum in the ordinary course in 1931, but, in fact, the attainment of his maximum salary was accelerated by the grant of one or two increments of £30 altogether. Instead, therefore, of reaching his maximum in 1931, he actually reached it in 1930.

THE ECONOMIES BILL.

The Public Services (Temporary Economies) Bill was introduced some time in last March, and all that Mr. Lisney knew about it was that it was a bill going through the Oireachtas. Under the bill the "cuts" applicable to Mr. Lisney's salary were 2 per cent. on £400, 2½ per cent. on the next £100, 3 per cent. on the next £100, 4½ per cent. on the following £100, and 6 per cent. on the remaining £38 12s. of his salary. The "cut" of £20 6s. 3d. in his salary of £738 12s. was to be put into operation on the 30th of last April; yet he did not know whether the Governor-General had yet signed the bill.

Mr. Meredith—It was signed a week ago.

As short a period as possible after the "cut" was put into operation, continued Mr. Costello, Mr. Lisney sent in his notice of retirement with compensation to the Minister for Finance under the Act of 1929. The question that the Board had now to decide was whether the "cut" in Mr. Lisney's salary, made for months before the passing of the Act which authorised "cuts" in salaries, was an alteration of the condition of his service, such as would entitle him to retire under the provisions of the Act, which gave transferred officers the right to retire if the conditions of their employment were materially altered to their detriment.

WIGG-COCHRANE CASE.

As a result of the decision in the Wigg-Cochrane case, proceeded Mr. Costello, the cost-of-living bonus in this country was to be calculated on the Irish figure. There was no appeal from that decision, which was given by Mr. Justice Meredith, by the Minister's predecessor, although an appeal on other points was taken to the Supreme Court, which reversed the decision of Mr. Justice Meredith. An appeal was then taken to the Privy Council, and the Privy Council reversed the decision of the Supreme Court and restored the decision of Mr. Justice Meredith on all points. He did not want to enter into any controversy about whether the Privy Council decision was binding in the Free State, but he could not understand how it was that, when no appeal had been taken from Mr. Justice Meredith's decision that the Free State bonus figure should be taken, an attempt was now being made to refer to any other bonus figure.

On account of extra duties, said Mr. Costello, Mr. Lisney got increments advanced, but, he submitted, the Minister for Finance had no reason to take this into account, as it was the minimum that could be extracted from the Ministry for additional work performed by Mr. Lisney.

THE ISSUE.

It was irrelevant to the issue, and he submitted that the "cut" in salary, whether it was £18 or £20 a year, entitled Mr. Lisney to retire. The Act introduced into the Civil Service the principle that public servants were to be the objects of the Governmental axe for economy. The mere fact that salaries had been "cut" demonstrated that the very basis of civil servants' security in regard to their salaries had been affected, and if Mr. Lisney had remained in England he would not have suffered that "cut."

Judge Davitt said that the Court, in these cases, never took into account what happened in England subsequent to the transfer.

Mr. Costello said that his contention was that Mr. Lisney was entitled, on his transfer, to take into consideration that he would get certain rights under the Act which safeguarded transferred officers. He was entitled to consider that he would jog along here in the ordinary way, getting his increments in the ordinary way, and now, when "cuts" came along that question of security and certainty had been rudely upset by an Act which authorised them, and which did a thing that never before was done in the Civil Service.

He, therefore, submitted that it was a material change to Mr. Lisney's detriment, and that Mr. Lisney was entitled to retire. The Court should not allow any inquiry whether the £18 or £20 which Mr. Lisney would lose every year under the "Cuts" Bill substantially affected him.

THE APPLICANT.

Mr. Lisney, the applicant, was examined by Mr. Lavery, and gave details of his service and salary, as had been given by Mr. Costello. He said that he reached his maximum salary in 1930, instead of, as in the normal progress, in 1931, and the reason was that he had been doing special work. In April of the present year a circular was sent to the departments in regard to reduction of salaries, and there was a reduction of £5 1s. 4d. in his first quarter's salary after that, and a reduction of £4 16s. 8d. in the last quarter's salary.

Mr. Meredith, on behalf of the Minister for Finance, drew the attention of the Board to the publication in the Dublin Gazette of the 6th of this month of the King's assent, through the Governor-General, to the Public Services (Temporary Economies) Bill, 1933, on the 2nd of this month, so that, he said, the bill became an Act of Parliament on the latter date. That Act, he continued, contained a section which validated the sections made after the bill had been introduced, and before it became an Act.

The question, as it appeared to him, was whether the toll under the Temporary Economies Act was, or was not, a change in conditions of employment of such character as materially to alter the conditions of employment, and he submitted, first of all, that this toll was a toll on all persons in public service, and did not differentiate against an individual or a class. It was not good law to interpret Section 14 of the Act as meaning that transferred officers were a privileged class.

SAFEGUARDS.

Judge Davitt said that the opposite to what Mr. Meredith had said had been argued there again and again, both on behalf of the State and on behalf of applicants in connection with the safeguards of the Treaty and the bill of 1929.

Mr. Meredith said that this Act was an Act passed to meet a national crisis, and was not directed against any class of persons employed in the public service.

Judge Davitt—Is it so stated in the preamble?

Mr. Costello—You may not take us as admitting that in any circumstances.

Mr. Meredith said that there was no preamble to the bill.

On the question of condition of employment, Mr. Meredith submitted that Mr. Lisney's condition of employment had not

MISSIONS AND THE YOUNG.

IRISH PAPER BY FR. DEERY, M.A.

CATHOLIC TRUTH SOCIETY'S AIM.

THE annual Conference of the Catholic Truth Society was opened last night in the Mansion House, Dublin, when the Rev. Joseph Deery, M.A., C.C., Harold's Cross road, read a paper in Irish, the subject of which was "Youth and the Missions."

The Rev. Dr. G. O'Nolan, Maynooth College, presided.

Father Deery said that missionary work, the preaching of the Gospel, was the life of the Church. Christ had commanded the apostles to go forth and preach the Gospel, and said that whoever believed in that teaching would be saved. The Church must continue to preach the Gospel to the whole world, but she could not do it without adequate help from the laity. Three things were necessary—prayers, priests and money. The missions, he said, were short-handed in personnel and in funds, and he did not think that any real improvement would come unless the people were taught to be mission-minded, and that movement must start with the youth, for young people were the most receptive. In China there were 400,000,000 pagans, 2,500,000 Catholics, and only 2,000 priests. To cope with the work there was need for 200,000 priests.

Father Deery mentioned that in America, Holland and Germany there was a Students' Missionary Crusade, which was doing excellent work. That showed what education of the youth could do in countries which were not Catholic and had no missionary traditions behind them, as Ireland had.

TRAIN THE YOUNG PEOPLE.

"We should begin to educate the youth in this matter at the very earliest stage," said Father Deery, "and that was to be done by parents, priests and school teachers." He did not mean to make it a new school subject, but only to give the young people an unconscious education in it. It was for parents to create the proper atmosphere in the home, and the teachers could make history and geography interesting for the children by inter-weaving them with the story of the Church and the missions. "Now that there was a revival of national culture, let us not forget the very best of it—the missionary spirit," concluded the speaker.

Mr. Carol O'Daly moved a vote of thanks to Father Deery, and it was seconded by Mr. Douglas McGinley and carried amid applause.

The Rev. Chairman also thanked Father Deery, and said that it was the young people who were to be depended on to get the people of Ireland on the right road—the road of honesty, faith and the missions.

SIR EDWARD ELGAR.

Sir Edward Elgar, who on Sunday underwent an abdominal operation, is progressing satisfactorily. Sir Edward, who is at his country home near Worcester, is 76.

been materially altered by the reduction in his salary, but added that he thought that that was a jury question. In talking of the materiality of a reduction they had to take into consideration the length of the purse from which the reduction was taken,

A PROPOSITION.

As a third proposition, Mr. Meredith put it that Mr. Lisney's position had not been materially affected to his detriment, because he must take the smooth with the rough. If he got a reduction of £18 in one year he received the benefit of reaching his maximum a year earlier than in the normal course, and he also received the benefit of having his bonus calculated on the Free State cost of living index.

Mr. Sean O Morain, of the Valuation Office, submitted a record giving the conditions under which, he said, Mr. Lisney's maximum salary was accelerated. Mr. Lisney, he stated, had made himself especially suitable for his position, and had shown great industry and capability in his service.

Judge Davitt said that the Board would consider the whole case, and would reassemble in connection with it only if they considered that evidence on other matters relative to the application was necessary.

The public sitting was then adjourned.

HOUSING NEEDS OF DUBLIN.

CORPORATION'S TASK.

PROPOSED MILLION SCHEME.

By a Special Correspondent.

THE Dublin Corporation is about to make application for a quarter of a million of money with a view to the encouragement of building by private enterprise under the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act.

It is understood that the Finance and Housing Committees of the Dublin Corporation have for some time had under consideration the raising of a further housing loan up to the sum of £750,000. This is a measure in pursuance of the Corporation's pain to build 10,000 houses within the period of five years. So far the Corporation has endeavoured, with considerable success, to maintain a system of building at the rate of 2,000 houses a year during the past three years. Unfortunately, however, the strenuous endeavours of the Corporation officials to cope with the extra tasks cast upon them by the Council's five-year plan have not satisfied all parties. It is now urged that, in order to meet the needs of the situation, the Housing Committee's staff should be doubled.

In three years' time, at the rate at which slum tenements are falling into decay and uninhabitable condition, 5,000 or 6,000 tenement dwellers will be under canvas in the Phœnix Park, if they are to be covered at all. It is, therefore, said that the time has come for wholesale clearing, and for quickening of building.

GROWING DEMAND.

The Corporation has before it 11,400 applications. At the present rate of building, 10,900 people will be unprovided for at the end of this year, and when the Crumlin scheme of about 600 cottages, now in preparation, is completed, there will still be 10,300 people looking for housing accommodation in the City of Dublin.

At the lecture given in Dublin last week by Sir Raymond Unwin, Mr. G. F. Beckett, F.R.I.A.I., in response to a complaint uttered by the Lord Mayor, said that the Royal Institute of Architects promised every assistance in solving the housing problem. Mr. Beckett was asked what this promise implied. He answered that the Corporation had never officially approached the Institute in the matter. He added that the Institute was most willing to help and advise, but did not see how it could take the initiative.

The Institute is about to issue a Cautionary Guide to Dublin—a pamphlet on the lines of guides published by town-planning authorities in Great Britain. The object is to awaken public opinion in Dublin and in other towns and cities.

What is felt to be wanted for Dublin and for all large towns, is the preparation of a skeleton scheme on paper, which would include not only the consideration of the housing provision, but the means of getting to the houses. As an instance, the Crumlin area in Dublin has been developed, but if one wants to get to and from Crumlin to the centre of the city there is no direct way. The housing problem cannot be dealt with unless at the same time its consideration is co-ordinated with the problem of accessibility. With the Town-Planning Bill before the Dail, all existing plans must be modified and made ready to put into operation as soon as the bill becomes law.

PLAN TO BUILD ON NORTH LOTTS.

INQUIRY AT CITY HALL.

A Local Government inquiry will be held to-day in the City Hall, Dublin, to investigate the merits of an application on behalf of the Dublin Corporation compulsorily to buy out certain lands know as the North Lotts area, East road, Dublin, for the purpose of utilising the ground for the erection of dwellings for the working classes.

There will be a number of objections to the acquisition of this land, the main ground being that the owners have prospects that their property may soon be required by new manufacturing enterprises. Already some part of this area has been acquired by Messrs. Hely, Limited, who are about to build a new printing works.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin (Alderman A. Byrne, T.D.), Mr. T. Kelly, T.D., and Alderman J. Hubbard Clark will be among the witnesses who will support the Corporation's case. Alderman Hubbard Clark is chairman of the Housing Committee of the Dublin Corporation, and will in evidence put forward the main claim of the Corporation.

Alderman Hubbard Clark has known the North Lotts area for the past 30 years, during which time it has been a derelict spot. Adjacent to it some years ago private enterprise was responsible for a number of workmen's dwellings, but no other houses have been built in the neighbourhood except those by the Rev. Canon Hall, which are larger houses than those the Corporation proposes to erect. The main intention of the Corporation is to relieve and clear the slum areas in the city, but this has to be done with regard to the inhabitants' insistence on living near their work. Building on the North Lotts area would greatly facilitate the Corporation with the work of city slum clearances.

YOUTHS' STORY OF HOLD-UP.

MONAGHAN ARMS CHARGES.

YOUNG MAN SENT FOR TRIAL.

CARRICKMACROSS, Monday.

AFTER a hearing lasting five hours at the District Court here to-day a young man, named Francis Boyle, Mullylusty, was returned for trial in custody charged with illegal possession of firearms and ammunition, and also with assaulting two youths, John Thomas Hickey and Thomas Duffy, both of Ballyhoe, with intent to rob. He was further charged with possession of firearms in October, 1931, and October, 1932, with intent to endanger life.

His brother, Nicholas Boyle, was also returned for trial on bail on charges of conspiracy, knowing a felony to have been committed, and illegal possession of firearms.

Two youths named Hickey and Duffy gave evidence of having been held up at the point of a revolver when they were returning from a dance in Leege Hall on the night of the 1st October last. Hickey said that he was cycling home with Duffy, and overtook Felix Carolan, who was walking, near Coolderry. A man slipped out from the ditch wearing a white-coloured coat, a hat and mask, and armed with a short revolver. He cocked the revolver at Carolan and called out: "Angle file on this road. What's all the laughing about Do you want to get me into trouble, or bring the Guards in?"

SEARCHED BY MAN.

The challenger then said to Carolan: "Go on, I know you," and ordered witness and Duffy to follow into a wood. On arriving near Coolderry House Duffy was commanded to get to the back of the ditch, where he was searched. They were again ordered to follow the armed man further through the wood. When they reached a lane, witness and his companion were warned that, if questioned by any other man on their way home, they were to say that they had been sent that way by a "picket." Twenty minutes later they heard a shot from the direction of the wood.

Two days later Hickey attended an identification parade at Carrickmacross, but failed to identify the challenger. He identified the hat, coat and mask (produced).

PRISONER'S QUESTION.

Boyle (to Hickey)—Did you make a statement to the Guards that you were asked was your father an A.C.A. man, and whether he had a gun?

Hickey—I did make that statement.

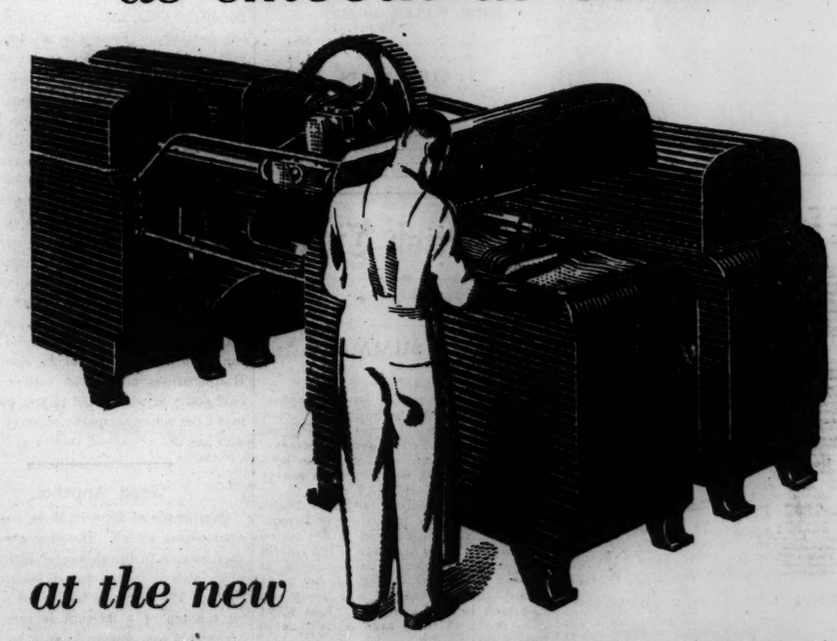

Felix Carolan said that when the man pointed the revolver at him, he shouted, "Hey," because he thought he was going to shoot them.

Philip Kelly, Killark, said when Boyle was in his mother's employment two years ago witness saw the gun (produced) in his possession, but the barrel was shorter now.

Superintendent McGrath, who prosecuted, said that the prisoner had no certificate for firearms, and neither had his brother.

Sergeant Flanagan read a statement alleged to have been made by Boyle detailing his movements on the night in question. His brother, Nicholas Boyle, was working in the field, where Detective Sergeant Magee found a short gun, a hat, coat and mask in a cock of hay.

Money for Houses.

The news that the Dublin Corporation is contemplating an extension of its building programme will be welcomed by all good citizens. We announce to-day that £250,000 will be raised in the near future to encourage building by private enterprise under the Small Dwellings (Acquisition) Act, while a further sum of £750,000 will be needed for the general purposes of civic housing. The Small Dwellings Act helps a class of the population for which Governments rarely make provision of any kind. It is essentially a middle-class measure, which enables a citizen to borrow from the Corporation, on fairly easy terms, up to 90 per cent. of the value of a house to a maximum of £1,000. In Great Britain this Act has been an important boon to persons who cannot afford to buy a house out of their own resources; but hitherto Dublin has not taken much advantage of it. Now, however, that the Corporation proposes to devote a quarter of a million pounds to its uses, a decided fillip will be given to private building. Purchase of a house under this Act is the best, and safest, kind of investment. It benefits the city and the citizen alike, and encourages young married couples to establish themselves in their own homes.

From the Corporation's point of view, of course, the main task is to house tenement-dwellers in decent homes. It has set out to build 10,000 cottages in five years, and so far it has fulfilled its programme of 2,000 houses every twelve months. Tenements, however, are falling into decay more quickly than new houses are being built, and it is estimated that at the end of three years, unless something is done in the meanwhile, between five and six thousand persons will be housed under canvas in the Phœnix Park. At present the Housing Committees of the Corporation have no fewer than 11,400 applications for new houses. By the end of the present year some five hundred of these persons will be provided with cottages, and six hundred further dwellings are in preparation. Manifestly, however, only the fringe of the problem is being touched, and the time has come for a general clearance of the slums. The Free State Government is squandering large sums of public money in the provision of extended "doles," which can have only a degrading effect on their recipients. Dublin's Corporation, on the other hand, proposes to spend money wisely; for the provision of houses is productive enterprise in one of its highest forms. If the Government would follow the Corporation's example by the introduction of a national housing scheme, more lasting good would be done than by all the bounties and subsidies that ever were invented.

Hitherto housing in Dublin has been haphazard. Although it may be argued that any houses are better than none, some of the Dublin colonies are civic eyesores. Under the new Town-Planning Bill a certain amount of proper supervision will be compulsory; but we hope sincerely that, if, and when, the Corporation launches its new scheme, it will take the best possible advice from town-planning experts. Mr. George Beckett has announced that the Royal Institute of Architects is willing and anxious to give every assistance in the matter; but, naturally, it cannot take the initiative. From the utilitarian, as well as from the æsthetic, point of view, the co-operation of the Royal Institute of Architects would be of enormous value. Several millions must be spent in Dublin before the housing problem can be solved, and the Corporation's credit is excellent. If large sums of money are to be spent, however, care must be taken that they are spent to the best possible advantage. The rabbit-warren type of colony must be avoided at all costs; for already experience has taught our housing experts that such places quickly reproduce many of the worst features of tenement life. Now the Dublin Corporation has a splendid opportunity to cure the city of its open sores. Half-measures are almost useless, but a bold policy of widespread reform will command the active sympathy of every citizen who has the welfare of Dublin at heart.

Good Appetite.

Our temple of fame in these times is a commodious edifice. However crowded it may become in the throng of aspirants, a place always can be found for the newcomer. The first man to live for a month on the top of a flagstaff is sure of his niche; the first woman to walk backwards round the world will step upon her pedestal amid the plaudits of an admiring public. While so many feats that are merely silly are accorded all the honours of popular hero-worship, there is a danger that great men may be overlooked through their own modesty. In the feats of Mr. George W. Leader, whose death is announced to-day, there was a genuine distinction, a touch of the grand manner, that leads us to wish for him an honoured place in the memory of a grateful country. Mr. Leader was a great eater. By trade a paper merchant of the town of Middlesbrough, he became aware at an early age of his singular gifts. They were not the gifts of a gourmet, who may win an easy reputation on the strength of a certain finickiness at the table and an air of familiarity with all the world's most delicious and most expensive foods. Mr. Leader's triumphs were won by solid endeavour before witnesses. A meal of fifty pork pies and some dozens of eggs was of ordinary occurrence; but, when he was faced by competition, he was capable of almost incredible heights of gastronomy, and history does not record that he ever suffered defeat. The chronicles of his Gargantuan feats makes stimulating reading for the very robust, but one example of his earlier manner is sufficient to prove that he was no ordinary trencherman. In answer to a challenge, he consumed two stones of hay—an achievement, probably without parallel in history, and approached in literature only by the King in "Alice through the Looking-Glass." Such a career stands out in high relief against an age of studied—and even somewhat faddy—moderation at the table: a hundred years ago he might have found himself in more congenial company. Yet Mr. Leader's ability to cope with an honest meal at a time when so many puny moderns confine themselves to a daily diet of a few husks and a morsel of toast is not his only distinction. Champions are common enough to-day, but a champion who confines himself to innocent contests at home and refuses offers to visit the United States is rare, indeed. Mr. Leader's scorn of gain and of barren honours must remain one of the pleasantest memories of his career.

A Mad World.

The French Courts have reserved judgment in a case which under its broad comedy has a tragic element. A wedding supper was held at Douai, and everything went merrily until the last course, when biscuits were served with wine. Suddenly one of the party, who had been scanning a biscuit idly, leapt to his feet with a roar of indignation. He declared that the biscuits which had been served to loyal French people seemed to have been struck in honour of Field-Marshal von Hindenburg, since they bore his name. The wedding guests, after one palsied moment of astonishment, delivered themselves to an orgy of patriotic rage. They ground the offending biscuits into dust beneath their heels, and then proceeded to wreck the restaurant, making rapid progress with their patriotic task until the police arrived. The proprietor brought an action for damages, and samples of the biscuits of discord were brought into court. There the legend which they bore—"made in Edinburgh"—was patent to every eye. The excited guest had mistaken "Edinburgh" for "Hindenburg." Since, however, the particular batch of biscuits which provoked the riot (and was reduced to dust) may have been poorly printed, the Court reserved judgment. Superficially, the incident was comic; it would have furnished Mr. Chaplin with a rollicking picture in the days of his "silent" films. The element of real tragedy consists in the fact that no nation can afford to laugh at it. Based on a ludicrous mistake, it was nevertheless a typical example of the political and economic furor which is driving Europe towards bankruptcy and the next war. Germany, with her "non-Aryan" lunacy, which banishes the Twelve Apostles, cannot laugh at this story. Can Irishmen laugh at it, who boycott British beer and regard a suggested conversation with a British Minister as a charge of treason? Certainly, if the nations are sane to-day, that old sailor who accosted another wedding guest with talk about the God Who "made and loveth all" was quite mad.

Irish Handkerchiefs.

Some interesting light is thrown upon the intricacies of modern trade by evidence that has been given before the Canadian Tariff Board with regard to the import of Irish handkerchiefs. By virtue of the trade treaty between Canada and the United Kingdom, linen goods of all-Empire manufacture are admitted free of duty into the Dominion. In the case of certain handkerchiefs, however, it seems that, having been manufactured originally in Ireland, they are shipped to China, where they are subjected to an embroidery process. Then they are sent back to Ireland to be "finished" before final export to Canada. The Canadian Board holds that these handkerchiefs no longer can be described as Irish. Some 23 per cent. of the work which is done on them is done in China, and the letter of the law insists that no goods are entitled to free admission unless they have been manufactured entirely within the Empire. As a result of this decision Irish linens in future will be taxed at 35 per cent. and four cents a pound, if they have been embroidered in China or any other foreign country; and, if the linen trade wishes to hold the Canadian market, it will need to do all its work at home. There seems to be no reason why Irish handkerchiefs or tablecloths should not be embroidered in this country. The Ulster manufacturers have long experience, and the completion of their products in the six counties would help substantially to reduce the unemployment which is such a source of embarrassment to the Northern Government. Furthermore, the shipment of unfinished goods to China, their re-shipment to Ireland, and their ultimate despatch to America must involve a considerable amount of waste. Who ever imagined that a pocket handkerchief would have such an eventful career?

SOUTH AFRICAN REFUNDING ISSUE.

The following statement was issued last evening by the Treasury:—

"The Chancellor of the Exchequer has agreed to an immediate issue by the Government of the Union of South Africa for the purpose of refunding £13,000,000 of 5 per cent. Stock, 1933-43.

"The Chancellor of the Exchequer wishes it to be understood that this is an exceptional measure, and does not in any way imply the withdrawal of his request regarding the optional conversion of trustee securities published in the Press on January 14th last."

NEW GLIDING "RECORD."

A new British gliding duration "record" was set up at Sutton Bank, near Thirsk, yesterday, by Mr. J. Laber, a member of the Dorset Gliding Club. Mr. Laber was in the air seven hours, twenty-two minutes, beating Flying Officer E. L. Moles's "record" of six hours, 55 minutes. The landing was made in darkness, and heavy rain, the ground being marked out by hurricane lamps. The first to congratulate Mr. Laber was his sister, Miss Margaret Laber, who had watched anxiously throughout the day.

ST. MICHAN'S CHURCH.

A Service will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in St. Michan's Parish Church, Dublin, in connection with the opening day of the Michaelmas Law Sittings. St. Michan's, which is one of the oldest, and most interesting Churches in Dublin, is the Parish Church of the Four Courts. It is widely known on account of its remarkable vaults, and also of the fact that Händel played its organ when he visited Dublin.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

Before he left for Sandringham yesterday, the King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace. The attendance included the Minister for War, Viscount Hailsham; the Minister for Labour, Sir Henry Betterton, and the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The King and Queen visited Princess Beatrice at Kensington Palace before they left London. The Princess, who was suffering from a slight cold recently, is now fully recovered.

His Majesty, who will be accompanied by the Queen, hopes to perform the opening ceremony of the new portion of the National Central Library in Bloomsbury, on Tuesday, November 7th. The premises adjoin Chaucer House, the headquarters of the Library Association, and have accommodation for over 100,000 volumes.

The Prince of Wales has given his patronage to the Harbour Lights Ball, in aid of the Missions to Seamen, which will be held at Claridge's Hotel on December 7th.

On Thursday Prince George will open the Motor Show at Olympia, and in the evening the Duke of Gloucester will attend the dinner in the Mansion House in aid of the National Association of Boys' Clubs.

THE KILMARNOCK BY-ELECTION.

UNIONISTS SUPPORT MR. K. LINDSAY.

The Unionists of Kilmarnock Division last night unanimously adopted a resolution cordially approving the adoption of Mr. Kenneth Lindsay as National Government candidate at the forthcoming by-election, which has been caused by the elevation of Mr. Craigie Aitchison to the Scottish bench. It has been announced that Mr. Lindsay's candidature is also being recommended by the National Labour headquarters.

The Rev. James Barr, who sat for Motherwell until the late general election, has been chosen as the official Labour candidate.

Mr. John Pollock has been nominated by the Scottish Independent Labour Party.

COLONEL AND MRS. LINDBERGH.

After spending three days in almost complete seclusion at the quiet South Wales village of St. Brides-super-Ely, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have left for London.

Their movements, however, are still being kept a close secret, but it is understood that Colonel Lindbergh is to confer with experts on the development of trans-Atlantic air services before returning to America.

NAVAL EXERCISE CANCELLED.

Late last night it was stated at the Admiralty that the exercise off Cromarty had been cancelled owing to bad weather.

An agreement has been signed by Lithuania and the Soviet Union for the exchange of political prisoners. Fourteen Lithuanian priests imprisoned in the U.S.S.R. are to be set free in return for the release of twenty-four Russian Communists arrested in Lithuania.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE HORSE-BREEDING TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I was pleased to see Mr. O'Callaghan's letter in your issue of Saturday. Horse-breeding—a great industry—in this country has received a severe blow from the action of our Government. It has killed the cattle industry, and it looks as if horse-breeding must follow suit. For forty years we have had the advantage of high-class stallions in this country. Now it looks as if we are going to lose it, as most of our best-class stallions have either left the country or are going.

Blandford, Stratford and Soldennis have gone, and Trigo is going. Lord Furness's stud has gone. The Cloghran Stud (1,000 acres) looks like going. The National Stud (1,000 acres) may be closed in the near future; and it is quite possible that the Aga Khan's stud and Colonel Loder's may be moved also. All this will cause much unemployment, and naturally will lessen the demand for oats, hay and straw considerably.

Breeders are now leaving horses out on grass that in normal times would have been fed on oats and would have been bedded on straw. The effect of the duties is far-reaching. Stallion-owners—especially the owners of the inexpensive horses—will find it as difficult to collect their fees as the rate-collector does his rates, and for the same reasons; and so the well-bred hunter will deteriorate as well as the racehorse.—Yours, etc.,

JAMES MAHER.

CATTLE FROM CANADA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—There are errors of figures in the paragraph headed "Cattle from Canada" in to-day's issue. The figure 3,623 for store cattle exported is the figure for August, 1932, not the figure for January-August, 1932, which was 190,014. This particular figure for August is abnormally low. The normal figure for store bullocks and bulls exported in August is in the region of 14,000. The calculation in the final part of the paragraph ignores the fact that half the annual total of store cattle is normally exported in the four months August-November of every year.

Unfortunately, no statistical returns are made by the gentlemen whose profession it is to bring cattle into Northern Ireland by "unapproved routes."—Yours, etc.,

JOSEPH JOHNSTON.

SCHOOL HOURS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your correspondent in last Saturday's Irish Times, writing against the alteration of the school hours, refers to the young children who have to be taken to and from school. Surely it is not to children of tender years that the present system is so detrimental, but rather to the boy or girl of eleven years and upward, who in most cases leaves home about 8.30 a.m. and does not return till 3.30 p.m. at the earliest, and then has sufficient homework to occupy two to three hours every evening. This is my experience at any rate. Our children at this very critical age need a good meal and rest in the middle of the day, and, if all the ten or fifteen minute breaks were done away with and a good lunch hour of one and a half to two hours given instead, it would add very little to the teacher's day—which, after all, is not a very long one.

Surely we parents, who pay big school fees, are entitled to some consideration for our children; and, if we could bring about this reform, we would have done a great deal for all children.—Yours, etc.,

"A SCHOOLBOY'S MOTHER."

PICTURES AND BAD LITERATURE.

HEADMASTER'S VIEW OF YOUTH.

The Group Conference of the annual Council of Women of Great Britain, or, as it has come to be known, the "Annual Parliament of Women," was given a lively send-off at Torquay last night by a mass meeting of young people, at which Miss Ishbel Macdonald was one of the speakers.

Mr. A. Wallace, Headmaster of Blundell's School, addressing the young people, urged the importance of keeping fit mentally and physically.

There is, I am afraid, little doubt that the physique of our youth is deteriorating, he said. Other countries are taking this question of physical fitness of health more seriously, notably Germany, Italy and France.

I am afraid a great many of our young people spend too much of their time in dark, stuffy picture houses on sunny afternoons, sucking toffee and chocolate. I am not suggesting for a moment that they should not go to the picture houses, but the point is, far too much time is spent by our young people in these two occupations instead of out in the fresh air, exercising themselves.

Referring to the undesirable literature which was read by many young people to-day, Mr. Wallace said that they were horrified at the tremendous amount of absolute nonsense which was offered for sale at bookstalls and shops for the consumption of young people, and, apparently, from a business point of view, very successfully.

Miss Ishbel Macdonald said that they could not blame one generation for the difficulties youth had to face to-day. They were an accumulation of evils which had been allowed to grow and grow. You will all come to a period of disillusionment, she added; but I do beg of you not to become cynical. You can be as wicked as you like, but whatever you do, do not become cynical.

A DISPLAY OF METEORS.

A brilliant display of meteors was observed last night, and to any observer on the Dublin mountains the sky would have seemed to be full of shooting stars. At Dunsink Observatory an overclouded sky restricted observation, but in an unclouded area as many as fifty-six meteors were noted in the space of a minute. If the sky had been unclouded it is estimated that as many as a hundred meteors per minute would have been observed. The meteor shower seemed to come from the direction of the constellation of Draco.

Our Belfast Correspondent states that the display of meteors was seen in Belfast and various districts of Northern Ireland last night, and aroused the keenest interest throughout the province.

Cologne, too, saw the display of shooting stars last night, which set the whole town talking (says Reuter's Correspondent). From a sky of exceptional clearness bursts of falling stars showed rocket-like and continuous to the east and west of the town. Cologne remembers nothing like it before.

The whole population of Portugal was in alarm last night over the spectacle of millions of shooting stars dropping out of the sky like a rain of bright lights, says Reuter's Lisbon correspondent.

LONDON LETTER.

CONVERSATIONS AT GENEVA.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

The Cabinet held a special meeting this afternoon, when the most important matters under review were the problems attendant on the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva, and in particular the demands of Germany for increased armaments. It is understood that private negotiations are taking place among the various delegates at Geneva, but, so far, all attempts to secure agreement on the reduction of armaments has resulted in a deadlock. The British negotiators oppose the demands of Germany for tanks, big guns and military aeroplanes, as all these are forbidden to Germany under the Peace Treaty.

Sweepstake Prizes.

The assertion this morning that the Home Office authorities intend to promote legislation which would enable them to confiscate sweepstake prizes when they enter this country is understood to be without foundation. The authorities, it is true, are about to make fresh efforts to enforce the existing law. Everything will be done to stop, as far as possible, the introduction into this country of books of tickets for sale, and a strict watch will be kept at the ports and through the Post Office. It is recalled that the Royal Commission on Lotteries and Betting considered the confiscation of prize money, and reached the conclusion that forfeiture would give rise to serious practical difficulties. This opinion was expressed after long and careful hearing of evidence, and new legislation without regard to the Commission's finding is regarded as unlikely.

Suggestions for Parliament.

Delegates to the conference of the National Chamber of Trade express confidence in the general commercial outlook, and believe that the unusual amount of sunshine this year has done much to stimulate the circulation of money. Seasonable weather always has been regarded as a helpful factor for trade, and this year there are no complaints that summer trade has been hindered by unseasonable conditions. Among the matters to be discussed by the present conference at Southend are a request to the Chancellor of the Exchequer to consider a reduction in income tax in the next Budget, a proposal that the date of Easter should be fixed, and the suggestion that all motor-car driving licences should expire at the end of the year or at some other fixed date.

An American Problem.

Although some little time ago the fall in commodity prices seemed to have been arrested, there can be no doubt that it has begun again since the middle of the year. It is understood that in the debt settlement discussions now begun at Washington the United States will raise the possibility of an improvement in the commodity markets as a result of an adjustment of War debts. The reason for this concern is clear, since a great part of the United States exports is in the form of agricultural products which have ceased to bring in even the cost of their production. If concessions of War debts are made at Washington, and the United States' foreign debtors are allowed to leave without an undertaking to make an effort to stimulate commodity prices, the United States will face a loss of national income both as a creditor and as an exporter. The position of the United States is shown by a rapid fall in prices since July.

The League Council.

One of the minor problems which disturb the peace of the League of Nations at Geneva is the decision to create a fifteenth seat on the Council in order to placate the large number of small States now without representation. Portugal first called attention to the point, and it was expected that the new seat would go to her, but a demand has come from Turkey, a comparatively new member of the League, that her claims shall be considered, and the Turkish Foreign Minister, Tewfik Rushdy Bey, has arrived in Geneva to urge them. It is said that Turkey relies upon the friendships she has made in South-Eastern Europe—and particularly among the members of the Little Entente—to secure election, and her chances are considered to be good. Portugal, after a struggle of two years, appears to have little chance.

Elections in Spain.

The new Spanish Cabinet is likely to remain in office for a longer period than most of its immediate predecessors if a dissolution of the Cortes is the price of its appointment. In such an event the elections will not take place until December, and the new Government will be able to carry on its work without fear of a vote of censure. It will have other and important difficulties to face, however, since the Socialists, while they protest that they will not oppose it until after the election and that they will abandon their intention to call a general strike, certainly will not render it any assistance. The general election in December will be one of great interest. Not improbably it will follow the lines of the municipal elections held some months ago, and will reveal a revival of royalist sentiment.

The Colorado Beetle.

The ban placed by the British Government upon early potatoes from France costs that country annually about one million sterling, and, as this loss is due to the fear that the Colorado bettle may be imported here, the news that a parish priest of a village near Rochefort-sur-Mer believes he has found a method of fighting the beetle will be welcomed. A petunia grew among the potatoes in the Abbé's garden, and he found that the insects left the potatoes and settled on the petunia. The matter is being investigated, and it is suggested that the insects could be exterminated within a short time if petunias were planted among the potato crops. Since the Colorado beetle made its appearance in France eleven years ago it has infested the potato-growing districts of Brittany which formerly supplied the British market with its early potatoes.

Fruit.

The Empire Marketing Board has issued what may be one of its last publications. It is entitled "Fruit," and it provides many interesting statistics. Of all commodities, it seems, fruit has suffered least from the depression, and, even in countries where statistics would seem to indicate that less fruit has been produced, there has been a move toward the production of more marketable varieties. The report shows that fruit is grown nowadays on scientific lines, and that there are fewer apple trees, but many more good apples. Grapes, however, have been neglected, and development in the production of this fruit for the table is less evident than it was. In all the world, England imports most apples with 327,000 tons; Germany is second with 191,000 tons, and France third with 23,000 tons. In the imports of oranges, too, England is well at the top with 431,000 tons. Germany again comes second with 245,000. This country heads the list also with lemons and dried grapes.

INDIANS REJECT JAPANESE TRADE PROPOSALS.

The Japanese industrialists at the Trade Conference in Simla yesterday tabled concrete proposals to Indian industrialists, but the latter declared them unacceptable.

BRITISH PEACEMAKER FOR ARMS CRISIS.

SIR JOHN SIMON TO RETURN POST-HASTE TO GENEVA.

SPECIAL CABINET MEETING DECIDES POLICY.

CONFERENCE TO SEIZE BULL BY THE HORNS.

THE British Cabinet, at a specially-convened meeting yesterday, which lasted for two hours, discussed the disarmament crisis, and fully instructed Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, who will return to Geneva immediately.

The Cabinet feels that the situation is extremely delicate, and has given Sir John Simon a large measure of discretion in the day-to-day negotiations within the policy laid down.

It is now known that Mr. Baldwin's declaration on the disarmament situation at Birmingham last Friday represented the mind of the Cabinet, and was made only after consultation with his leading colleagues.

The Bureau of the Disarmament Conference met in Geneva yesterday, and decided against any further postponement of the Conference, and the General Commission has been convened for Monday next, as originally arranged. The Bureau will meet again on Saturday, but on his arrival Sir John Simon will at once enter into conversations with the representatives of the other Powers to effect a compromise.

FAITH IN FRIENDLY TALKS.

The only member of the Cabinet absent from yesterday's meeting was Mr. Ormsby-Gore, First Commissioner of Works, who is attending League meetings at Geneva.

The Cabinet reviewed the whole disarmament situation, and adopted the course of giving the Foreign Secretary general guidance on the larger issues of the controversy, and leaving him a large measure of discretion in the day-to-day negotiations at Geneva.

The situation is extremely delicate the Cabinet feels, and the point has now been reached when a definite decision in Europe can no longer be evaded. The British Government will give no encouragement to tactical attempts to burke the issue.

While Ministers have no doubt in their minds, however, that the big issue must be frankly faced in the next few days, they do not consider that the possibilities of friendly negotiations have yet been exhausted. Their view of the general position is that it still remains fluid. They also feel that there still exists a great deal of goodwill

PERIOD OF PROBATION.

The crux of the difficulty is Germany's demand that she shall forthwith be allowed samples of those armaments which are forbidden her under the Treaty of Versailles. France objects to these "token" weapons, while the British Government is resolved to do everything it can to prevent a disarmament convention from being turned into a rearmament convention.

As British Ministers see it, the practical situation requires some kind of arrangement regarding a preliminary period in which there could be built up a belief in the good intentions of the nations and a gradual strengthening of the peace mind. Given such a period, Germany would then be in a quite different situation in proposing the practical operation of the principle of equality.

It is this question of the time-table in the progressive application of disarmament that is the great obstacle to be overcome if a convention is to be secured.

FAVOURABLE FEATURE.

Helpful suggestions have been made in the last few days. One of the best features of the situation, in the opinion of the Cabinet, is to be found in the good relations between France and Italy.

British Ministers feel that it is possible to secure a promise of substantial disarmament from the French if a satisfactory arrangement is made for a preliminary period without "token" weapons in Germany, but that it is not possible to get, or even expect, immediate disarmament by France in her present feeling of insecurity.

The question is whether such an arrangement can be obtained by general assent.

The impression created by the German communication to the Foreign Secretary the other day is that Germany is not ready to make the contribution which she could with safety make, and which in the ultimate interests of European peace it is absolutely necessary that she should make.

MR. HENDERSON'S APPEAL.

The decision of the Bureau of the Conference was reached after a powerful appeal by Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Chairman of the Conference, says Reuter's correspondent.

In this he strongly opposed any further postponement on the ground that it would arouse suspicions as to the Conference's sincerity. He believed that a convention might be secured dealing with many of the problems involved, and urged that conversations should be continued in the next few days in the hope of securing a settlement.

Mr. Henderson's report to the Bureau was relatively optimistic in tone. He considered that the conversations which he had had recently with statesmen in the various European capitals had had useful results, and had made it clear that on the majority of the outstanding points no serious difficulties stood in the way of agreement.

The negotiations had shown that there was a marked disposition in favour of securing a first-stage convention on the majority of the points enumerated by the General Commission. Agreement on these could, he thought, be reached without encountering any insuperable difficulty, but on some of the more important questions the approach was manifestly influenced by the present unsettled state of Europe and the ensuing distrust, fears and alarms.

Mr. Henderson then indicated the outstanding questions, which he divided into two categories. Agreement on the first category might be relatively easy, he considered; on the second category he was less confident of success.

OUTSTANDING QUESTIONS.

The first category included the following questions:—1, non-recourse to force on a universal basis; 2, definition of an aggressor; 3, control and supervision; 4, standardisation of European continental armies; 5, control of budgetary publicity; 6, bombing from the air; 7, early setting up of a permanent Disarmament Commission; 8, naval questions.

The second category comprised:—1, period of duration of the first stage convention; 2, the size of tanks and artillery; 3, reduction of land war material, either by destruction or otherwise; 4, manufacture of and trade in armaments; 5, military and naval aviation; 6, penalties against violation of the convention.

Mr. Henderson pointed out that two opinions prevailed as to the duration of the convention, some being in favour of five years, and others suggesting an eight years' convention divided into two periods of four years.

He suggested that the permanent Commission should be set up at an early date. It was unnecessary to await the ratification of the convention.

THE SNAGS.

On two points, he continued, his conversations had been found particularly difficult—namely, the system of penalties and the application of the principle of equality.

In the circumstances, it was essential that conversations should be actively pursued for another two or three days in the hope of finding a solution of certain divergences of opinion. There was no longer any need for technical discussions. What were required now were political decisions.

Mr. Henderson ended his speech on this note of appeal:—"The conclusion which I have reached is that everything must be done by a continuance of the private conversations and negotiations to remove the existing differences of opinion and to find a method of procedure which will enable us to do the remainder of our work with reasonable expedition and without increasing the risk of failure."

Mr. Eden, the British Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in a brief speech, accepted Mr. Henderson's suggestion that the British delegation should prepare a new text embodying the modifications of the Macdonald plan which had resulted from the negotiations.

"MORBID OPTIMISM."

The British Government, said Mr. Eden, were prepared to devote itself to this task in the next few days; for they felt that the essentials of the problem had now been reached.

Herr Nadolny, the German delegate, followed with a rather non-committal statement in which he stressed desirability of reaching a settlement.

Comment on Mr. Henderson's speech in the League lobbies was rather varied. A Polish view was that Mr. Henderson was "suffering from morbid optimism." With fourteen major questions still uncertain, it is felt that real progress cannot be made in advance of the General Commission's meeting next Monday.

DANGER FROM SOCIALISTS.

AUSTRIAN GENERAL STRIKE THREAT.

REPRISAL FOR ACTION AGAINST PARTY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Monday.

THE turmoil in Austria has been increased to-night by a dangerous conflict between the Dollfuss Government and the Socialists. Vienna is thick with rumours that a general strike is to be declared.

The trouble arose through the issuing of a Government decree dissolving the Arbeitar Saengerbund (the Socialist Democrat Singing League), under whose auspices a demonstration was held yesterday in the Stadium. The police allege that the League exceeded its competence by giving a demonstration of a political character.

A ban has, at the same time, been placed on the Arbeiter Zeitung. The ban will last for a month, during which period only sales by post will be allowed. For a long time the newspaper has had to submit its contents to the censor before publication.

It is believed that the drastic orders prohibiting the circulation of the Arbeiter Zeitung, except by post, were issued under the personal instructions of Major Fey, the Fascist leader. The Socialists, therefore, look upon the ban as a political act, and, according to an interview recently given to Reuter by Dr. Otto Bauer, such a general strike as is now rumoured would indicate a definite breach between the Dollfuss Government and the Socialists.

OPENING FOR NAZIS.

Dr. Bauer said: "The danger inherent in the present Dollfuss régime is that Austrians might feel that they have no more personal freedom under Dollfuss than under Hitler. For six months we have been enduring encroachments upon our political liberty and personal freedom which at any other time would have provoked violent resistance. We made these sacrifices because we knew that open strife between the Dollfuss Government and the Socialists would afford an opening to the Hitlerites. The recent decrees authorising arrest on suspicion without trial, and the simultaneous launching of a campaign to coerce the railway workers to renounce their unions have meant a new and dangerous turn to the whole situation."

It is understood that the authorities have taken all necessary precautionary measures to meet the situation if a general strike is called to-night.

The Socialist leaders were still in conference at midnight (Viennese time), and no decision regarding a general strike had then been taken. In view of the fact that the ban on the Arbeiter Zeitung is for only a month, it is not thought that they will adopt this extreme measure. Some Socialists hold the view that the general strike rumours were circulated merely with a view to justifying any subsequent Government measures against them.

THE SUBMARINE ACCIDENT.

CONDITION OF THE INJURED.

Campbeltown is lost in admiration for the heroism displayed by injured men on the L 26 who, taken aboard fishing vessels that were hastened to the submarine, remembered their comrades. One man, although in intense pain—for his back was broken—said to his rescuers: "Don't worry about me—there are others much more serious."

A fifteenth man was admitted to hospital late yesterday suffering from shock. He was E. M. Craigie, a stoker, whose address is given as Prospect row, Chatham. He was in the messroom when the explosion occurred, but did not report injuries.

Nine of the injured are badly hurt, and one—James Wiseman, of Falmouth—is stated to be in a critical condition. It was learned yesterday that patients recovering in the hospital were sent to their homes to make room for the injured.

To-day the two men who were killed in the explosion—Leonards Rhodes and Frederick Whiting—will be buried with naval honours in Kilkern Cemetery in graves that belong to the Admiralty. In the procession to the burial ground there will be the Sheriffs and Provost of the town, men of the L 26, and of the flagship Mackay, and a detachment of local Territorials.

Yesterday the L 26 was lashed by stout steel hawsers to the Mackay. In the night a gale sprang up necessitating extra steel ropes to keep her alongside the ship.

None of her crew was allowed to go below, as gas was thick in the messroom of the submarine. It is likely that some days will elapse before it is entirely dispersed.

Lieutenant-Commander J. H. Lewes, commander of the submarine, and Captain Esmond Phillips, D.S.O., of the Mackay, however, went below to carry out a preliminary inspection, which lasted over an hour. They donned gas masks, and issued orders to ratings to keep away from the messroom of the submarine. High officials of the Admiralty are expected shortly to carry out an inspection.

KING'S SYMPATHY.

The Admiralty announced that the King has sent through the Commander-in-Chief Home Fleet H.M.S. Nelson, a message of sympathy to the bereaved, the injured, and all concerned in the accident in submarine L 26.

GENERAL ELECTION IN SPAIN.

ENDING A DANGEROUS SITUATION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MADRID, Monday.

There is great rejoicing in Spain over the signature of the decree for the dissolution of the Cortes, as it brings to an end a state of affairs which was threatening to develop into civil war.

The Conservatives, although they are hoping to sweep the board at the general election, are now regretting that they did not accept the portfolio in the Cabinet which was offered to them and which they refused on account of the Left tendency of the new Cabinet.

The Socialists are enraged at the turn of events, and have published a statement by their Executive expressing the opinion that the action of the President in dissolving the Cortes was premature.

The new Premier is persona grata with most parties. The priest editor of a leading Church paper, in a statement to Reuter's correspondent, said that the Church Party were pleased with the new Cabinet, especially as Radicals predominated, and they were opposed to extreme measures.

SIX BURNT TO DEATH.

A mother and six children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a house at Pequot, Minnesota, yesterday. The children ranged in age from seven months to nine years.

DEMONSTRATION BANNED.

NO PROCESSION IN BELFAST.

DUBLIN MARCHERS' PLIGHT.

DETAINED AT NEWRY AND SENT BACK.

BELFAST, Monday.

THE Northern Ireland Minister of Home Affairs has issued a proclamation forbidding the holding of any procession or demonstration in Belfast on Wednesday next, the anniversary of last year's riots, in which two persons were killed. The Irish Unemployed Workers' Movement had proposed to hold a demonstration on that date, and it was to have been attended by bodies of unemployed men who were marching from Dublin and Derry.

A proclamation issued on Saturday last forbade the Dublin contingent to cross the border, on the ground that its presence would be likely to cause grave disorder. The proposed procession and demonstration in Belfast are prohibited on similar grounds.

The men marching to Belfast from Derry arrived at Antrim at 12.45 to-day, and, regardless of the proclamation, continued their progress towards Belfast. At Glengormly, about five miles from the city, however, their way was barred by a strong body of police.

The men were not permitted to march into the city, but were placed on tramcars, each six marchers being in charge of two constables.

On arriving in the city they reported to the headquarters of the Unemployed Workers' Association, and were distributed among different lodging-houses in the city.

It is understood that eight of the Free State party have succeeded in eluding the police and have reached the city, but their arrest is expected.

RETURN OF DUBLIN MARCHERS.

SEVERAL FAINT IN 'BUS.

About thirty of the men who marched from Dublin to Dundalk and on towards Northern Ireland returned to the city last night in a special 'bus provided by some people in Dundalk. They arrived in Dublin at about ten o'clock.

The party included eighteen men who had been detained at Newry by the Royal Ulster Constabulary and sent back across the border. They told an Irish Times reporter that no charge had been preferred against them in Northern Ireland, and they claimed that half a dozen of their colleagues had succeeded in getting through to Belfast.

Several of the men suffered so severely from exhaustion that they fainted on their way to Dublin in the 'bus.

HOW THEY CROSSED THE BORDER.

Our Newry Correspondent writes that the march of the Dublin unemployed to Northern Ireland was checked by a large force of the Royal Ulster Constabulary at Carrickarnon border station on Sunday night. After several unsuccessful attempts to cross in omnibuses returning from a football match the men withdrew towards Dundalk, and nothing was heard of them till daybreak.

Police Guards on all the frontier posts were maintained throughout the night and during yesterday. The marchers, however, would appear to have broken up into small parties, and by this means some of them got into Northern territory. Their evasion of the police was assisted by the darkness of the night and by storm and drenching rain.

Their success, however, was short-lived. Some twenty-two men in all were caught and detained at Canal Street Barracks, Newry. The largest party so detained was taken on the Newry-Warrenpoint road, near Narrowwater. They are said to have crossed Carlingford Lough from the Free State to that point in a ferry boat. These men, eight in number, had evidently trudged across the mountains to Omeath in darkness. Their state was pitiful. Their clothing was drenched with rain and their boots were ruined past repair.

Another group of four had penetrated to the heart of Newry town before the police detected and detained them. Parties of five, three and two found at other points were brought to the Canal Street Barracks. These latter groups appeared to have made their way across the fields along the border in the darkness.

Last evening all the captured men were conducted back to Free State territory, and the police still maintained a careful watch along the border.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE SOCIALIST WAY.

In a leading article The Times observes:—Has the Labour Party gained or lost by its conference of last week? The relation between the conference and the party is one of control. Decisions of the conference—the great and the small—fix party policy. The decisions are Labour's contribution to the controversies of the day. First in order of importance is the decision to lay hands on the banks. The great joint stock banks, as well as the Bank of England, are to be nationalised. Credit and investment are likewise to be subject to national control. National control means, of course, Socialist control—the control of the people who lead the Labour Party. They claim the right to manage national development and investment. As never before, the party is committed to the overturn of the present order by capturing control of the national finance and credit. This policy, once adopted, must have first place. It is proclaimed as essential to the achievement of Socialism, and to defer its realisation would be to postpone Socialism itself, and be tantamount to the denial of a primary principle. The decision is irrevocable, without the loss of much party credit, and yet to persist in it must alienate all who are unprepared to leap into the Socialist cataract.

Referring to the Conference resolution on war, which apparently commits the party to pacifism in every circumstance, The Times proceeds:—A pledge to take no part in war means that, so far as the Labour Party is concerned, this country could always be counted out as negligible if another nation should resort to force in breach of undertakings which we, with others, are solemnly bound to uphold.

In conclusion, The Times remarks that the larger decisions of the Conference reveal a party dominated by theorists with little understanding of the facts of industry and finance and international relations. In their present temper, and with their present designs, their election to office would clearly mean sheer catastrophe.

DAY AHEAD OF "RECORD."

KINGSFORD-SMITH'S PROGRESS.

MAKING HISTORY WHILE "HURRYING HOME."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ALOR STAR (F.M.S.), Monday.

AIR Commodore Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, who left Akyab (Burma) at dawn this morning, arrived here at 5.15 (local time) this afternoon. He intends to leave again at dawn to-morrow for Batavia or Sourabaya.

To-day's 1,100 miles flight from Akyab puts Sir Charles about a day ahead of the time taken by Mr. C. W. A. Scott in 1932, when he established the England-Australia "record" of 8 days, 20 hours and 47 mins.

Interviewed by Reuter's correspondent on his arrival here this afternoon, Sir Charles said that he was feeling vey fit.

When reminded that he was ahead of Mr. Scott's time, he declared that he was not out to beat the "record," but wished to return to Australia as soon as possible.

USEFUL MARGIN.

The times taken by Kingsford-Smith and Mr. Scott respectively are:—

Days.	Kingsford-Smith.		Scott.
1—	Brindisi ..	(1,100 m.)	Brindisi ..... (1,100 m.)
2—	Bagdad ..	(1,600 m.)	Aleppo ..... (1,100 m.)
3—	Guadar ..	(1,200 m.)	Basra ..... (750 m.)
4—	Karachi	(350 m.)	Karachi ..... (1,250 m.)
5—	Akyab ..	(1,700 m.)	Calcutta ..... (1,350 m.)
6—	Alor Star	(1,100 m.)	Rangoon ..... (640 m.)
7—			Singapore ... (1,000 m.)
8—			Sourabaya .. (1,000 m.)
9—			Port Darwin (1,380 m.)

Thus on his 6th day of flying, Sir Charles has covered 7,000 miles of his 12,000 miles flight to Sydney (N.S.W.), as against 5,530 covered by Mr. Scott in 1932.

LINER AS FLOATING AIRPORT.

TESTS OF GERMAN SOUTH ATLANTIC PLAN.

Four German aircraft, which are to carry out experimental flights in a scheme which has as its object the setting up of a weekly air mail and freight service from Berlin to Rio de Janeiro, will call at Southampton between to-morrow and October 24th on their way to Africa.

The experiments will involve the setting up of an air base in mid-Atlantic, for which purpose the North German Lloyd liner Westfalen will be used.

Mr. W. E. Schmidt-Rex, representing the Lufthanso Company, in an interview at Southampton yesterday, said: "If a regular service is operated it will be possible for mails and freight to be transported between Berlin and Rio de Janeiro, a distance of about 8,000 miles, in between four and a half and five days.

SOUTHAMPTON CALL.

"The four aircraft will carry out experimental flights from Bathurst, British Gambia, to Natal, Brazil, using the liner, Westfalen, as a floating aerodrome in the South Atlantic.

"The Westfalen is already on her way to her mid-ocean station. The experiment to be tried is for one flying boat to fly from Bathurst to the Westfalen, and another flying boat will be catapulted from this dépôt ship to complete the flight to South America.

"The total trans-ocean trip will be about 1,800 miles. The four machines to carry out the experiment will arrive at Southampton from the Baltic, and after leaving Southampton will probably fly non-stop to Corunna. If the service is established it will be operated from Berlin to Cadiz by land plane, from Cadiz to Bathurst by seaplane, from Bathurst to Natal by flying boats, and from Natal to Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, and Buenos Aires by other aircraft."

REVOLVER FOUND.

HUNT FOR MURDERERS OF BELFAST POLICEMAN.

BELFAST, Monday.

Belfast police to-day carried out an exhaustive search for the three men who took part in the shooting of Constable Charles Anderson, of Cullingtree road, Belfast, on Sunday night. A Webley revolver, with two cartridges discharged but otherwise fully loaded, was found by the police close to the railings in Dunville Park this morning. It is stated that the weapon had been recently discharged, the barrel bearing traces of fouling.

The shooting apparently was organised, as a woman, who resides in the neighbourhood of Servia street, stated that the three gunmen who committed the shooting were followed by two other parties of three or four young men, who were evidently acting as scouts and covering the retreat of the murderers.

DRIVEN FROM HOME BY ARMED MEN.

ORDEAL OF FREE STATE EX-SOLDIERS.

Four ex-members of the Free State Army arrived in Listowel, County Kerry, early yesterday, having walked during the night in a downpour of rain over eighteen miles from Tralee, following a raid on their homes by armed men.

The raiders ordered the four men to leave the town immediately, threatening them that, if they failed to do so, they would be "plugged." Fearing that they might be met on the lonely road by other armed men, they took a cross-country route to Listowel.

Later in the day the ex-soldiers were approached in Listowel and ordered to leave the town immediately, and, after making some hurried arrangements as to their mode of conveyance, the men left for an unknown destination.

Three of the men are married and have families, and one of them at least has left regular employment.

SUGAR RESTRICTION PLAN SCRAPPED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

It is authoritatively stated that the sugar agreement recently drawn up has been scrapped owing to the fact that Cuba has not given its approval, and to the difficulty that would be experienced in putting the pact into operation.

The plan to curtail domestic production is not affected.

The agreement provided for the establishment of a sugar reserve corporation to absorb or hold off the market temporarily any excess of sugar due to the raising of the quota, and a stabilisation board to execute agreements.

It further proposed that President Roosevelt, or his nominee, should be empowered to raise or lower Cuba's tentative sugar quota, and that the amount of raw sugar which producers might supply to the domestic market should be limited to around 7,000,000 tons annually.

APPEAL TO COME BEFORE PRIVY COUNCIL.

DONEGAL FISHERY RIGHTS DISPUTE.

SEQUEL TO DECISION OF FREE STATE SUPREME COURT.

JUDGMENT OF HOUSE OF LORDS CITED.

A PETITION for special leave to appeal from a judgment, dated July 31st, 1933, of the Supreme Court of the Irish Free State, came yesterday before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, composed of Lord Atkin, Lord Tomlin and Lord Thankerton.

Special leave to appeal was granted.

The petition related to the fishery rights in the estuary of the River Erne, in Donegal.

Petitioners brought an action for trespass against the fishermen, and succeeded, before Mr. Justice Johnston. The Supreme Court of the Irish Free State, by a majority, reversed that decision.

The bill to cancel the right of appeal to the Privy Council received its second reading in the Dail last Wednesday.

STAY OF EXECUTION REFUSED.

The petitioners were Robert Lyon Moore, Mary Elizabeth Henrietta Moore, William Maxwell Scott Moore, Sir Emerson G. Herdman, F. MacRory, William L. Stanton, Edward Stanton Ritter, Noel Tulleyne Ritter, Violet Patience Halford Moore, and Anthony Brutus Babington.

The respondents were the Attorney-General of the Free State, William Goan and forty others.

Mr. A. K. Overend, K.C. (for petitioners) said that they brought an action against respondents for trespassing upon a several fishery in the tidal portion of the River Erne, from the Falls of Assaroe to the high sea or bar of Ballyshannon, in the County of Donegal. Petitioners and their predecessors held the fishery under two Crown grants—the first made in 1622 and the second in 1639. Petitioners and their predecessors in title had been in possession of the fishery for over three centuries and their possession had been undisturbed and unchallenged. The fishery was conveyed to petitioners' predecessors under the authority of the Landed Estates Court (Ireland) Act, 1858, in consideration of the sum of £45,250, and the value of the fishery was now put at £72,000. A Crown rent of £28 13s. 8½d. was paid from the year 1639 to the year 1897, when it was redeemed by payment of £719 13s. 0d. to the Commissioners of Woods and Forests.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

In 1925 the defendants and other people trespassed upon the fishery with boats and nets, claiming to do so in the exercise of an alleged public right to fish in tidal water. Proceedings were taken in Petty Sessions, but the Justices declined jurisdiction on the ground that there was a question of title involved. The Divisional Court granted a mandamus, but the Supreme Court refused the mandamus. An action was brought by petitioners against the Attorney-General of the Free State, as representing the public and the State, and against the special defendants.

Replying to Lord Atkin, Mr. Overend said that the mandamus was an order to hear and determine the issue. The Divisional Court took the view that no question of title arose, but the Supreme Court, by a majority, took the view that a question of title could arise.

THE MAIN DEFENCE.

The main defence relied on was that the Crown grants were null and void, notwithstanding the 300 years of undisputed possession. Defendants' contentions were that petitioners' title was modern in origin; that it was historically impossible that the waters could have been in defence in the time of King Henry the Second, inasmuch as English law did not extend to Donegal, and that the ancient Brehon Law had not been superseded.

Under Brehon Law, defendants said that no such thing as a several fishery in private hands could legally exist, and that any grant made by the Crown of a several fishery in these waters was contrary to the provisions of Magna Charta. Therefore, the Crown could not lawfully grant the fishery right in 1622 or 1629.

PETITIONERS' CASE.

Petitioners' contention, on the other hand, was that the undisputed and undisturbed possession for 300 years gave rise to a presumption of lawful origin, and that there was no valid or sufficient evidence to rebut such presumption, or to show what law was in force in Donegal in or immediately prior to 1189.

Petitioners also relied on a judgment of the House of Lords, in which it was pointed out that proof of what took place at such an early time in the history of the country was quite impossible, and that when there was long possession, consistent with the title, the presumption was that the title was lawful and valid.

The defendants' suggestion was described by Justice Johnston at the trial as an interesting speculation as to what the law was. Defendants appealed to the Supreme Court against the decision of Justice Johnston.

MAJORITY DECISION.

The Supreme Court reversed the order of Justice Johnston by a majority and dismissed the action with costs, to be paid by petitioners to the special defendants. Judge FitzGibbon, who dissented, held that the Letters Patent operated to confer an indefeasible title to the several fishery upon the petitioners' predecessors in title valid against the Crown and the public, apart from any question of law in force in Donegal in 1189, or the presumption to be drawn from long-continued possession.

Counsel added that the Courts in Northern Ireland had granted an injunction to restrain trespass by Donegal fishermen in the River Foyle.

NOT REPRESENTED.

Replying to Lord Atkin, Mr. Overend said that neither the Attorney-General of the Free State nor the special respondents were represented before their lordships.

Special leave to appeal was granted.

Mr. Overend made a further application for a stay of execution, saying that the Supreme Court's order dismissing petitioners' action, with costs, would be enforced probably before the appeal came before their lordships.

Lord Atkin said that it was unusual for the committee to grant a stay of execution in such a case, and the application would be refused.

IMPORTANT ISSUES INVOLVED.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

PUBLIC interest has been greatly aroused by the latest development in connection with the Erne fishery dispute. The issues involved are of the highest importance, both legal and constitutional, apart from the purely material interests, which are very substantial. Yesterday the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council decided to grant special leave for the hearing of the appeal from the judgment of the Free State's Supreme Court. At the same time the Free State Government is promoting a bill to cancel the right of appeal to the Privy Council.

There is, of course, as the Constitution stands at present, no question as to the right of the fishery proprietors to appeal against the decision of the Free State Supreme Court. It is implicit in Article 66 of the Constitution.

ARTICLE 66.

That Article definitely provides that:

"Nothing shall impair the right of any person to petition His Majesty in Council, or the right of His Majesty to grant such leave."

The bill which is before the Dail proposes to remove the proviso from Article 66. That bill received its second reading last Wednesday; it will come up on Committee stage probably to-morrow, and there is hardly any doubt that it will be passed. In Committee stage it may even be amended so as to operate retrospectively.

It is recalled that in at least two previous cases, when the late Government was in power, steps were taken by legislative means to prevent Privy Council decisions from operating.

The present Government apparently is determined to achieve a similar result.

MR. DE VALERA'S VIEW.

President de Valera, when moving the second reading of his bill last week in the Dail, referred to the fact that the policy of his predecessors in office was not different from his own, adding that "the reason for the introduction of the bill is that the Privy Council itself has on more than one occasion asserted that the particular prerogative in question could not be voided except by express words in a statute. That is the reason why the following provision is inserted:—

"'And no appeal shall lie from a decision of the Supreme Court or of any other Court in the Irish Free State (Saorstat Eireann) to His Majesty in Council, and it shall not be lawful for any person to petition His Majesty for leave to bring any such appeal.'"

In the Dail there was no protest from the Opposition, and it could hardly be expected that there would be, in view of their previous attitude to the general question of appeals to the Privy Council.

When the case comes for hearing before the Privy Council it is probable that the Government will not be represented. In taking up that attitude they would also follow the precedent of their predecessors.

CONCERN.

The situation which has now arisen, and its possible developments, will be watched with the keenest concern.

The dispute regarding the right of fishing in the estuary of the River Erne has been before the Free State Courts for several years. The right enjoyed by the Moore family and their predecessors for hundreds of years was disputed by the local fishermen, and the case was heard by the High Court, and afterwards by the Supreme Court. The latter by a majority, after a delay of over two years, held that the title was not good. It is from this decision that the proprietors have now been given leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

EXTRADITION OF FACTOR.

U.S. SUPREME COURT RE-HEARS APPLICATION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

The Supreme Court of the United States heard the British application for the extradition of Jacob Factor re-argued to-day.

Factor is wanted in Britain to face certain charges of alleged "share-pushing" frauds.

Mr. William D. Mitchell, former United States Attorney-General, who appeared for the British Government, suggested a liberal interpretation of the extradition treaty between Britain and the United States. He asserted that the treaty should be construed so as to cover all forms of criminality.

Mr. Newton Baker, a former Secretary of War, counsel for Factor, insisted on a strict interpretation. He contended that Factor could only be extradited if his offence was also an offence according to Illinois State law.

The Court's opinion may be given on any Monday—which is "decision day"—but it is not likely before November 6th.

The local agents of the liner City of Paris, which is undergoing repairs at Swansea, having had a mishap while on a voyage from Liverpool, are hopeful of the vessel being able to leave Swansea to-morrow.

ALLEGED ROBBERY OF FILM.

MEN FOR TRIAL BY THE MILITARY TRIBUNAL.

An order has been made by the Military Tribunal transferring to it the trial of:

William Walsh, High street, Galway;
Patrick Walsh, High street, Galway;
John Hernon, St. Dominic terrace, Galway;
Patrick Golding, St. Dominic terrace, Galway;
James Carden, Riverside House, Galway; and Timothy Murray, Derrydonnel, Oranmore, who are charged with the robbery under arms of the film, "Gallipoli," at Gort on 18th September, 1933.

MINISTER RETURNS FROM GENEVA.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, Free State Minister for Local Government, returned to Dublin yesterday morning from Geneva. He was busy in his department during the day. It is understood that he will move the second reading of the Town Planning Bill in the Dail to-morrow.

"ENGLAND HOME-SICK FOR ROME."

THE POPE'S ADDRESS TO PILGRIMS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VATICAN CITY, Monday.

The Pope to-day received in audience four hundred and fifty members of the National Pilgrimage which was organised by the Catholic Association of London.

The pilgrimage was headed by the Bishops of Southwark, Leeds, Menevia, Clifton, and the Coadjutor Bishop of Shrewsbury, and included thirty priests.

Addressing the assembled pilgrims, the Pope said that there had never been such a stream of pilgrims from his "dear England" in any previous year. This was the thirty-sixth pilgrimage that he had received since the beginning of the Holy Year in April, and "it seems," he commented, "as if England is really home-sick for Rome."

COMING LOCAL ELECTIONS.

FIGHT ON PARTY BASIS.

INTENSIVE FIANNA FAIL CAMPAIGN.

PREPARATIONS on a scale unprecedented in the history of Free State local elections are being made for the coming elections, which will be held on November 14th.

The elections of members of the Dublin and Cork Borough Councils took place last June, but elections to other local authorities, which would otherwise have taken place on that date, were postponed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, under the Local Elections and Meetings (Postponement) Act, 1931. An Order which has now been issued by the Minister fixes the date for the postponed elections, and declares that all of the elections, whether triennial or not, shall, except in the case of the urban district of Howth, be deemed under the Order to be triennial elections.

For the first time since the Free State was established, all the elections will be fought on a party basis, and both of the principal parties are making a determined effort to capture the local administrative machine. Fianna Fail will base their appeal on a claim for a united front throughout the country to help the Government in its prosecution of the economic "war," while the main plank in the United Ireland programme will be the necessity for relief from State sources for the agricultural community in its present depressed condition.

"We will formulate a demand on these lines through the new Councils," said Mr. Richard Mulcahy, T.D., who is in charge of the United Ireland local elections organisation, to an Irish Times representative yesterday, "and the demand will be backed by a statement of the economic situation in each area which makes that action necessary.

"All forms of Irish thought, we believe, are against the policy of the Government," he added, "and so far as Irish representatives are following the Government's lead it is because of party commitments. The local elections will show that the country is against the policy which the Government is pursuing at the present time."

Members of the Executive Council will take part in an intensive speaking campaign throughout the country on behalf of the Fianna Fail Party; for the Government realise that the capture of the local authorities by the Opposition will pave the way towards defeat at the next general election. Although there will be no special campaign on those lines by the United Ireland Party, the ground will be covered by the campaign which the four leaders are already conducting to explain the merger to the country.

At the same time, United Ireland organisation has reached a high pitch. Electoral district committees, analogous to the local committees referred to by General O'Duffy in the constitution of the organisation, are in being to conduct the elections in all districts, and conventions have been held in many areas.

KILKENNY CANDIDATES.

The following is a list of candidates selected by United Ireland to contest the County Council elections in Co. Kilkenny:—

Ballyragget Area—Messrs. Frank Purcell, Balief, Johnstown; Loughlin Harte, Castletown, do.; Edward Hogan, Gaulstown, Ballyfoyle; Paul Murphy, Ballyconra, Ballyragget; James Carroll, Lisnafunchion, Castlecomer; Thomas Moore, Loon, Castlecomer. A resolution was passed unanimously condemning the dastardly assault committed on the President of United Ireland (General O'Duffy) at Tralee.

Piltown Area—Messrs. David Burke, Kilkenny, Carrick-on-Suir; Patrick Galavan, The Rower; Michael Rockett, Slieverue; Nicholas Forristal, Graigue-na-Kill, Glenmore; Peter Brennan, Ashgrove, Mooncoin; George Dooley, Co.C., Rosbercon; Michael Dunphy, Tubbrid, Mooncoin; John O'Neill, Co.C., Ullid, Kilmacow; James Walsh, Co.C., Templeorum.

GENERAL O'DUFFY IN ROSCOMMON.

MR. MACDERMOT, T.D., AND THE RATES.

ROSCOMMON, Monday.

General O'Duffy, accompanied by Mr. Frank MacDermot, T.D., Mr. Michael Brennan, T.D., Roscommon, and ex-Commandant Cronin, held a convention of the United Ireland organisation in the Harrison Hall, Roscommon, to-day. A large number of Civic Guards, under Superintendent Twoomey, were stationed in the vicinity of the hall and inside.

A man, who said he was a rate collector, told the meeting that the places where he found it hardest to collect rates were the strongholds of the Ratepayers' League. Mr. MacDermot said that over and over again he advised the people who were able to pay their rates to pay them.

Mr. Brennan said that this rate collector's lodgment was higher this year than at the same period last year.

General O'Duffy spoke about the attack on him in Tralee, and said if a Guard had come to his assistance that Guard would be either dismissed or mobbed by the crowd. Mr. MacDermot said that he loathed war, but he was not ashamed to acknowledge that he spent four and a half years in the British Army, which he joined on the advice of a great Irish leader, John Redmond.

A ONE-MAN PARTY.

GUARDS ASSAULTED AT EDGEWORTHSTOWN.

GRANARD, Monday.

"I have no statement to make, and anything I have to say will be outside," said John Muldoon at Edgeworthstown District Court to-day, when sentenced to two months' imprisonment for assaulting Sergeant Jones.

The Justice said the imprisonment would be without hard labour, and he directed that the prisoner should be kept under medical observation during his detention.

Sergeant Jones swore that a political meeting had been held in Edgeworthstown, and when it was over Muldoon held one of his own, but his remarks were mostly without meaning. He said doctors' shops were the curse of the country. When asked to move the defendant assaulted him, and also assaulted Guard Walsh. He became very violent in the barracks, and they had to remove his boots. When they went to arrest Muldoon the previous day he was armed with a knife.

Mr. Kenny—Have you any question to ask the witness?

Defendant—I will tell you from the platform outside.

Mr. Kenny—Not for some time.

UNITED IRELAND PARTY.

The following branches of United Ireland have recently been formed and affiliated:—

Granard, County Longford—Chairman, George Dowdall; vice-chairman, Joseph Brody; treasurer, James F. Egan; secretary, Edward Boylan.

Ferns, County Wexford—Chairman, Patrick Bernie; treasurer, D. V. Bolger; secretary, D. V. Bolger.

Graigue-na-managh — Chairman, John O'Leary; vice-chairman, Patrick Hayden; treasurers, John Bolger, James Doyle; secretaries, James J. Gahan, James Dalton.

Bansha—Chairman, James Byrne; vice-chairman, John H. Grogan; treasurer, Matthew Kennedy; secretary, James Hickey.

Borris, County Carlow—Chairman, Major A. McM. Kavanagh; vice-chairman, Dr. E. Dundon; treasurer, D. Moloney; secretary, T. Dalton.

Juliafftown—Chairman, P. C. Markey; vice-chairman, Frederick Hoey; treasurers, John Dowling, John Tierney; secretary, John Tierney.

Letterkenny—Chairman, Dr. McGinley; vice-chairman, William Boyce, P.C.; treasurer, Eugene Mahony; secretary, N. J. Brown.

Shillelagh—Chairman, Wallace Hammond; vice-chairman, James Deegan; treasurer, R. Tyner; secretary, James Griffin.

SWEEPSTAKES FOR HOSPITALS.

DUKE OF ATHOLL AND HIS CRITICS.

THE Duke of Atholl yesterday replied to criticism by Mr. Phillip Inman, House Governor of Charing Cross Hospital, who has made a protest against "the insane method of supporting our hospitals by the sweepstake madness."

The Duke said that he had communications from many other hospital authorities expressing a directly contrary opinion.

"Personally," he added, "nothing would please me more than to see our hospitals and similar institutions supported entirely by voluntary gifts if such support were adequate. But when this is not the case, I would rather have a sweepstake upon my conscience than the knowledge that sick people remained unprovided for, even if it were a temporary measure, pending settlement as to how the voluntary hospitals were to be maintained.

"What is the actual state of affairs to-day? Our charitable institutions are everywhere crippled for funds, while similar institutions in other countries are satiated financially with money collected largely from this country. Further, Mr. de Valera, through the same means, accumulates money to carry on his disloyal policy. Surely, there is no honest British citizen who would not vote for action to alter this rotten state of affairs?

"In my opinion, there are two ways of tackling the problem. An attempt can be made to stop the stream of money going abroad by damming it with penal legislation, as is reported the authorities contemplate doing. The other way is to divert the stream to the benefit of one's own country.

"There are some who think that the problem should be dealt with by the Government accepting responsibility for the upkeep of the hospitals, but at the present time it is obvious that the Government could not add to their existing burdens by accepting this liability, and certainly the ratepayers will not welcome an increase of the rates as an alternative. The whole question is one of extreme difficulty, but, speaking for myself, I am not prepared to stand by and be content while others are talking about principles; for principles alone are but a poor cure or palliative for the sufferings of the sick and needy."

The Duke added that he had no wish to give his money to hospitals that did not want it. He had little enough to give to those that did want it.

CARDIFF COUNTY COURT CASE.

When G. P. Chester, giving his address as Queen street, Cardiff, appeared at Cardiff County Court yesterday to answer a judgment summons he stated that until last Saturday he was the principal shareholder and director of Adlon, Limited, the organisers for Wales of the Duke of Atholl's Fund.

The plaintiffs were the Splott (Cardiff) Cinema Company, Limited, whose claim was for £44 for advertising material supplied to Chester.

Replying to Mr. H. G. W. Saul (for the plaintiffs), Chester declared that the gross receipts taken by Adlon, Limited, for the Duke of Atholl's Fund was about £4,300. His company received 7s. 6d. for every £5. "But," he added, "I am unable to give a definite figure."

Judge L. C. Thomas adjourned the proceedings sine die to enable further information to be obtained from the Duke of Atholl's Fund headquarters.

BRITISH BOXER'S WIN.

McCORKINDALE'S FIRST FIGHT IN U.S.A.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Don McCorkindale, the British heavyweight, made his American début in a ten rounds contest at Madison Square Garden to-night with the young Italian-American, Patsy Perroni.

Just before the fight began a cowboy entered the ring and sounded the Last Post in honour of Young Stribling, while the crowd stood bareheaded.

After some nervousness in the opening round McCorkindale rapidly gained confidence, and began to force the pace in the fourth round, during which a low blow from Perroni caused the crowd to voice its disapproval. McCorkindale continued to have the better of the exchanges until the end, and won on points.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYED.

DROP OF 74,000 IN NUMBERS OUT OF WORK.

There was a drop of 74,000 in the number of unemployed persons on the registers of the Employment Exchanges in Great Britain at September 25 compared with August, 1933. There were 521,284 fewer than a year before.

The numbers on the registers in Great Britain at September 25, 1933, were 1,857,064 wholly unemployed, 393,517 temporarily stopped, and 86,146 normally in casual employment, making a total of 2,336,727.

On September 25 there were about 9,943,000 insured persons aged 16 to 64 in employment in Great Britain. This was 86,000 more than a month before and 792,000 more than a year before, or about 660,000 more than a year before when allowance is made for the persons then directly involved in the trade dispute in the cotton trade.

NORTHERN UNEMPLOYMENT.

The unemployment figures for Northern Ireland show that on the 25th September there were approximately 1,550 more persons employed than on 21st August, while the number of unemployed had fallen by 934. The following are the figures: — 25th September, 1933, 61,991 unemployed; 21st August, 1933, 62,925 unemployed.

Amongst those unemployed on the 25th September there were 7,106 persons who were temporarily stopped or who follow casual employment, and approximately 15,300 who have registered as unemployed for less than three months.

During the month improved employment is recorded in the shipbuilding, linen, building, tailoring, and dress trade groups.

TIPPERARY STONE-THROWERS.

MAN LOSES AN EYE.

At Thurles Court, when three young boys were charged with throwing stones at motor cars, evidence was given that a stone was thrown at a party in a lorry who were driving to the Limerick-Cork hurling match at Thurles. One of the men in the lorry, Jeremiah Condon, Killaloe, was struck in the eye, and had to be conveyed to a Dublin hospital that night, when an operation was performed and his eye removed. The Justice said that he was deeply sorry for Condon. He convicted one of the boys, Matthew Stakelum, Ballycahill, fined him £5, and bound him to the peace for two years.

NATIONAL PURCHASING POWER.

Sir Harold Bowden, addressing the Nottingham Publicity Club yesterday, said that many believed our currency policy had been far too timid and conservative. Mr. Montagu Norman, who was really the Government's financial dictator in currency matters, had frequently expressed the view that the chief concern of the City and the Bank of England was international purchasing power. He said it again last week in one of his characteristically gloomy speeches at the Bankers' Banquet.

In his (Sir Harold's) view national purchasing power was at least as important as international. The outlook of the Treasury and its advisers was distorted by always keeping their eyes glued on the franc and the dollar.

RISING PRICES IN U.S.A.

PROBLEM OF THE SALES DRIVE.

STRIKING MINERS RETURNING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

THE United States great trade recovery campaign is now in full swing, with its slogan "Now is the Time to Buy," which is featured especially in striking newspaper advertisements.

The paramount question of whether the consumers will be able to afford the higher prices remains unanswered, but General Johnson, the leader of the recovery drive, has warned people that pay-rolls cannot be maintained and that new jobs cannot be created unless every consumer does his part.

In this connection, the Alexander Hamilton Institute, commenting on the disparity between declining production and pay-rolls, believes that pay-rolls will be curtailed, thus lowering the purchasing power of the workers, and will result eventually in less employment.

Commodity prices at the end of August were still 30.5 per cent. below the level of 1926, which is the goal at which the Administration is aiming.

COSTLY STRIKE ENDING.

Thousands of Pennsylvania miners returned to work to-day, apparently heeding President Roosevelt's request. At noon officials of the United Mineworkers of America estimated that half the 75,000 strikers had returned to the pits.

The owners maintain a stolid silence, as they feel that they have met the miners' demands.

Communists are active among the strikers, but no disorders are reported.

Meanwhile the nation awaits the outcome of the tug-o'-war between the candid Mr. Roosevelt and the chastised iron masters, who are traditionally as unbending as the metal they forge.

The consensus of opinion is that the President "gave 'em the works"—that is, put on the thumb-screw—in a cultured way, and that they will acquiesce.

The New York Times estimates that the strike has so far cost twenty million dollars (£4,000,000).

HOUSES BOMBED.

The Governor of Indiana, in a proclamation issued to-day, has placed the whole of Sullivan County under military control as from to-night. Actual martial law has not yet been proclaimed.

The Governor's order forbids assembly and the carrying of arms. It was necessitated by disorders arising out of the miners' strike, which involved the calling out of National Guard troops early this morning to maintain order.

There was threats of a serious collision between the miners who continue at work and union sympathisers, while during the night the houses of several miners were bombed.

The storm centre of the trouble is the Starburn Mine, where work is proceeding on a co-operative plan, which is condemned by the Unions.

TEMPLEMORE FINANCES.

COUNCIL CHAIRMAN'S EVIDENCE AT INQUIRY.

At a supplementary inquiry into the administration of the affairs of Templemore (County Tipperary) Urban Council, held by Mr. J. Geraghty, Local Government Inspector, Mr. Richard Meagher, Chairman of the Council, stated that he was not aware until he saw it in the Press that the Council were £1,222 in arrears to the County Council, or that the finances of the Urban Council were in an unsatisfactory condition until the auditor's report was published. He was not aware either that cottage rents were in arrears.

Replying to Mr. Carrigan, solicitor, who appeared for a number of ratepayers) witness said that the rent collector was the former town clerk, who was himself in arrears of rent. He admitted that whilst Chairman of the Council he had supplied three anthracite stores for the Town Hall for £17. The paying order was made to himself, not to a man named Grant.

Asked by Mr. Carrigan for the production of his account book witness said that it was private property.

The Rev. G. McKinley, rector, made a plea for de-urbanisation, which, he said, would mean a big saving to the ratepayers.

A number of ratepayers supported the request.

OBITUARY.

LADY ALBREDA MARY BOURKE.

We regret to record the death of Lady Albreda Mary Bourke, which occurred yesterday at her residence, Roseborough, Naas, Co. Kildare.

Lady Albreda Bourke, who had reached the age of seventy-eight years, was a daughter of the late William Thomas Spencer, K.G., 6th Earl Fitzwilliam, who was an aide-de-camp to Queen Victoria, and from 1847-57 a member of Parliament for Wicklow. She married in 1895 a son of a former Earl of Mayo, the Hon. Charles Fowler Bourke, C.B., whose death took place in 1899.

She was an aunt of the present Earl Fitzwilliam. A strong supporter of the Conservative Party, she had for some years been deeply interested in various charitable institutions.

SIR ALBERT FLYNN.

The Times announces the death at his home at Streatham Hill, London, at the age of 70, of Sir Albert Flynn.

He was an experienced civil servant, having served as assistant and acting financial adviser to Lord Kitchener during the South African War, and was also a writer of fiction under the pen name of Owen Oliver. He was born at Sheerness.

SIR S. J. O'BRYEN HOARE.

The Times also reports that Sir Sydney James O'Bryen Hoare, Bart., died at his home at Ealing on Sunday at the age of 73. He succeeded his father, the fifth Baronet of Annabella, Co. Cork, in 1904, and was twice married.

DR. CHARLES RAMSDEN SALISBURY.

The death is announced of Dr. Charles Ramsden Salisbury, M.R.C.S. (England), L.R.C.P., at Richmond, Castlepark, Sandycove. Dr. Salisbury was a native of Leicester, and was aged 67. He qualified in 1888, and spent the greater part of his life in England. During the Great War he was in charge of a military hospital at Rochester. Afterwards he came to Ireland and practised for two years in Queenstown before retiring from active practice to reside at Sandycove.

MISS KATHLYN HILLIARD.

News of the death of Miss Kathlyn Hilliard, the accomplished singer, at the early age of 37, has been received in Dublin with regret. Allied to unusual talent, Miss Hilliard had a personal charm that won the hearts of audiences. She had made several appearances in Dublin during the last few years. Particularly outstanding was her performance in "La Vie Parisienne." In this she had the lead, with Arthur Lucas, the Dublin tenor, playing opposite. She also sang and acted with distinction in "Bitter Sweet." Miss Hilliard, who was born in Glasgow, was for three years principal soprano in the British National Opera Company, and appeared at Covent Garden during the 1927 season. She was the wife of the well-known tenor, Mr. George Baker.

TURMOIL IN NEGRO REPUBLIC.

DALLIANCE OVER AID OFFERED BY LEAGUE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Monday.

The West African negro republic of Liberia is once more in difficulties.

At the League Council Committee meeting on Liberia to-day, under the chairmanship of Lord Cecil, it was stated by Dr. Mackenzie, the League Commissioner, that fighting had broken out among the native tribes after the expiry of the recent armistice, and that, according to the latest messages received, thirty persons had been killed.

Lord Cecil urged Mr. Grimes, the Liberian representative, to make up his mind quickly whether he would accept or reject the League's plan of assistance, whereupon Mr. Grimes replied that he intended to prepare certain amendments for submission to the League.

Great Britain and America sent a joint Note some time ago to the Liberian Government stating that they would recognise it and resume diplomatic relations when Liberia accepted the plan for her assistance now before the League and granted amnesties to all political prisoners.

CHICAGO GANGSTER MURDERED.

SUSPICION THAT HE "KNEW TOO MUCH."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHICAGO, Monday.

Gus Winkler, a reputed gangland "killer," was shot dead here to-day. Winkler was found on the pavement near a wholesale beer house. He died shortly after admittance to hospital from shotgun wounds in the back.

A witness of the murder said that two men drove up in an old green lorry and opened fire on the helpless Winkler, who fell like a log.

At the hospital he refused to admit his identity, but a police sergeant identified him. He was wanted for questioning in connection with a registered mail robbery on December 6th last in Chicago, in connection with which a score of arrests were made on Saturday.

Winkler was an associate of the notorious "killer," Burk, and he kept palatial apartments on Lake Shore Drive. Winkler and his wife were arrested recently on suspicion of being involved in a kidnapping case, but were released, as there was no evidence.

AMERICAN DEBT NEGOTIATIONS.

OPENING CONFERENCE TO-DAY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

The first formal meeting of the representatives of Great Britain and the United States on debts is scheduled to take place to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock.

The British Ambassador (Sir Ronald Lindsay), Sir Frederick Leith-Ross (Chief Economic Adviser to the British Government), and Mr. T. K. Bewley (Financial Adviser to the British Government), will meet Mr. Acheson (Under-Secretary of the Treasury) and Mr. Livesey (Assistant Economic Adviser in the State Department).

The attitude of the United States officials is described as that of "sympathetic listeners," leaving the burden of the success of the negotiations on the British.

COLORADO BEETLE DEFEATED.

HOPE FOR FRENCH POTATO EXPORTERS.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

A discovery giving some hope of providing an effective means of combating the Colorado beetle, which has brought the French potato trade with Great Britain almost to a stand-still, has been made by the Abbé Calles, curé of a village near Rochefort-sur-Mer.

In one part of his garden the Abbé allowed some self-sown petunias to grow among his potatoes. When the Colorado beetle appeared in the district he was surprised to find that the potatoes were left untouched for the petunias.

More important still, he found that after feeding on the petunias the beetle died, and in a short time the plot was free of the pests.

An official of the Department of Pestology at the Ministry of Agriculture stated to-day that there was no a priori reason for scepticism about the discovery, since the petunia and the potato were of the same family, and added that the Department would carry out the most rigorous independent investigation of the phenomenon.

MILLIONS PAID BACK.

GOLD MINE ISSUE TEN TIMES OVER-SUBSCRIBED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

JOHANNESBURG, Monday.

There were surprising scenes at the Johannesburg Post Office to-day, when £2,825,000 was refunded to the public for over-subscribed applications for shares in the £200,000 issue recently announced by the Rand Leases Gold Mining Company.

Applications totalling approximately £2,500,000 were received in a week.

No less than 35,838 registered letters containing allotments and cheques were handed over the counter to nine queues of people, who had to be shepherded by postmen in uniform.

TRALEE HOUSES BURNED.

TRALEE, Monday.

A fire broke out in Brogue lane about eight o'clock this morning, and rendered six families homeless. The origin of the outbreak is attributed to a chimney in the house of Mrs. Johnson going on fire, following the throwing of paraffin oil on the kitchen fire. The town fire brigade arrived about nine o'clock, but by this time the flames had spread to the neighbouring houses, all of which were roofed with thatch, and six were completely burned.

ACQUITTALS EXPECTED.

IN REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL.

INSPIRED REPORT ON PROGRESS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LEIPZIG, Monday.

The acquittal of the four men accused of having co-operated with Van der Lubbe in setting fire to the Reichstag is now, it is felt here, not without the bounds of possibility.

The explanation of such a verdict to the German public would devolve on the Government. How this might be done is illustrated in a semi-official report on the progress of the trial, which declares: "No matter how the judgment against the accused who sit in the dock turns out, that is more or less without significance. The principal accused is Communism as such, which had already brought Germany to the brink of decline before its head could be crushed by the Government of national revival."

Meanwhile, a large portion of the German Press is as strong as ever in its comment on the accused persons. Torgler seems to be the object of most hatred. Dimitroff's bluntness was even lauded at the expense of Torgler's courteous restraint by a Nazi radio announcer, who said: "German workers, look at your leader grovelling before the bourgeois German judge."

The question of the moment is: Will the riddle of Van der Lubbe be solved by the sittings which begin to-morrow in the Reichstag? Over one hundred witnesses will be heard during these sittings. The prisoners have been transferred under strong guard from Leipzig to Berlin, and everything is ready for the second act in the drama to-morrow.

SENATE AND THE LAND BILL.

CONSIDERATION OF THE AMENDMENTS.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

The Free State Senate's amendments to the Land Bill, which have been rejected by the Dail, and the second reading of the Road Transport (Amendment) Bill will be the business on the Order Paper for to-morrow's meeting of the Senate.

With regard to the Land Bill, the House will have to consider whether it will insist on its amendments, which were inserted in the bill during the committee and report stages. Some of these are regarded as being of very great importance, but it is not known yet if the Senate will insist on them. If it elects to do so, the Land Bill will be held up along with other measures for a period of eighteen months.

CORK BANKRUPTCY CASE.

CHARGE OF COLLUSION DENIED.

At a sitting of the Cork Bankruptcy Court to-day, two further motions were listed in the matter of Mrs. Bridie McKay, bankrupt, trading as R. M. McKay and Co., general dealers, Pope's quay, Cork.

The first motion was by James White, to the effect that the Court messengers be withdrawn from the premises at Pope's quay, and possession handed over to applicant; and further, that the property seized by Court messengers on the premises be returned.

White swore that he had bought the contents of the premises from Mrs. McKay for £200: whereas, it was suggested by counsel for the creditor's assignee that he had conspired with Mrs. McKay to cheat the bank.

During cross-examination, the witness admitted having been sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment for larceny in 1926. He denied having lived on his wits since that time.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned.

SOVIET PEASANTS WISH TO FLEE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

RIGA, Monday.

A number of Soviet peasants approached the Latvian frontier to-day and asked the Latvian authorities for permission for 3,000 villagers to emigrate in a body to this country.

The frontier Guards fed the deputation, but formally refused to admit them or to allow their fellow-villagers to enter Latvian territory.

MISSIONARY NOTES.

FROM OUR CHURCH OF IRELAND CORRESPONDENT.

Owing to the fact that the two great missionary societies of the Church have been compelled to reduce their grants to missionary dioceses, the Dublin University Missions in India and China have suffered a loss of income. Up to the present the Dublin Committees have been able to shoulder the additional financial responsibilities thus laid on them, but now, in the case of the Chota Nagpur Mission, a further "cut" of £127 from S.P.G. grant has been announced. This means that either the personal allowance of the Brothers would be reduced or that some department of the men's work would have to be suspended. The first alternative cannot be contemplated, as the allowance is at present a bare subsistence, and the Home Committee have decided that they will not allow the second to take place, and intend to provide the additional sum, trusting to the loyalty and sacrifice of Church of Ireland people in Trinity College and in general to make this possible.

During a tour made in the Elgon district in order to raise another £1,000 for the completion of a training college in the Diocese of the Upper Nile, £770 was collected. Most of the cotton ginneries in that district are now owned by Indians, and they helped very readily with individual gifts of from fifteen to fifty shillings. African Christians helped readily, small children, cripples and poor people contributing their cents or shillings with real happiness and satisfaction.

A Chinese male inmate of the Soochun leper home, who is totally blind and can speak only in a hoarse whisper, on a recent occasion recited the whole of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, which he had committed to memory. Another recited the whole of St. Luke's Gospel from memory without a single error, and could even call out the number of the verse from time to time. He is aiming at memorising the whole of the New Testament.

It is extremely unfortunate that Miss Rooke is unable to accept any more parcels of short wool from countries outside the Free State, owing to the heavy duty on imported goods. For many years she has collected the wool for providing materials for the inmates of leper homes.

As a result of the week of united Evangelism held last May in the Diocese of Domakal, 341 new villages are asking for Christian instruction.

EXPERT ADVICE AT OLYMPIA.

Members of the Automobile Association visiting the International Motor Exhibition at Olympia from 12th to 21st October will have the opportunity of obtaining impartial advice on the technical aspects of any of the exhibits. One of the Association's engineers will be available at the A.A. Stand No. 99 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day during the period of the exhibition.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

LIST RALLIES IN LATE TRADING: STOCKS CLOSE FIRM.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Monday.

The Government's large cotton crop estimate, which ordinarily would constitute quite a bearish factor on Wall street, was apparently considerably off-set by the Administration's move to make substantial loans to farmers on the crop reduction basis. Throughout the greater part of the session trading was dull, with operators adopting a cautious attitude, but a good recovery took place towards the close. The day's sales totalled 1,250,000 shares.

Following a firm opening some improvement was made, but the weakness of wheat had a very unsettling effect, and the early gains of 1 to 3 points were substantially reduced. Trading, however, turned dull on the reaction. "Wet" stocks, a few Farm Implements and Chemicals retained their advances of 1 to 2 points, and many pivotal issues were fractionally higher, but Metals were easy.

In the afternoon trading became very sluggish, with operators displaying extreme caution, and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. The strength of the Hog market at Chicago and the recent improvement in the Textile trade aroused interest, the constructive element recalling the rising Hog and Textile quotations which preceded the boom on the Stock Exchange in the spring and summer.

Rallying tendencies appeared in the late dealings, and the market closed firm.

Labour difficulties continue to be a very disturbing factor on Wall Street, while operators are apparently awaiting more stable grain markets. Meanwhile, the forthcoming unfilled orders statement of the U.S. Steel Corporation is awaited with interest.

Reports from Pittsburg indicate that steel makers in that centre anticipate new orders to the amount of 10,000,000 tons before the end of the month. However, the publication, Steel, in estimating mill activity last week at 38 per cent. of capacity, says that new business is negligible.

WINNIPEG GRAINS.

The Winnipeg Grain markets remained closed to-day.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

Local liquidation resulted in some early declines on the grain market to-day, but a rally ensued on scattered commission house buying, which disclosed the over-sold condition of the market. Selling pressure was light, and some moderate buying was sufficient to cause an upturn. The news generally was without feature. Wheat early eased on Eastern selling, but subsequently rallied on local short covering and owing to a decrease in the visible supply. Values again fell off partially in the late session on an easing of support and some realising. Maize improved owing to small bookings, coupled with a good cash interest and on buying by professionals. Rye showed advances owing to purchases by commission houses and covering operations, while oats, after declining as a result of general selling, rallied in unison with maize.

NATIONAL BRIDGE TOURNAMENT.

RESULT OF FINAL.

The final match in the National Bridge Congress Knock-Out Tournament, for teams of four, was won at Bexhill yesterday by the International side, led by Mr. H. Ingram, who beat a Bexhill team, led by General Twiss, by 4,550 points.

The Consolation Stakes Competition, for teams of four, was won by Captain Kempson's team, and in the Pairs contest, Colonel Seton Browne and Captain Thorpe and Mrs. Braddock and Mrs. Brock were the winners.

DEATH FOR CARRYING ARMS.

CALCUTTA, Monday.

The Statesman publishes to-day a letter received from a group of Europeans at Midnapore and Khargpur.

The letter contends that the enhanced powers of the Midnapore officials "are still inadequate, and will continue to be so until the death penalty within forty-eight hours for those found in the unauthorised possession of arms or ammunition is enforced."

NEW "WAR" IN SALONIKA TRENCHES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BELGRADE, Monday.

Old trenches and dug-outs built during the fighting in the Salonika zone in 1918 are being used in a "little war" now raging between Yugoslav militiamen and Bulgarian comitadjis.

The trouble began with the discovery of bombs laid on the main railway line between Belgrade and Athens and in an attempt to hold up the Orient Express near the Greek Frontier by a comitadji band.

CROSSHAVEN WATER SUPPLY.

CORK, Monday.

At Cork County Board of Health to-day, Mr. W. J. Broderick, T.D., presiding, a deputation appeared in connection with Crosshaven water supply. It was stated that during the summer months, when the population was increased from 1,000 to 3,000, there was a big shortage of water. Father O'Flynn, P.P., said an eminent doctor remarked to him that he did not know how they escaped an epidemic in the place. The estimated cost of the scheme is £6,200, and it was agreed to ask for one-third grant from the Department of Local Government.

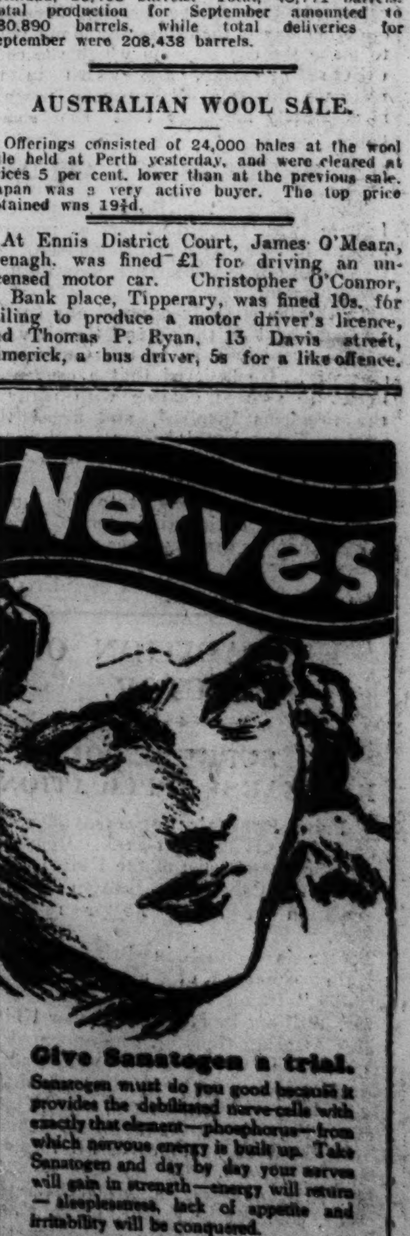

OIL PRODUCTION.

British Controlled Oilfields.—Production for the week ended October 7—Venezuelan, 25,365 barrels; Trinidad, 18,406 barrels. Total, 43,771 barrels. Total production for September amounted to 180,890 barrels, while total deliveries for September were 208,438 barrels.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALE.

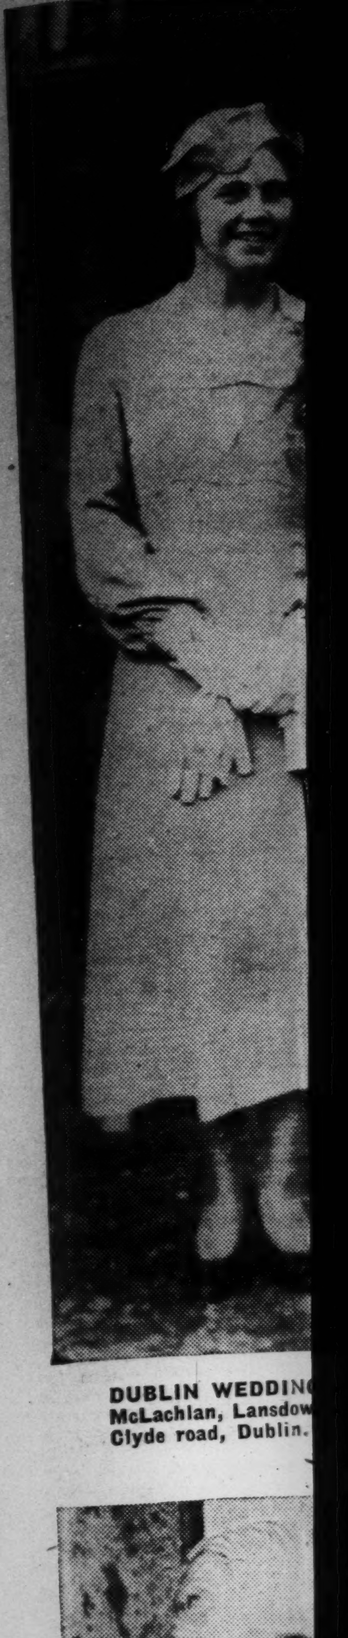

Offerings consisted of 24,000 bales at the wool sale held at Perth yesterday, and were cleared at prices 5 per cent. lower than at the previous sale. Japan was a very active buyer. The top price obtained was 19 1/2d.

At Ennis District Court, James O'Meara, Nenagh, was fined £1 for driving an unlicensed motor car. Christopher O'Connor, 41 Bank place, Tipperary, was fined 10s. for failing to produce a motor driver's licence, and Thomas P. Ryan, 13 Davis street, Limerick, a bus driver, 5s for a like offence.

DIVORCE MADE ABSOLUTE.

The decree nisi for divorce granted on March 29th, 1933, to the Hon. Michael John Rance de Courcy, son and heir of Lord Kingsale, premier Baron of Ireland, whose address was given as Keynsham road, Cheltenham, was yesterday made absolute by the President (Sir Boyd Merriman) in the Divorce Division, London.

The Home Office refused to give a landing permit to Eliskases, a well-known Austrian chess player, when he arrived at Folkestone yesterday on his way to Glasgow to take part in a series of exhibition games there. He was sent back on a later boat.

WORKERS IMPORTED.

The Dublin Trades Union Council state that no satisfactory settlement of the imported labour question has yet been secured, and that yesterday another case of workers being brought in to perform work which could be carried out by local labour was brought to the notice of the unions. On this occasion the imported workers were from Belgium.

The King has caused messages of sympathy to be sent in his name to the relatives of those who lost their lives in the motor car accident outside Buckingham Palace on Saturday.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

BETTING FEATURES.

POINTS OF THE CALL-OVER ON THE CESAREWITCH.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

NEWMARKET, Monday Night.

At a call-over of the card on the Cesarewitch in London this morning Guiscard remained favourite, but a weakish one, at 15 to 2, while Ximenes was well backed down to a point longer odds, being supported to win about £12,000. Nitsichin was also well supported for a time at tens, and then she received a point to 100 to 9.

It is taken as a point in her favour that the Italian colt, Crapom, whom she ran to a neck in the Grand International Prize in Ostend, won the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe in Paris yesterday, and won it well, too, after getting into all sorts of difficulties in the course of the race. Everyone I know who has seen Crapom speaks of him as being a colt of an exceptional kind, and that Nitschin should have made so good a race with him is all to her credit, and suggests that she is even better than she was last year.

Negro was backed again and shortened to 100 to 8. I should imagine that this horse has been backed to win a bigger individual stake than any other in the race.

SUPPORT FOR DICK TURPIN.

A week ago Dick Turpin was knocked out to 100 to 1, and the assumption was that he would not run. A day or two later it was announced that he would run, and that Gordon Richards would ride him. There was a lot of money for him this morning, and he closed at 22 to 1.

Sandals and Lucky Patch shortened a little, and an offer of 33 to 1 about Roi de Paris brought no response. Within-the-Law shortened from 40 to 1 to 33's, his chance becoming more apparent with the prospect of the ground being hard.

There was next to nothing doing on the Cambridgeshire, but Gino was introduced at 25 to 1. It would not surprise me if the Aga Khan's colt, who was third to Rodosto and King Salmon in the Two Thousand Guineas, was to develop into a fancied candidate.

SELECTIONS.

The racing begins to-morrow with the Alington Plate, in which Hornsey Rise, a colt trained by Gordon Sadler, is to make his delayed first appearance. He has been highly spoken of for some time as a likely winner first time out. He is likely to run well without beating DARE YOU, who is to be the first mount of the day of Gordon Richards.

I anticipate, by the way, that the leading jockey will add materially to his total of winners in the course of the next four days. There are several events that look cut and dried for him, although it is not likely that Beary will volunteer to stand down and give him the winning ride on DASTUR in the Champion Stakes. Richards's mount in this race will be the Oaks winner, Chatelaine, who needs a longer course.

I can give a fair chance to Salar in the Newmarket Oaks, as the distance, a mile and three-quarters, is about her best. She may run well without beating TYPHONIC, whom I take to win.

ROUBLE'S CHANCE.

I make out through his running with Inverman and Stalky at Ayr that one of the best-handicapped horses of the week is the Manton three-year-old, ROUBLE, in the Visitors' Handicap, and if a light-weight jockey can get the best out of him he should win.

Alishah is, apparently, to leave the Middle Stakes on Thursday to his stable companion, Mrs. Rustom, and will run for the Clearwell Stakes to-morrow. He has to give a stone to Haytime, and as Lord Derby's colt ran him to a length at evens at the last meeting here, there is presumptive evidence that HAYTIME will beat him this time. All the same, Alishah is an improving colt.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

Alington Stakes—Dare You.
Champion Stakes—Dastur.
Ditch Mile Nursery—Her Eminence (nap).
Newmarket Oaks—Typhonic.
Visitors' Handicap—Fol Amour.
Clearwell Stakes—Haytime.

TO-DAY'S DOUBLE.

Her Eminence and Dare You.

DASTUR FANCIED.

HER EMINENCE MAY WIN THE DITCH MILE NURSERY.

There are only three horses engaged in the Champion Stakes at Newmarket to-day—namely, Dastur, Scarlet Tiger and Chatelaine. It is a pity that a bigger field is not available for a race with such a name as this, but the trio might provide a very good contest. I would have made Dastur out a very good thing had he not kept away from the racecourse for three months. His last public appearance was in the Prince of Wales's Stakes here in June. He was beaten one and a half lengths by Raymond, not exactly a top class stayer, but Dastur was attempting to concede 2st. 4lb., having nearly 10st. in the saddle. That was too hard a task over the hard-galloping Newmarket mile and a half. Previously he had run third under the same heavy weight at Ascot. The best thing he has done during the season was to win the Coronation Stakes, and that was a race in which, as here, he had a much more comfortable weight. He has to make concessions to the others to-day, but not a lot really—7lb. to Scarlet Tiger and 10lb. to Chatelaine.

Scarlet Tiger's last essay was in the St. Leger, in which he finished third. At Goodwood, in winning the Gatwicke Produce Stakes, he administered a sound beating to Chatelaine, but the latter has an advantage in the matter of weight this time, there now being a turnover of 8lb. in her favour. Since then Chatelaine has won the valuable Scarbrough Stakes at Doncaster over a mile. It can, therefore, be seen that the three are fairly well matched, taking everything into consideration, but on the balance of form one is almost bound to favour

DASTUR.

Charlie Elliott would probably be giving Gordon Richards a good run for the championship each year if he were still riding regularly in England. He has come over to ride La Circe in the Newmarket Oaks, in which he will be opposing Richards on Typhonic. Typhonic is well fancied for the race on her Doncaster running, where she took the important fillies' race, the Park Hill Stakes. I think the biggest danger to her will not be La Circe, but Lord Astor's So Quick, who has won the only two races she has taken part in this season. She has not been out for a very long time, however, and I prefer especially with the champion in the saddle.

DARE YOU

has been spoken well of for some time by the Newmarket watchers. She is a daughter of the Derby and St. Leger winner, Trigo, and has shown steady advance in the three races she has had so far. Success should not elude her much longer, and her opportunity to grasp it may have come in the Alington Stakes.

Another very useful filly is

HER EMINENCE.

I have waited for her to make a re-appearance since she ran third to Pomme Au Four at Doncaster—following two successes in good company—and she is due to compete in the Ditch Mile Nursery. She is top weight, but should prove good enough. Maria and Apulia are the dangers.

FOL AMOUR

gets a slight preference over Riverdale and Watfun in the Visitors' Handicap; and for the Clearwell Stakes I have most liking for

HAYTIME.

NEWMARKET NOTES.

COMMENTS ON THE CESAREWITCH HORSES: HINTS FOR TO-DAY.

NEWMARKET, Monday.

It was thought that the Terrace House trainer, R. Day, would have given his Cesarewitch Stakes charge, Blandearna, a good gallop yesterday, but he postponed it until this morning. With Rawles in the saddle, and in company with Hussar, the horse had a good mile and a half gallop. His defeat at Gatwick did not alter the opinion I have of the chance that Sir Abe Bailey's horse possesses on Wednesday, and I am still of the opinion that he will go close.

Watts gave his Cesarewitch representative, Beau Frere (S. Wragg), a similar spin. He is in excellent fettle, but I prefer the chance of others.

The Hon. George Lambton's Guiscard, whose gallop last Thursday was very much criticised, was given easy six furlongs work, and Lord Derby's horse has never looked better than at the moment. I happen to know that Mr. Lambton, who has not yet saddled the winner of the Cesarewitch Stakes, is very hopeful that he will do so on Wednesday.

In view of their engagement to-morrow, Haytime (W. Rickaby) and La Balafre (Weston), with Toscano, were given a good five furlongs burst. Scarlet Tiger, who is engaged in the Champion Stakes to-morrow, with Weston up, had a similar spin with Pricket.

C. Waugh's Trustee, who ruptured a small blood-vessel in his gallop on Saturday, with Chelmarsh, had a good stripped gallop over one mile, and, as there was no return of the trouble, he will take his chance on Wednesday, and I still regard him as holding a good outside chance.

After his most satisfactory gallop on Saturday, Captain Boyd-Rochfort's Sandals was given walking exercise, with cotton wool bandages on his forelegs. Whether it is some precaution or not it is difficult to say, but he walked perfectly sound, and there were not the slightest signs of lameness. Enfield, with Dalmany and Autumn, were given a nice five furlongs spin. Enfield, who ran well at our last fixture, has done well in the meantime, and will be difficult to beat for the Ditch Mile Nursery here to-morrow.

B. Jarvis's Cesarewitch Stakes charge, Erain, looking fresh and well after his good stripped gallop on Saturday, took matters easily over six furlongs.

D. Waugh gave Simpson the leg up on Quillon, who, with Blazonry, Sally Forth and Tonic Water, was given a smart five furlongs spin.

A good field will turn out for the Alington Stakes here to-morrow. I take Le Balafre, Phaleron Boy and as our best trio, and I expect the last-named to make a successful debut.

DASTUR

has to give Scarlet Tiger 7lb. in the Champion Stakes, and I expect him to do so.

We shall have about fifteen runners for the Ditch Mile Nursery. Her Eminence has a big weight, but I prefer her to Jeruel, Blackmail, Sanchano, Let Live colt, Helio, Compromise colt, Labour Member, Golden Harbour and Lady Gold. I expect Apulia and Carmenta to run well, as will Enfield, who finished third for a similar event at our last fixture, but I shall rely upon the well galloped each way.

Typhonic is fancied slightly for the Newmarket Oaks, but I shall take a chance with the recent addition to B. Jarvis's team, who has good form in France.

LA CIRCE,

Solace and Thauma will be seen out for the Clearwell Stakes, but I have no fancy for either, and, smart as Alishah is, I do not expect him to give 14lb. to who ran him to a length at level weights at the First October meeting.

LONDON BETTING.

GUISCARD STILL FAVOURITE.

LATEST WAGERING AT VICTORIA CLUB.

There was a big muster at the Victoria Club, London, yesterday, for the call-over on the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire, and a good deal of business resulted.

Guiscard closed firm at 15 to 2, after being backed to win £5,000. Ximenes was backed to win £11,000 at rates varying from 10 to 1 to 9 to 1, leaving 17 to 2 the best offer. Nitsichin opened at 1,000 to 100 (five times), after which 1,000 to 90 (six times) were bets laid, and 100 to 9 again offered. Negro went well, 1,000 to 70 (eight times) being taken, leaving 100 to 8 the closing offer.

Loosestrife was firm at 1,000 to 50 (four times). Sandals opened at 2,000 to 100 (twice) followed by 1,000 to 45 (seven times).

Dick Turpin was supported to win £15,000, Statesman £7,000, Beau-Frere £5,000, Sanity £8,000 and Seminole and Within the Law £5,000 each, at their quoted rates. Minor sums went on the others dealt with.

For the Cambridgeshire, Cotoneaster had backers at 1,000 to 80 (twice) and Andrea at 1,000 to 65 (twice). Ole King Sole advanced from 1,800 to 100 to 100 to 6, and Limelight, Eroica and Gino were each backed to win about £3,000 at their quoted rates.

The card on the Cesarewitch will be called over this evening at 7 o'clock, and not 6.30, as previously stated. Prices:—

THE CESAREWITCH.

PROBABLE RUNNERS AND FORM FOR TO-MORROW'S RACE.

The latest scratching from the Cesarewitch, which will be run to-morrow at Newmarket, is Sanguinole, trained by E. J. Watts, who still has Beau-Frere in the race.

Rumours were afloat yesterday that all was not well with Sandals, as the horse was on the "walking" list, with cotton-wool bandages on his forelegs. There is, however, nothing wrong with him, and, apparently, yesterday morning's "work" was a natural sequence to the strong gallop he had on Saturday, when he went two miles and a quarter.

THE PROBABLE FIELD.

WORK AT THE CURRAGH.

THE CURRAGH, Monday.

As a result of the heavy rains which fell over Saturday and Sunday our gallops now afford fairly good going.

BEHAN'S Cariff galloped six furlongs at a good half speed. This half-brother to Cargin in his only race finished third to The Immortal and Kyloe in the Waterford Testimonial Stakes when not fully wound up. He is being prepared for the National Produce Stakes, to be run here on the 2nd of November.

JAMES CANTY'S St. Ultan led the two-year-old Ariston in a nice, steady canter over five furlongs. Several nice yearlings have joined this trainer's team.

DAWSON'S Sherdoon, who holds an engagement at Proudstown Park this week, cantered steadily over a mile and a half. Jorto and Forthview Maid traversed a mile at a nice pace.

FETHERSTONHAUGH'S Prince de Bulgarie cantered briskly over a mile. Cardigan, Forth, Soliman's Feast and others did steady work up to a mile and a half.

GILPIN'S Toomba, Kiala and Right Dress galloped five furlongs at a good pace.

PARKINSON'S team was well employed on the Flat Rath gallops. Stand Off, Simon's Way, African Pet and Rockford galloped a mile sharply. Cairn Lassie and Athracca were given a similar gallop. Old Time and Astrom cantered the same distance steadily. Irish Fun, Cottillion and Misty Way galloped six furlongs sharply. The two-year-olds in batches were given good gallops over five furlongs.

ROGERS'S Warden's Song, Gold Period, Flinty and Toiard galloped five furlongs. Hawlmark and Sparsholt did a similar gallop. The remainder cantered.

VINES A PROFESSIONAL.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Ellsworth Vines, the former Wimbledon and American lawn tennis champion, has turned professional. He has signed a year's contract with W. T. Tilden.

Vines will make his début as a professional at Madison Square Gardens on January 10th, 1934.

Tilden refused to discuss the terms agreed upon, but said that he wished to make it clear that Vines had no agreement, and had not signed anything, until he finished his amateur career in the Pacific South-West Championship at Los Angeles last month.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Important Scratchings.

Sanguinole was struck out of the Cesarewitch Stakes at 11.40 a.m. yesterday, and The Blue Boy out of the Cambridgeshire Stakes at 11.26 a.m. yesterday.

Blandford Back in England.

The famous sire, Blandford, who, until recently, stood at the Cloghran Stud in Ireland, has arrived at Mr. R. C. Dawson's Whatcombe establishment along with five yearlings. Trigo and Blenheim, Derby winners, and Athford are among the stock of this successful sire. The Whatcombe trainer is the owner of the Cloghran stud.

Jockey's Fall at Southwell.

J. Ainsworth was slightly injured by the fall of his mount, Topaz, in the Boston Juvenile Hurdle race at Southwell yesterday.

G. Wilson's Retainers.

G. Wilson, the champion jockey under National Hunt Rules, has retainers for the season from Mr. J. L. Hall, the Fenny Compton trainer; Mrs. Hollins, the owner, and Mr. E. G. Pease, the trainer, of Kineton, near Warwick.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

SEASON TO OPEN ON SATURDAY.

CUP RULE THAT NEEDS REVISION.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

On Thursday last the Ladies' Branch of the I.L.H.U. held the secretaries' meeting for the purpose of fixing the various Leagues and arranging fixtures for the coming season. It was originally intended that the League fixtures should commence on Saturday last, but the lateness of the meeting rendered this impossible. However, the season will open officially next Saturday, and it is expected that all clubs will make a start on their League programme. With the exception of Antiquity, all last year's senior clubs are playing, and, in addition, Pembroke Wanderers, Optimists, and Old College have promoted their Second XI.'s to senior ranks. Of course, Pembroke Wanderers II. moved up automatically, as they won the Intermediate Badges last year.

The draw of the Senior League is slightly better balanced this season, Maids, Monkstown, Dublin University and Optimists being the strong teams in "A" Division, while Pembroke Wanderers, Muckross, Old College and Newcomes figure on the other side. This division of the teams should make for more interesting League fixtures than last season, when practically all the good teams were on the same side.

EARLY SENIOR CUP START.

The first round of the Senior Cup has been fixed for the 18th November, exactly one month after the start of the season, a fact which will give the clubs very little time to settle into their strides. The Badges' matches will commence a week later, and the second rounds must be completed by the 2nd and 9th of December, respectively. It has been suggested on several occasions before that the Cup matches should not start until after the Christmas holidays, but, so far, the Leinster H.U. have not seen their way to altering the programme. We think this change would enable the clubs to complete all their League matches before the holidays, and would also give them more chance of having their teams in proper shape for cup ties. As it is, they are scarcely definitely arranged when they have to face these matches.

The Interprovincial trials are also early this year, December 9th and 13th being the dates arranged. Of course, prior to this—on November 1—we shall have to field an Irish XI. against the American Ladies, who are touring England and Scotland at present. Our team which travelled to Copenhagen for the tournament in September were only defeated 3-1 by the U.S.A. team, and as the Irish XI. on that occasion was not really a representative one, our prospects for the next match should be decidedly good. Apparently, no trial will be held beforehand, so that the selectors will be relying for the most part on last season's form, and that was of a higher standard than for several years previously.

MISS CONNELL FOR OLD COLLEGE.

Since last week we have learned that Miss V. Connell, who was the mainstay of the Antiquity side for many seasons, has joined Old College, where her talents are sure to be appreciated. With her comes Miss Cox, a young player of great promise. Miss Eustace has definitely joined Optimists and Miss Kane Muckross. Practically all the other Antiquity people have gone to Old Rutland and Old Wesley.

Muckross have had a couple of practices, and plenty of young talent has been discovered among the new members. Four Leinster Schools Inter-provincial players were present—viz., Misses Joan White (St. Mary's), E. Lloyd (Cabra), U. Strahan (Muckross) and M. Walker (Muckross)—while another newcomer is Miss H. Scott, who played centre-forward very successfully a few seasons back for U.C.D.

There will be at least three notable absentees from the Loreto Past team—Misses Veale, Barden and Cosgrave. Miss Veale has taken up nursing and will not be available for Saturdays; Miss Barden is retiring, and Miss Cosgrave has joined Pembroke Wanderers, for whom she made her first appearance during the week-end.

Old Trinity have decided not to enter for the League this season, but will be available for mid-week club matches.

SCHOOLS' SENIOR LEAGUE DIVISIONS.

A largely attended meeting of the secretaries of the Schools' Branch of the Leinster Ladies' Hockey Union was held last evening at Wesley College. Owing to the increase in the number of entries for the Senior League it was decided to divide the eighteen clubs into two divisions, as follows:—

First Division—St. Moibhi's, St. Mary's (Haddington road), Alexandra College 3rd, Alexandra College 4th, Sion Hill, Rathmines Technical School, Mercer's School, The Hall (Monkstown), and Bertrand School.

Second Division—Wesley College, Rutland H.S., Glangara, Alexandra College 2nd, Loreto (St. Stephen's Green), Muckross, C.D.S. (Alexandra College), St. Margaret's Hall, and Masonic School (Ballsbridge).

SEXTON KNOCKED-OUT.

McAVOY RETAINS THE TITLE AND LONSDALE BELT.

Jock McAvoy, of Rochdale, retained the middle-weight championship of Great Britain, when he knocked out Archie Sexton, of Bethnal Green, at Belle Vue, Manchester, last night in the tenth round.

As a championship fight it was rather disappointing. McAvoy fought better than he has since he defeated Harvey for the title, and his superiority of speed, generalship, and power of punch were such that Sexton, a courageous loser, could not make any impression on him, and, in consequence, the fight as a spectacle lacked something in attractiveness.

Only in the ninth round did Sexton reveal a glimpse of his best form. Mr. Johnny Sharp, his manager, after the fight, confessed that never had he seen his man fight with such lack of fire. Credit must go to McAvoy for a real champion's display, but, in fairness to Sexton, it must be said that the Londoner has fought better.

ROUND ONE.

ROUND TWO.

Sexton was beaten to the punch immediately this round opened, and he was glad to get out of the way of a right swing. McAvoy was fighting well, and Sexton was finding difficulty in planting his left. The fast-moving champion, measuring his man, smashed a straight left to the face, and Sexton, missing with a cross counter, again covered up as his opponent rushed in with a whirlwind attack. From the break McAvoy missed badly with a right swing to the body, and Sexton, slipping a left, got underneath the champion's guard only to be punched away.

ROUND THREE.

Straight from the gong McAvoy, to a roar of cheers, bore in, smashing in left and right to Sexton's jaw. The Londoner covered up, but, on the break, McAvoy yet again crashed in a terrific left, that must have hurt the challenger.

McAvoy was fighting like a real champion. He stood up, measuring his opponent and leaping in, timing his blows to perfection. In the middle of this round the contest was stopped while Mr. C. B. Thomas, the referee, cut away a piece of tape from McAvoy's left glove. Sexton was standing up to the champion with amazing pluck, although he seemed unable to beat McAvoy to the lead or to have any effective defence against the champion's left leads.

ROUND FOUR.

McAvoy seemed to increase in speed and confidence as the bout progressed. In this round he feinted cleverly, to stagger his opponent with a crashing right swing, and he hooked Sexton with a right that brought a roar from the crowd. McAvoy kept up the pressure, and, towards the end of the round he had Sexton on the ropes, wilting under a perfect storm of lefts and rights.

ROUND FIVE.

Sexton got in a left to the jaw, and McAvoy making light of it, darted in again and landed a right and left to the jaw that sent Sexton reeling to the ropes. The champion seemed to have the measure of Sexton, who was too often short with his leads and was taking a lot of punishment. McAvoy has rarely fought so well, and was right on his toes all the time.

ROUND SIX.

In this round McAvoy continued to dictate the course of the fight. He clipped Sexton with a stinging right to the head and, when the Londoner attempted a counter he was fought off fiercely with both hands.

ROUND SEVEN.

The pace was terrific, with McAvoy still doing most of the attacking. Sexton caught his opponent with a left hook to the body, but McAvoy was at him with a left and right. The Manchester boxer was hitting hard, and his work hereabouts was faster than anything he has shown since winning the championship. He had Sexton guessing all along the line.

ROUND EIGHT.

With rapier blows from his flashing lefts McAvoy met Sexton as the Londoner came in. The challenger then missed with a right swing, and McAvoy was under his opponent's guard and dealing out strength-sapping punishment to the body. Sexton had a bad time in this round.

ROUND NINE.

So few were Sexton's scoring punches that when he caught the champion with a right to the head the crowd broke into a cheer. Immediately afterwards Sexton was covering up desperately from a smashing attack, and McAvoy, fighting magnificently, ripped in punch after punch.

ROUND TEN.

Sexton surprised everybody at the beginning of this round by jumping in and staggering the champion with a perfect right to the jaw, but immediately before the cheers for Sexton had died down McAvoy was in like a tiger, his arms working like flails. He sent Sexton against the ropes with a merciless fusillade of blows. The Londoner covered up, staggering under the hail.

Amid a perfect pandemonium of howling and yelling, McAvoy stood off from his staggering opponent, and then whipped in a lightning right uppercut that took Sexton on the jaw and dropped him for the full count.

FIVE FAVOURITES SCORE.

GRAND NATIONAL HEATS AT SHELBOURNE PARK.

Two heats of the Irish Grand National were run off at Shelbourne Park last night, and on each occasion the favourite came home easily. Hogan's Ally got clear after the first bend in Heat 5, while in Heat 6 Perilous Guide was never challenged after a slow start. The Shelbourne Stake, a 600 yards race, provided a splendid finish, the favourite, Clountabonive Girl, getting up to beat Jack Knows, the leader for most of the journey, by a neck, with Frog the same distance away, third. In the St. Leger Trial Stake, Harvest Hiker led for three-quarters of the distance, but could not resist Cowboy's strong challenge, and the latter just got home by a neck. Backers had a good evening, five favourites winning. Results:—

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

SOUTH AMERICANS OUTPLAYED.

HEARTS TOO STRONG FOR TOURING TEAM.

HEART OF MIDLOTHIAN 3 PERU-CHILE ... 0

WITHOUT unduly exerting themselves at Edinburgh yesterday, Heart of Midlothian easily defeated the South American XI., against whom they scored three goals without reply. Establishing a two-goal lead at half-time, the Scottish side took matters fairly easily in the second stage, when the visitors were rarely in the picture as an attacking force.

Having the advantage of a strong wind at the start, Heart of Midlothian set up heavy pressure, and within ten minutes Herd gave them the lead, while twenty minutes later Battles headed through from Murray's pass.

The feature of the visitors' football was the skill and certainty shown by Criado, their goal-keeper, who saved several times in capital style.

Heart of Midlothian all but increased their lead a minute after the resumption, when Smith struck the upright, and the only scoring attempts of note from the South Americans were by Villanueva, who shot wide, and Pacheco. Five minutes from the end Walker obtained the winners' third goal.

McMAHON OFF THE IRISH TEAM.

As he received an injury while playing for his club against the South American touring team last week, John McMahon, the Bohemians' right-half, has informed the Irish Football Association that he will be unable to play against England at Belfast next Saturday.

SWIMMING.

FINE PERFORMANCE BY YOUTHFUL JAP.

Kusuo Kitamura, the sixteen-year-old Olympic 1,500 metres free-style champion, has broken yet another world's record. He swam the 800 metres in a 25-metre pool in 10 mins. 3 secs., which easily eclipses the record of 10 mins. 8 6-10 secs. held by his compatriot, Shozo Makino, who finished second to him in the 1,500 metres event at the Olympic Games last year.

A new woman's record has been set up by Miss Willy Den Ouden, the Dutch woman champion, for the 300 metres free-style. She covered the distance in 3 mins. 58 secs., beating the previous record held by the American, Miss Helen Madison, by 1½ secs.

BILLIARDS.

SMITH OUTPOINTED.

Davis increased his lead at Thurston's yesterday, and in the first session scored 934 for an average of 93 against Smith's 535 and 53, respectively. The best breaks made by Davis were 199, 136, 177 and 330, while Smith, after taking an unfinished 365 to 373 had innings of 109 and 209 (unfinished).

At night Davis scored 829 points and averaged 92, while Smith totalled 595, to average 66. Smith went to 391 (full), and he also had breaks of 159 and 170 (unfinished). Davis had 577 and 126. Closing scores—Davis, 10,368; Smith, (in play), 8,858.

EARL FINED.

MOTOR INJURES PILLION RIDER.

The Earl of Buckinghamshire, whose address was given as Great Hampden, Bucks, was at Great Missenden Police Court yesterday fined £2 10s. and ordered to pay £2 10s. costs on a summons charging him with driving without due car and attention. He pleaded guilty.

Sergeant Doughty said that Lord Buckinghamshire's car was in collision with a motor cyclist, the woman pillion rider being injured. When Lord Buckinghamshire's attention was called to the marks on the road he said: "Yes, they are mine. I was on the wrong side of the road. It is entirely my fault." Witness believed that the sun, which was in the defendant's face, caused the accident.

William Alfred Griffith said that he was riding on a motor cycle, with his wife as pillion passenger, when he saw Lord Buckinghamshire coming towards him. A little distance from him the car swerved suddenly, caught his wife's foot and hurt her. The driver got out and said: "I am sorry, old man. It is entirely my fault." "He picked up my wife," added Mr. Griffiths, "put her in his car and took her to a doctor."

"LET'S CULTIVATE YOUTHFULNESS."

"Let's cultivate youthfulness and cheerfulness from sunrise to the end of the day," said Mr. Samuel Brighouse, Coroner for South-West Lancashire, in an address at Liverpool Constitutional Club yesterday.

Mr. Brighouse is 84 years old.

These are some of the other witty remarks he made:—

"Take things easily, take things calmly; everything else will come to you.

"Old age is of no service to anybody. Put it on one side.

"Here is a slogan for you. Never mind going to a doctor. A week's rest in bed postpones the inevitable immortal rest in the graveyard."

Mr. Brighouse's comments on his early life included:—

"My first outlook on life was when I was sent to Ormskirk Grammar School.

"There was the same snobbishness as exists in some places to-day. The sons of the gentry went out of the front door of the school five minutes before the common herd went out by another door. It has always been a pleasure to me that I went out with the common herd.

"I hated Latin and Greek, as I do now, and I shall have that hatred till I cross the great divide."

ATHLETICS.

BECCALI FOR AMERICA.

ROME, Monday.

Luigi Beccali, holder of the world's record for 1,500 metres, and Olympic champion for that distance, has accepted an invitation to run at four indoor meetings in the United States next February and March. Beccali, who will be accompanied to the United States by two other Italian runners, Lunghi and Frigerio, will probably meet such great runners as Glen Cunningham and Bill Bonthron, the Princeton "flyer."

LADOUMEGUE SETS NEW RECORD.

PARIS, Monday.

J. E. Lovelock's time of 3 mins. 2 2-10 secs. for the three-quarters of a mile, set up last year, was beaten by Jules Ladoumegue, who covered the distance in 2 mins. 59 2-10 secs. at the Stade Jean Bouin. This time, even though it is a new record for the distance, will probably only be recognised in professional athletic circles, and Lovelock's time will still be recognised in amateur athletics. Ladoumegue hopes to attack the world's record for the 1,500 metres, held by Luigi Beccali, of Italy, on Saturday next.

CRICKET.

M.C.C. REPLY TO AUSTRALIA

The M.C.C. last night sent a cable to the Australian Board of Control in reply to the cable they received in London three weeks ago. Mr. W. Findlay, secretary of the M.C.C., when announcing this fact, said—"I have nothing to give the Press, as the Australian Board of Control do not wish us to publish the cable until their members have had an opportunity of seeing it."

TABLE TENNIS.

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT LEAGUE.

Club secretaries are requested to note that the closing date for entries for the above League is Friday next. Players' names, in order of merit, to be sent in by October 20th. Opening night October 31st. Entries to be sent to hon. secretary, J. J. Walsh, 3 Rugby Villas, Ranelagh.

FISHERY CASE AT SWORDS.

WATER-BAILIFF FINED.

MEN STRUGGLE ON RIVER BANK.

BEFORE Mr. Reddin, at Swords District Court yesterday, John Maguire, Newtown, Swords; John Maher, Prussia street, Dublin; Walter Byrne, Chatham street, Dublin, and a man named Kavanagh, were summoned for fishing for trout and salmon with a net during the weekly close season at the Broadmeadow river, Swords, on 6th August last; fishing without a licence on the same occasion, and using a net with a mesh of less than one and three-quarter inches from knot to knot. The case was at the instance of the Board of Dublin Conservators of Fisheries and Kevin O'Toole. Maguire was further charged with assaulting Kevin O'Toole on the same occasion.

Mr E. H. Burne prosecuted on behalf of the Conservators. Mr. L. Trant McCarthy, solicitor, appeared for Kavanagh, Maher and Byrne. Mr. F. J. McEntee, solicitor, appeared for Maguire.

"CAUGHT IN ACT."

Mr. E. H. Burne, in opening the case for the prosecution, explained that Maguire was water bailiff of the Swords Angling Association, and that the other defendants were business men. They were caught in the act of handling a net by Kevin O'Toole, who had been asked to watch by the Guards, and knew all the defendants. Maguire assaulted O'Toole, and the evidence would show how far each party was involved.

Kevin O'Toole said that at about midnight on the 6th August he went to Black Bridges, on the Broadmeadow river, and saw a man patrolling the bridge. There was a motor car near him. He saw Maguire and Kavanagh using a net in the pool. As he was approaching them he heard Maguire saying "They are getting through the net."

"I asked them," said witness, "who are the poachers now." That referred to the fact that Maguire had given evidence against witness in a fishery prosecution. Kavanagh remarked to Maguire, "This is the famous Mr. O'Toole." Maguire told witness to leave the field, and he refused. Kavanagh seized witness by the collar, forced him on to the bank and said, "If you don't want to get a couple of inches of lead you had better get out." Maguire and Kavanagh forced him on to the road and told him to go home, and after a while he told them he would do so. He got on his bicycle and asked his brother to go for the Guards.

CALLED FOR HELP.

There were two men with Maguire and Kavanagh. He did not know them at the time, but had since ascertained that they were the other two defendants. They did not say anything, but "clouted" him round while Maguire was trying to get the net away. He had to call his dog to help him. Maguire caught and pushed him, and witness called for help. When the Guards arrived he told them in the presence of the defendants what had happened.

In cross examination to Mr. McEntee, witness denied that he was a well-known poacher, but admitted that he had been convicted of using a rod and line without a licence. He denied that he was actuated by malice towards Maguire in this case. He repeated that Maguire had assaulted him and that Maguire and Kavanagh were engaged netting.

William O'Toole, a brother of the previous witness, said that on the night in question he heard his brother calling for help, but did not see him assaulted. He went for the Guards. He saw Maguire with the net and he heard him say: "If you go, Jack, I will be taken for murder."

"ONLY MUTTERED."

James O'Toole, brother of the last witness, said that he had asked Maguire why he struck Kevin and he only muttered. The doors of the car were opened suddenly and three men jumped on his back. They fought and he freed himself.

Guard Tighe, Swords, said that from what he saw of Kavanagh on the night in question he told O'Toole to watch the river. About 1.15 a.m. witness went to the river. There were dimmed lights on a motor car by the roadside. O'Toole showed where the net was. He also found a rod in the motor car. When questioned, Kavanagh said that he came from Dublin to fish in the river. As he thought the moon was too bright, he went to Swords and had a drink. When he went in he found Maguire and O'Toole in a heated argument. Maher and Byrne said that they came down to watch Kavanagh fishing. Maguire said that he had a charge against O'Toole for stealing the net. Witness said that could not be. The net was fifty-two feet long and twenty-seven feet wide.

DEFENCE CASE.

The defendant Kavanagh said that after calling in Swords he went to fish the river with a rod, for which he had a licence. He did not go there to poach. He was fishing with a rod on the occasion, and knew nothing about the net until he saw it in the river. Kevin O'Toole, when he got to the river, said: "Take yourself and your friends away. We don't want to catch you. We want to catch Maguire."

Witness and the other defendants got into the car and waited until the Guards came. While in the car one of the O'Tooles assaulted Maguire, and witness and others had to get out and separate them.

Cross-examined by Mr. Burne, witness said that he was dumbfounded when he saw the net, as it was the last thing he expected. He knew its use was illegal, but he did not go to the Guards about it. Maguire had sent him a massage to say that there was a good deal of white trout, and the pool was worth fishing.

Mr. Trant McCarthy said that he would plead guilty on behalf of Maher and Byrne.

Mr. B. J. Newcombe, Clerk to the Dublin Board of Fishery Conservators, gave evidence as to the area over which his Board had control.

BAILIFF'S STORY.

Maguire, in evidence, stated that he was water bailiff to the Swords Angling Association since 1925. About a fortnight before this occurrence he found a net in the river, and reported it to the Guards. They told him to put it back until they saw who would come back for it. He did so, but no one came. He also reported it to Mr. White, secretary of the club, who said that he would take it to Dublin. He met Kavanagh and his friends and asked if he would take it to Dublin, and he agreed. He then went away, but came back and found Byrne using the net. He had nothing to do with the net, and denied assaulting O'Toole.

On the charge of fishing without a licence Maguire was fined £10. In the cases of the other three defendants District Justice Reddin said that he would select the charge of using an improper and illegal net. He fined Kavanagh £5, and Byrne and Maher £2 each, with £2 2s. costs in each case.

CO. WATERFORD FIRES.

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED.

WATERFORD, Monday.

Extensive outbreaks of fire were reported to-day from Kilmacthomas district, County Waterford. On Saturday night, about 8.30, a hay shed containing thirty tons of straw belonging to Richard Thompson, Kilfowen, were noticed to be on fire, and despite all efforts the shed, which cost £450, and the straw were completely burned. Scarcely had this fire burned itself out when an outbreak occurred in the haggard adjoining the premises of Roger Shanahan, Ashtown, with the same result. The hay and straw destroyed here were worth between £250 and £300.

Investigations were carried out by the Civic Guards from Tramore and Kilmacthomas, and as a result a young man named Thomas Connolly, Kilcanavee, was arrested and brought before a special Court at Kilmacthomas this evening and remanded to Tramore District Court to-morrow.

TWO BOYS DEAD.

SUSPECTED FOOD POISONING.

Two boys died in Highgate Hospital, London, yesterday, and a number of other people are receiving treatment for suspected food poisoning.

The dead boys are Arthur Simpson (11), of Peabody Buildings, Herbrand street, Holborn, and James Callen (13), of Harrison street, Holborn.

An official statement by the medical officer of health, Dr. C. W. Hutt, states that the food suspected is peas pudding.

One boy, William Hunt (10), of Peabody Buildings, is in University College Hospital, and yesterday his condition was stated to be extremely grave. Other children are in Highgate Hospital.

A sister of the boy Allen is also ill, while the three children of a family named Callaby are in hospital. In another household a woman, her son, and a maid were affected, and were receiving medical attention.

SWEEPSTAKE PRIZES.

REPLY TO A RUMOUR.

A report which appeared in a newspaper yesterday, stating that the British authorities were contemplating the confiscation of all prizes won in the Irish Sweepstakes going into England, created considerable interest in Dublin.

It was said that officials of the Home Office and Scotland Yard have been in consultation regarding the adoption of a method by which the sale of lottery tickets would be limited if not completely stopped, and that confiscation of prizes was thought to be an effective method.

An official of Hospitals' Trust, Ltd., told the Irish Times yesterday that lucky English subscribers to the sweepstake on the Cambridgeshire may have no fears; they will receive their winnings. Confiscation, if the English authorities were really serious in their intention, could not become a fact before the end of the present year.

This official pointed out that of the £1,900,000 allotted as prizes in the last Derby draw Great Britain claimed the highest share, no less than £1,007,263 going there. That represented over 50 per cent. of the total. The other sweepstakes were similar.

TRALEE WINDOWS BROKEN.

PRIESTS CONDEMN ATTACK ON GENERAL O'DUFFY.

TRALEE, Monday.

The windows of the hotel where General O'Duffy put up in Tralee on Friday were broken during Saturday night, as were also the windows in the office of Mr. Slattery, solicitor to the Centre Party. Additional military arrived in Tralee town last evening, but all was quiet during the day.

Speaking at 8 o'clock Mass at St. John's Church on Sunday morning, the Right Rev. Monsignor O'Leary, P.P., referring to the disturbances in the town on Friday, said:—"In every civilised country besides the Government there is also an opposition. Those gentlemen who came down here on Friday were discharging the ordinary duties of an Opposition Party. They are entitled to perfect freedom of speech and action in furtherance of their cause. I strongly disapprove of the action of the party of men who besieged them in the Foresters' Hall, and the fact that, in addition, they armed themselves with hurleys—which I regard as deadly weapons—is also worthy of the strongest condemnation. The whole affair was deliberate and organised, and those men who armed themselves with hurleys were guilty of murder in their hearts. The Very Rev. Father Molloy, O.P., Prior Holy Cross, Tralee, at the 12 o'clock Mass yesterday also condemned the disturbances.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S POWERS.

QUARRY APPLICATION AT LONGFORD COURT.

LONGFORD, Monday.

"Are the representatives of this county on the County Council to sit down like a lot of blind mugs and obey all your whims and fancies? There was a time when I was a member of that Council, and if you gave the replies that you gave here the window would not be opened quick enough," said Mr. Delany, solicitor, at Longford Court, referring to evidence given by the County Surveyor, Mr. J. J. Murphy, in a case in which application was made to enter the gravel pits on the lands of Mr. L. More O'Ferrall and Mrs. Dolan at Lismagooneen.

Mr. Delany produced the minutes of the County Council meetings, stating that an offer from Mr. O'Ferrall to raise and supply the gravel himself at 1s. 6d. a ton was accepted by the Council, but Mr. Murphy said he was not aware of this, though he was present at the meetings, and also said it was not communicated to him.

The Chairman of the County Council, Mr. John Belton, was sent for, and later came into Court and said while the matter was being discussed members had left the meeting until there were only six present, and that was not a quorum.

Mr. Murphy said that Article 56 of the Local Government Act gave him the power to enter a gravel pit, notwithstanding any order of the County Council, and he was bound to get his work done economically and efficiently.

Mr. Delany—The County Council is the body charged with the work and the County Surveyor is their official, answerable to the County Council.

The District Justice (Mr. Kenny) said that he noted by the official report of the County Council proceedings during a discussion on the subject of the gravel that the County Surveyor said: "The District Justice is worked up to it." He demanded an explanation of what was meant by him when he said that, as stated.

Mr. Murphy—I solemnly and positively swear I never said it.

The case was adjourned.

ROAD TRANSPORT BILL.

APPLICATION FOR CARRIER CERTIFICATES

The Free State Road Transport (No. 2) Bill, 1933, at present before the Oireachtas, provides for an extension of the period of application for certificates under Section 3 of the Road Transport Act, 1933. Under Section 3 of the Act the latest date by which application for an existing carrier certificate could be made was the 12th July, 1933. The bill provides for an extension of the period to the 31st October, 1933.

All persons who have carried on the business of carrying merchandise for reward in mechanically propelled vehicles during the statutory period and who have not yet applied for existing carrier certificates under Section 3 of the Act are requested to lodge their applications with the Department of Industry and Commerce, Transport and Marine Branch, Dublin. Applications should be in writing, and should state fully the facts upon which the applicant claims to have carried on an existing merchandise road transport business within the meaning of the section, and should be accompanied by such documentary evidence as will establish the facts to the satisfaction of the Minister.

CHAMPION EATER DEAD.

FIFTY PORK PIES AND TWO STONES OF HAY.

Known as a champion eater, Mr. George W. Leader, a paper merchant, has died after six months' illness. He was 59, and leaves a widow and three sons.

Mr. Leader discovered his capacity for eating through a joke and a bet with a friend, but he never sought publicity. He once refused to compete in America for the world's championship cup and a prize of 200 dollars, cabling in reply to the promoter that the prize would not pay his hotel bill.

His biggest challenge came from a giant engineer—£50 aside and side bets being involved. He was handicapped in this, having to eat 1 lb. of ham and thirteen eggs before the other man started, but he won; the other man retired at the sixteenth egg.

His order in a Stockton restaurant when competing with an ex-footballer was: "24 eggs (twice), 2 lb. of fried ham (twice), and tea for two." The waiter wanted the money first. The footballer retired at the seventeenth egg.

Fifty pork pies at a sitting, five or six lunches at a time, four dozen eggs and a loaf or so of bread as a pick-me-up. This was nothing to Mr. Leader in his day. On one occasion he ate two stone of hay for a bet.

A Lorrainer, employed in the French fortification works, has been arrested on a charge of espionage. He is accused of stealing military documents and selling a new patent machine-gun to a German.

SOLICITOR AND MAGISTRATE.

WARRANT IN SMUGGLING CHARGE.

NEWRY, Monday.

At Newtownhamilton Petty Sessions to-day, Major McCallum, R.M., presiding, Vincent Mackin, Dorsey, a young man of about 25 years of age, was charged with the illegal importation of 25 head of cattle at Ummeracam. The defendant had been arrested and remanded on bail, but a summons was now entered against him in respect of the same offence.

Mr. J. P. Best, Crown Solicitor, said that four men were seen bringing cattle across the border, and three of them were convicted. The fourth man ran away, and the Crown held that the defendant was the fourth man.

Mr. Fisher asserted that his client was not regularly before the court, and the summons was only served late on Saturday evening.

The Chairman said the best thing was for the Crown to make a short deposition that they could connect the defendant with the case, and ask for a remand on bail.

Mr. Fisher repeated he did not admit that the defendant was regularly before the court.

The Chairman said that as the defendant was in court he was legally before it, and Mr. Fisher argued to the contrary, and ordered Mackin to leave the court, but as the defendant was making what appeared to be a preliminary effort to do so a constable approached him, and the Chairman asked Mr. Fisher was he (the R.M.) or Mr. Fisher conducting the court.

Mr. Fisher—I am telling him to walk out.

The Chairman said he might have to ask Mr. Fisher to leave the court also.

Mr. Fisher said the defendant should not be allowed to be detained by the constable. In view of what had happened, he (Mr. Fisher) would not appear in the case, and he declared the whole thing irregular.

Mr. Fisher thereupon retired from the case.

Evidence having been given by Constable Jackson as to the seizure, Mr. Best submitted the case had been proved and asked for the full penalty of £269 6s. 6d., with an immediate issue of the warrant.

The Bench decided to inflict the full penalty, and Constable Anderson, examined on the expediency of issuing the warrant forthwith, said he believed the defendant would clear off if it were not issued forthwith, and added that the defendant's brother had already absconded.

Mr. Fisher warmly protested that this was tainted evidence.

Mr. Best—You are not in the case.

The Chairman—The judgment of the Court has been pronounced.

Mr. Best—I object to Mr. Fisher making any statement.

The Chairman—He has no locus standi in it.

The warrant for the arrest of the defendant in default of payment was then made out.

REMARK ABOUT PRESIDENT.

ASSAULT CASE AT CLONMEL.

CLONMEL, Monday.

At Clonmel Court to-day, John O'Neill, labourer, Powerstown, summoned Maunsell O'Shea, extensive farmer, for assault.

Plaintiff said that at a farmer's meeting in Clonmel a speaker made a dastardly remark about the President, and he shouted in reply to the speaker: "He is a better man than you." He was then struck under the eye by O'Shea, who was a big powerful man. He denied that he had several times interrupted the speakers at the meeting or that he went there to interrupt.

Defendant said that he got a bit vexed when O'Neill interrupted, and tried to warn him to keep quiet. O'Neill changed a stick from his left hand to his right, and as witness thought that he was going to be struck he struck O'Neill unconsciously. He could not rightly hear the remark about the President.

The Justice said that he believed O'Neill went to the meeting looking for trouble and got it. He should have been handed over to the Guards and prosecuted for interrupting a public meeting. He fined defendant 1s., and 10s. costs.

TO RESIGN FROM I.R.A.

PLEA AT CLONMEL COURT.

"On behalf of the two of us, from now on we will resign from the I.R.A.," declared Charles Lambe, Glenconnor, Clonmel, who, at Clonmel District Court yesterday, before Mr. Troy, D.J., was charged, with Joseph Walsh, Rath, Clonmel, with having carried out a raid on a house in Fethard, occupied by some girls. At a previous Court the two men said: As soldiers of the Irish Republican Army, they refused to recognise the Court. The men were returned for trial to the Circuit Court in bail of £20 each and two sureties each of £10.

DISEASE.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Poultry Correspondent says:—
Outbreaks of disease frequently take place with the advent of cold, wet weather. Roup in various forms is common in some places, caused by damp and overcrowded houses. It usually commences like a common cold—running at the nose, sneezing, coughing and rattling in the throat—which gradually develops into a virulent form of roup. Whenever this occurs attention should be paid to the fowl at once, as simple treatment, especially in feeding and proper housing, may be sufficient to ward off a serious attack. Soft, easily digested food, with a little roup powder added, should be given, and a little permanganate of potash in the drinking water will prevent the trouble spreading—just enough to give the water a pinkish colour.

A girl with a huge capacity for friendship and affection.

A considerate, kindly character, unselfish, eager to please and be pleased, and often unmindful of her own interests; with a creative mind, a pair of clever, industrious hands, a fund of patience and endurance, and a lot of the romanticist and idealist in the secret depths of her nature. Places little value on a career and independence, and is looking forward to a happy marriage and a home of her own.
